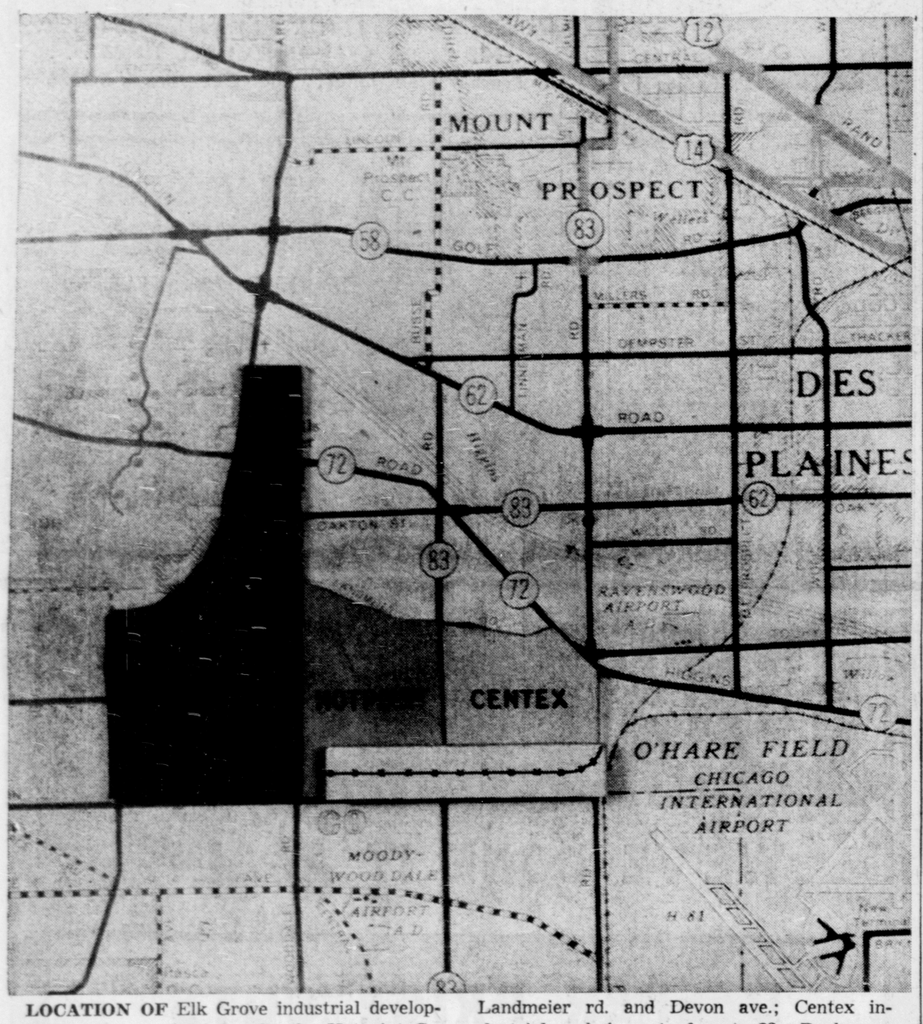
HOTPOINT WILL BUILD HERE

Announce 1,490-Acre Elk Grove Development

Arlington Heights HERALD

30th Year — 49 | Arlington Heights, Ill. | THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1957 | 6 Sections, 60 Pages | $4.00 A Year — 10c A Copy

NEW REFRIGERATOR compressor plant to be constructed by Hotpoint Co. in Elk Grove is first major step in company's 10-year expansion program. Fall construction is scheduled with pilot production in early 1959. New plant will employ 300 to 500 persons.



LOCATION OF Elk Grove industrial developments announced Wednesday by Hotpoint Co. and Centex Construction co. is shown on map. Hotpoint tract is west of route 83, between Landmeier rd. and Devon ave.; Centex industrial park is east of route 83. Dark area is site of projected 6,000-home Elk Grove Village, also a Centex development.

Purchase of 1,490 acres in Elk Grove for industrial development was revealed Wednesday by the Hotpoint co. and Centex Construction co.

Hotpoint president John C. Sharp said his firm has acquired 770 acres bounded by Devon ave., route 83, Landmeier rd., and Tonne rd. It is the largest single industrial property ever purchased by one manufacturer in the greater Chicago area, he added.

The tract was annexed to the village of Elk Grove as industrial property this month, continued Sharp.

Following Sharp's disclosure, Centex president Tom Lively announced that Centex has bought 720 acres directly east of Hotpoint's property and will develop this acreage into a new Centex Industrial park with estimated total employment exceeding 10,000.

LIVELY SAID Centex' property, which includes 1500 acres now under residential development, plus the 720 acres just announced, plus Hotpoint's 770 acre tract, comprise what is expected to be the largest residential-industrial development ever planned in the United States.

In announcing the Hotpoint purchase, Sharp said the company will construct a new refrigerator compressor plant on the site in the near future that will initially employ from 300 to 500 persons. Pilot production is scheduled for early 1959.

Sharp said other plants and buildings are in the planning stage and that step-by-step additions to meet increased market needs will be made during the next 5 to 10 years. He said any new facilities that may be constructed on the property will be used to supplement manufacturing facilities now operated by Hotpoint in Chicago, Cicero, Milwaukee and Chicago Heights.

HE SAID THE company has no plans to close or move from present factory and office locations.

Sharp said Hotpoint's investment in new real estate and buildings confirms the company's confidence in the nation's expanding economy and its belief in the unlimited future growth of business and industry in the Chicagoland area.

He pointed out that Hotpoint was first established in Chicago some 47 years ago when George Hughes, first president of the company, invented the first electric range in a basement on South Dearborn Street.

IN ADDITION TO careful studies of the usual business indicators (new family formations, rising personal income, etc.), Sharp said the outstanding advantages offered to industry by Chicago and the Midwest directly influenced the company's decision to invest in additional facilities. He said the future growth of Chicago will never be hampered by lack of fresh water and that, centrally located in the Midwest, large portions of the company's present and potential market are easily accessible.

In addition, he pointed out that tremendous expansion in this area is practically insured for years to come because of Chicago's diversifed labor force, excellent national and international transportation, electric power facilities and its wealth of raw materials, including steel, coal, chemicals, etc.

Top executives attending the Merchandise Mart press conference late yesterday represented other companies connected with the Hotpoint transaction.

They included: Ben W. Heineman, Chairman, Chicago & North Western railway; Clyde J. Fitzpatrick, president, Chicago & North Western railway; Willis D. Gale, chairman, Commonwealth Edison company; Lively; Charles A. Hodlmair, president, village of Elk Grove; George L. Irvine, commercial vice president, General Electric Company and Tom H. Coulter, Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

This Motorist Had Bad Day at Races

Herbert Nixon Tuesday lost $50 at the races and his car was demolished in Mt. Prospect as he drove homeward.

But Nixon, 41, of Chicago, could count himself lucky.

He didn't receive a scratch in the accident.

A THROUGH-TRAIN roaring across the Central rd. crossing caught the rear of Nixon's auto, hurled it into the front end of a car waiting on the other side of the crossing. It was driven by Clarence T. Weir, 425 S. Pine, Arlington Heights. He was also unhurt.

"I was watching the policeman direct traffic on the highway," explained Nixon.

Laugh It Off

A young married couple were peacefully reading the Arlington Heights Herald one evening last week when the husband suddenly jumped from his chair and dashed to the window. His wife, completely surprised, asked with amazement, "Henry, what is the matter?"

Whereupon Henry replied, "It's all right, dear. I was checking to make sure we had a sidewalk."

Answer Flood Pleas With 'Runaround'?

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS TRUSTEE Bob Bukowski (white shirt, back to camera) happened into village hall Monday night to be confronted by 60 persons demanding the village take action on drainage problems.

Fresh Rains Bring New Deluge Here

Village residents bombarded officials with phone calls in the wake of Monday's 2-inch-plus rainfall and at least were able to voice their complaints.

But in the rural Arlington Heights area, many persons said their pleas for help only got them "the run-around," the same as they got after the July 12 flood.

A FALL OF 2.3 inches was recorded at Glenview naval air station to the east Monday afternoon, the highest mark in the Chicago area.

With the ground able to absorb no more water and creeks still high, considerable basement and street flooding occured in Arlington Heights. On some streets rubbish remaining from the previous rain floated again.

Sixty persons from Westgate and Arlington Park converged on village hall Monday to angrily demand "emergency measures" by village to halt basement flooding in those areas.

A number of them said Monday afternoon's downpour, estimated by one of the crowd to total 3 inches, had flooded basements still damp from the deluge of 2 weeks ago.

"When can we move our appliances back into the basement and know they won't be soaked again?" asked one person.

ANOTHER ASKED THE village to call an immediate halt to any further residential building and rush a program of sewer construction.

"There had better not be any excuses about the village not having any money," he added. "If there is, we'll refuse to pay any more taxes."

Loud applause greeted the threat.

Target of the complaints was Trustee Robert H. Bukowski, who had come to village hall on another matter.

RESIDENTS OF THE unincorporated fringe of Arlington hadn't yet recovered from the first deluge by this week. Water covered low spots and lapped close to porches in areas north, northeast and south of the village.

Building without proper regard for storm drainage, broken and clogged drain tiles, and an official "don't-care" attitude were responsible.

Much water remained Tuesday along Forrest, Phelps and Drury just outside the northeast limits of the village despite pumping efforts. The water disappeared only Saturday, reappeared Monday evening after the rain had stopped.

Contacted to no avail during the past 2 weeks were the Cook county health department, Red Cross, state highway department, and county sheriff's police.

In answer to his plea, George Suchomski, 1128 Phelps, was told: "Raise your house."

Residents got no satisfaction from 2 officials of Wheeling township, supervisor Gilbert Klehm and highway commissioner Barney Runge.

One piece of advice was: "Just sit there and let it go down."

The advice didn't "sit" well with stranded owners after days of sniffing sewer gas and boiling drinking water.

A SIMILAR STORY was told along N. Greenwood ave., a street of unpretentious homes off Rand rd., north of the village.

For 8 days, several families had no garbage collection or milk delivery. They got food by wading through flooded fields to Rand rd., preferring not to eat fish that swam into their front yards.

"The fish must have come from the pond in the cemetery across Rand rd.", said housewife Marjory Parker. "The overflow from the pond came our way and stayed here."

"It's frustrating," she went on. "Nobody knows us or knows where we are except when it's time to pay taxes. (Supervisor) Klehm told us we haven't even got a road because our street isn't dedicated."

Mrs. Parker feels the road must have been dedicated at some time because utility poles are a standard 66 feet apart. The 13 families on the road struggle with snowdrifts and ruts, as the street receives virtually no maintenance. Yet a road several hundred feet east of Klehm's nursery, she said, receives full maintenance although only 2 families live along it.

A RAY OF HOPE shone Tuesday when surveyors visited the street to tackle the problem. The housewives, after days of phoning, were able to get that much action from William Lynch, county highway drainage commissioner.

Before that, families tried to contact Runge for 5 days. They called from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. on a marathon basis. Nobody answered.

THE HEALTH hazards that accompanied rural flooding spurred residents of the Forest View area south of Arlington Heights into organizing.

Now they have a citizens' committee to combat bad drainage problems in the area bounded by Lincoln st., Algonquin, State and Roosevelt rds. in Elk Grove township. About 100 families live there.

In one neighborhood there, 8 of 10 wells tested proved to be contaminated. Committee chairman Harvey Klehm and secretary Mrs. James Homer have brought their woes to the attention of the Weller creek drainage district. District commissioner George L. Busse hired an engineer to study the matter. A report was due Wednesday night.

Mrs. Homer urged residents to have their wells tested for polution.

Police Uncover Teen Girl Gang

Five teen-age girls were to appear with their parents before Arlington Heights juvenile officer Jack Aldrich Wednesday night.

The gang is charged with, in one anxious mother's words, "terrorizing" younger girls in the vicinity of Recreation park.

A number of incidents of violence and threats of violence "if you tell your folks" have occurred over several weeks, added the mother. One girl's skirt was torn, another had her face scratched and holes were burned with cigarettes in a third girl's clothing, she continued.

THE GANG charged with the activities is made up of girls, 4 from Arlington and 1 from Mt. Prospect, who will be sophomores at Arlington high school next year, said police.

Victims were several years younger.

Aldrich said several of the older ones had been in trouble with police previously. He said he had also heard of the incidents from a mother, adding that several reportedly carried and displayed knives and large safety pins.

Seek Rezoning

Rezoning of the southwest corner of N. State rd. and Thomas st. to permit construction of apartments and a business will be sought at a hearing before the Arlington Heights zoning board August 5.

The property, with about 125 feet of frontage on State and 300 feet deep, adjoins the Northwest Suburban medical center. The LaSalle National bank, as trustee, will request commercial zoning for the east 125 feet and multiple dwelling zoning for the west end of the corner.

The Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

Why is it that an editor is satisfied with a decrepit typewriter for years?

It is only after he realizes the benefit of surgery to his own anatomy that his thoughts turn to ailments of his old friend, the typewriter, and he sends it away for some surgery on its bars, ribbon and innards.

The operation has been successful on the machine and the editor. The machine which had accompanied its owner to Europe, Hawaii and other places unknown, has taken on new life and is ready for another 20 years. We hope its owner will do as well.

Newspapers and magazines are refighting the Battle of Gettysburg. It all started when President Eisenhower and General Montgomery of Britain hobnobbed on the old battleground and decided that Generals Lee and Meade made some tactical errors on that day in 1863 when the north and south were at each others throats at Gettysburg.

Many southern newspapers have been quick to come to the defense of their southern generals. It gives them something else aside from the Bill of Rights to write editorials about.

We do not have to go back 90 odd years to point out mistakes that have been made right here at home by engineers, villages and subdividers.

They have tried to reverse the course of drainage that nature established centuries ago. The disastrous results were evident a week ago. The lesson learned will probably be soon forgotten as home building returns to its extravagant pace.

It was interesting to read in an adjoining column last week that the Chicago Sanitary District is applying the brakes on subdivision plans that do not include provisions for surface drainoff.

Has an answer been found to a runoff of surface water drainage? The large toll road excavations can form lakes which in turn could receive surface drainage which is becoming such a problem.

Certainly a double sewer system costs money, but think of the grief that will be avoided by such construction.

The Metropolitan Sanitary District is taking over the sewage problems, but the flood stages will still exist in Mt. Prospect, Arlington and Palatine until those municipalities do something about it.

Barrington township is making an all-out effort to withdraw from the Metropolitan district by circulation of petitions under the new state law.

Arlington Heights is still depending on the courts or compromise cash payment to get out from under.

We wish them both luck, but we are still of the same opinion that Palatine disposal of sewage can be best resolved by the sanitary district.

Speaking of adequate planning today, we should all take our hats off to the school boards who are planning adequate school housing and we doff our hats to the taxpayers who are voluntarily footing the bill.

The best news last week to school patrons was the 2 to 1 approval of $1,405,000 bond issues asked by the Maine township high school and the Des Plaines elementary school districts.

Surely Palatine township school patrons are as cognizant of school needs as its sister township and will give a big majority to the $750,000 bond issue to be voted on August 3.

We agreed with our physician that it would have been unwise to accompany the mayors of the northwest area to Red Canyon, N.M., to see the army demonstrate the Nike rocket.

Between watching the rocket and keeping our ears tuned to conversation between the municipal heads, we would be doing a double job—acquiring secrets of the U.S. defense system, and off-the-record plans of the heads of our municipalities.

Sorry, readers, but to learn the thinking of the powers that be you will have to wait until our regular reporters attend further village board meetings.

We would have liked to have given our readers our personal reaction on the actual flight of Nike missile that is today lying in wait in our front yards for the approach of the first enemy plane.

ICC Approves Bus Fare Hike

(CNS)—Fare increases for the Harvel Motor Coach company, which operates buses serving commuters and school children in the Arlington Heights area, have been authorized by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The adult fare was hiked from 13 to 20 cents. Tokens formerly selling at 10 for $1 now will be sold six for $1.

The cost of a monthly pass for grade school students, good for one round trip on school days only, is set at a flat $4.

FORMERLY THESE sold at the rate of $3 for the first child in the family, $2.50 for the next child, and $2 for each additional child.

The cash fare for adults between Arlington Heights and the Arlington Park Jockey club also was increased, from 15 to 25 cents.

A pay raise for the boss also was included in the ICC order which said the higher fares could be placed into effect on one day's notice.

Howard Harvel, bus company president, was granted ICC permission to increase his annual salary from $2,200 to $3,000. The ICC order noted that the record shows "the company president also assists in driving."

THIS IS THE first fare increase for the line since 1948.

Mrs. Howard Harvel, wife of the owner, said steadily rising costs forced the firm to seek the increase.

The village of Arlington Heights opposed the hike but offered no evidence to support its position, the ICC order said.

The company said it lost $1,054 in 1956. Its total operating revenue of $24,507 was derived from $18,432 from regular service and $6,075 from charter and contract service.

OPERATING expenses totaled $25,561, including $15,111 for wages.

Projected annual revenue under the new fare structure is $34,000 and operating expenses at $32,000. Subtracting the $800 annual salary boost for the president will leave the company with an annual operating income of $1,200. (AF

Trackman's Death Ruled Accidental

A DuPage coroner's jury last week ruled accidental the death of Hosea L. Richardson, 22, who died 4 days after being involved in a fight at Arlington Park race track June 30.

The youth, employed as a jockey and exercise boy at the track until his discharge after the fight, died at Elmhurst hospital July 4. Hospital records indicated he died of peritonitis. He was under treatment for a ruptured bowel when death occurred.

Richardson's home address was given as Camden, S. C.

THE OTHER YOUTH'S name was George Richardson but the 2 were not related. Track police said they were ejected from the grounds 45 minutes after incident. Both refused to sign complaint with park police.

Friends of Hosea picked him up 36 hours later and while bringing him back to Arlington he complained of stomach pains. Elmhurst police directed them to a hospital.

The race track paid the cost of the funeral. Richardson's mother was said to live on a sharecropped farm.

Scout Troop Holds Conservation Meeting

Girl Scout troop 1 of Arlington Heights held an all day conservation meeting July 15 in the home of its troop leader, Mrs. Kenneth Hood, 604 W. Campbell. The outing was staged to complete requirements for the first class rank.

The day was completed by an overnight camp set up in the Hoods' backyard. Scouts attending were JoAnn Hood, Charlotte Wiggins, Pam Giese, Joan Burkhart, Sharon Smith, Susan Withey and Linda Burke. (A

One-Third Cut Fails to Curb Foes of Street Lights Plan

The size of Arlington Heights, downtown street lighting project was tentatively trimmed by one-third last week. The move by the board of local improvements failed to satisfy a crowd of diehard opponents at the Thursday meeting.

In fact it only enraged them.

FOES IMMEDIATELY charged the cut was made "to eliminate solid blocks of opposition." The charge stemmed from the fact that property owned by William E. Trude, builder and opposition spokesman, was among that deleted.

Board chairman Robert B. Bishop denied the claim. Referring to a petition of property owners protesting the entire lighting program, Bishop said:

"We did not know the results of the petition when we planned the cut."

RESULTS OF THE petition submitted earlier this month indicated that owners of about 75 per cent of the frontage involved are against the special assessment program.

The one-third cut would reduce the number of new lights from 152 to about 100 and the cost from about $310,000 to an estimated $200,000, according to the board.

Deleted were:

State rd., from South st. to Sigwalt st.;

Northwest hwy., from Highland ave. to Euclid ave. and Pine ave. to Foundry rd.;

Davis st., west of Vail ave. (to be later erected at village expense) and the north side of Davis st., from Vail ave. to State rd. The village is in the process of acquiring a 25-foot strip on the north side of Davis from the Chicago and North Western railway.

THE BOARD passed a resolution instructing the village engineers to draw up plans and specifications for the revised plan. The vote was unanimous with member Frederick A. Weber absent.

Board member John F. Hoover declared the cut takes out "marginal commercial areas but it is still a valid program."

Cost per front foot will be 30 per cent under the revised plan than for the original plan, declared board members. Property owners would be assessed an average of about $7 a front foot instead of $10 a foot.

Reason for the drop is the elimination of several blocks along the railway. Public utilities, said the board, cannot be taxed for such improvements because they do not "benefit" from them. However board attorney Hugo Thal said an assessment probably can be levied against the railway for "benefits" accruing from lights to be placed at the 4 downtown crossings.

The hearing will be continued to August 22. (AF

Village Officials Still Dicker Over Plant Price

Arlington Heights village officials and trustees of the Chicago Sanitary district still have not settled on the amount of compensation for the village sewage treatment plant.

Negotiations between the 2 bodies have continued for more than a month. The last figure made public was $350,000. The district was to pay this sum to the village for flowage rights for village sewers. However the village could use the money to partially retire about $600,000 in bonded indebtedness on the plant.

PENDING AGREEMENT, the Sanitary district will not allow extension of sewer lines in Arlington Heights.

"Three or four sewer applications are being held up now," said district sewer design engineer Peter F. Girard. "We feel that allowing further building would place too much of a burden on treatment facilities."

GIRARD SAID he didn't know the number of homes involved in the delay.

Building commissioner Fred Hammer, Jr. is issuing building permits for homes to be connected to existing sewer mains.

New Home Owner Group Supports Sidewalk Project

"Children walking to school on the southside of Arlington Heights are endangered by a lack of sidewalks on Mitchell, Chestnut, and Highland avenues," says Richard Dunlop, associate editor of Home & Highway Magazine and a nationally-known writer on safety subjects.

Dunlop, 637 S. Mitchell, is chairman of the Southside Property Owners committee. The recently - organized group is urging the village board to require property owners in the 2 blocks to the south of Park, Our Lady of the Wayside and South Junior high schools, to put in sidewalks if they do not already have them.

None of the 20 property owners represented on this committee now have sidewalks but all are willing to put them in.

"THE SAFETY of our children is far more important to us than the expense involved," Dunlop declared. "We believe that other property owners in our area who are fighting sidewalks will want them too when they know the facts."

The committee points out that the Institute of Traffic Engineers reports sidewalks should be constructed along school routes. Dunlop added that the American Association of State Highway Officials and the American Automobile Association feel "the need for adequate sidewalks for pedestrians is obvious."

National Safety Council officials when told of the situation in the 3-school area in Arlington Heights were shocked.

"YOU ARE lucky that you haven't had a child killed or seriously injured because of your failure to put in sidewalks long ago," said Marian Telford of the National Safety council.

"Council reports show that nearly one-fourth of those killed in traffic accidents every year and thousands of those injured are pedestrians," said Dunlop.

"Human flesh and bone can't stand collision with thousands of pounds of moving steel. It isn't surprising that traffic accidents are the greatest killer of children of early school age. Everything possible must be done to separate children from vehicular traffic. The board of trustees is acting in the interest of child safety in demanding sidewalks within 2 blocks of schools."

Property owners on Mitchell ave. expect to start private construction on their walks early in August in order to have them completed before the children go back to school. They have invited other property owners in their area who are required to put in sidewalks to join them and obtain the favorable price they have negotiated with a private contractor. (AF

$1 Million Man-Made Lakes Bring New Era to Suburbs

(CNS) —Cook county now is in a multi-million dollar era of man-made lakes.

Carving out 15 lakes — 5 in forest preserve areas — is underway mostly in rural areas by toll road contractors.

In addition, Des Plaines has passed an ordinance to gain one the same way. Park Ridge, too, is allowing a lake to be created this way, reports Andrew Plummer, assistant county highway superintendent.

THE COUNTY has issued 10 such permits to date after adopting rigid specifications drawn up by Charles Sauers, general superintendent of the forest preserve district.

All new lake sites in rural areas are on private land whose value will skyrocket when home developments there get underway.

The county will get the forest preserve lakes free and also about $250,000 from the tollroad contractors. If the county had to do the job, Sauers estimates the cost for its 5 lakes at $3 million.

A CONSERVATIVE statement from Daniel Ryan, county board president: "This looks like a good deal for the county."

Here are the forest preserve lake sites, expected to be stocked with fish and ready for recreational purposes within 2 years:

1. Maine township: 35 acres on the south side of Golf road and east of the Des Plaines river.
2. Maine township: 16½ acres south of Touhy avenue and west of the Des Plaines river.
3. Thornton township: 35 acres at Indiana state line and Brainard avenue in Burnham.
4. Hyde Park township: 20 acres at 130th street and Calumet expressway in Chicago.
5. Maine township: 35 acres at Central and East River road.

PERMITS ISSUED by the county building department will create 5 lake sites in Elk Grove township, 2 in Northfield township, 2 in Hanover township, and one in Barrington township.

To obtain a county permit, here's what an applicant must do and prove:

1. Make borings to show the lake when created won't run dry.
2. Sign an agrement to refill the site in event it later goes dry, but not with garbage or tin cans.
3. Leave a perimeter at least 200 feet wide around the lake for possible residential development and beautify the landscape.
4. Provide a graqually sloping wading area by digging only one foot down for every 4 feet out.

EXPERTS SAY the lakes won't dry up any wells. In fact, they say, the lakes will help the water table situation by holding run-off water and also alleviate flood conditions in heavy rainstorms.

Sauers is jubilant about the lakes the forest preserves will gain. Says the superintendent: "We never could do this ourselves. It would be difficult to justify that big expenditure. This way we get the lakes and money besides.

"You have no idea how many people in the county just want to go fishing. In the course of a season, about 500,000 people in Chicago and the county fish someplace. Many have only a few hours to do it in, and some take the whole family along.

"Our lakes will be ideal for them. They won't have to ride far in heavy traffic. Our lakes won't be more than a 30-minute ride away for anyone in the county." (B7

To Arms! To Arms! More Mosquitoes Are Coming!

by BOB BUCHANAN

Mosquitoes are expected to attack the northwest suburbs in greater force this week than ever before.

That's the warning received from Wilbert Mitchell, Northwest Mosquito Abatement district technical director.

Blamed is the 6.24 inch deluge of rain the suburbs received on the night of July 12 which created innumerable water holes.

"If the water had drained," Mitchell said, "we'd be all right but there are so many standing water holes in the district, we don't know where to begin.

"Thank goodness, we had cool nights last week or the mosquitoes would have descended upon us in larger droves. With cool nights, the mosquito incubation period was increased, giving us a greater amount of time to act before the mosquitoes become adults and move to the cities."

Mitchell remarked that in one swampy area near Barrington and Central rds. there were at least 1,000 mosquito larvae on a 6-inch square water surface. It's that way throughout the district, he remarked.

AS A RESULT, he has started 16 men working day and night covering the 250 square miles in the district, running from Des Plaines to Barrington and Elgin.

The district's 5 spray trucks will be busy both day and night, attacking the adult mosquitoes which they were unable to kill in the egg and larvae stage.

Many of the mosquitoes hatched as a result of this recent rain were eggs laid 3 and 4 years ago, the technical director explained. They'd been laid in the mud on farms and the recent rains gave them enough water in which to hatch. "If we could dry up the water holes, it would kill the larvae and do the most good.

"In draining and lavaciding local areas, we've found larvae in cattle track holes as well as ruts created by cars in the mud along roadsides. In fact, the mosquitoes are everywhere.

"HOMEOWNERS can help alleviate their own mosquito problem with a little abatement on their own part," Mitchell added. "In large standing water areas," he said, "fuel oil—not ignited—can be spread on the water, smothering the larvae. Any other standing water areas such as house floor drains or traps, bird baths and eaves troughs should be flushed.

"Bushes around the house can be sprayed with a water base DDT solution or aerosol bomb, but in any case," Mitchell emphasized, "be sure not to use a sprayer which has had weed killer in it or the spray will kill the shrubs.

"I know one thing," he concluded. "If every person will do his own mosquito abatement around home, this problem can be greatly helped. Even so, it's likely to be 2 to 3 weeks before we can get back to slapping mosquitoes at a normal pace."

Round 'n About Westgate

Vacationers

Four weeks in the north country were enjoyed by Marge Santelli and youngsters, Paul, Jean, Mary and Mark, 409 Yale. Husband Frank joined them for a week at the home of Marge's parents, Dr. and Mrs. I. J. Thornby, Waseca, Minn. Marge served as matron of honor at the wedding of her sister, Mary Ann, and son, Paul, was ring bearer. The Thornbys drove back with the family and spent several days in Westgate.

Hayward, Wis., was the scene of a week of fishing for Jackie and George Rudolphy, 1507 St. James, son, Chuckie, and "Rep.," the family pooch. Accompanying them were Jackie's mother, Mrs. Harry Van Dyke of Bloomington, Ind., and George's grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Mellon of Chicago.

A motor trip to West Liberty, Iowa, and Moline, enabled Arlene and Marv Verbeck, and son, Kirk, 1511 Euclid, to visit family and relatives. During their absence, Arlene's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Pike stayed at their home in Westgate, making frequent visits to Arlington Race track.

Fern and Jean McMurry youngsters, Bruce, Sherry and Scott, and Jean's mother, Mrs. L. B. Wupper, 1415 Euclid, spent a relaxing week at Eagle River, Wis., where Jean claims he caught the only 2 fish in the lake. They stopped at South Bay Resort, a lodge owned by Fern's sister.

A happy 6 days in Rhinelander, Wis., were enjoyed by Lorraine and Bill Van Wazer and their 5 daughters, 1320 Sigwalt. They stayed with Lorraine's mother, Mrs. Robert Mlady.

Three busy weeks touring th east coast visiting family and friends were enjoyed by Gertrude and Everett Brex and children, Trudy and Richard, 28 S. Yale. They visited Brooklyn and Wantagh, L. I., with Gertrude's brothers, George and Joseph Clark, and spent some time at her mother's summer home at Lake Mohawk, N. J.

House Guests

Guests for several days at the home of Phyllis and Clarence Wrobel, 1404 Fremont, were Phyllis' brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bemis and daughter, Diana, of Indianapolis.

New Arrival

A third child has joined the home of Audrey and Frank Kenney, 10 S. Reuter, with the birth of William Runkel Kenney, 8 pounds 3¾ ounces in West Suburban hospital June 29. Baby Bill has a sister, Bonnie Lee, 3½, and a brother, Frank III, 15 months. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Kenney of Pittsburgh and William Runkek of Oak Park.

Friends and neighbors of Edna Hoehle, 102 Yale, will be happy to know she is now recuperating at home after an operation in Lutheran Deaconess hospital.

New Neighbors

New residents at 403 Yale are Margaret and Lester Rush, sons, Charles, 15½, and John, 14, and daughter, Elizabeth, 10. Lester is a teacher at St. Peter Lutheran school as well as athletic director. The family originally lived in Indiana but have been residents of Arlington for more than 8 years. Lester enjoys golfing and bowling and Margaret is active in Dorcas Aid society and Mother's club.

Last Dance Call

Tickets are still available for Westgate dinner dance to be held Saturday, July 27 at Chevy Chase country club. Dinner is to be served at 8 p.m. Call Bert Graczyk at CL 5-0551, or Joyce Akerlund, CL 3-6006.

Golf Winners

Judging from the many comments, it seems safe to say that a good time was had by all at the recent golf tournament. The sun beat down on 48 golfers and almost 100 neighbors enjoyed the buffet and dancing at the clubhouse during the evening. High spot of the evening was the awarding of trophies and prizes, emceed by Andy Graczyk. New owners of handsome trophies are Ken Smith, Earl Scherrer, Carl Stuart and Dick Burkett. Additional prizes went to Chuck [illegible]anowski, Bill Winkler, Harold Rothery, Don Rice, Len Cerwin, Dick Hoppe, Mike Muller, Chuck Wendt and Bud DeZonna. It is told the only true "birdie" was had by Fred Hauth, who dubbed a drive into a group of starlings for one direct hit. On the debit side, Jack Wallner got in the way of a golfer's drive and suffered a split lip, the healing of which it is hoped will be speedy. Much interest has been expressed in a similiar affair in the fall. Comments will be appreciated.

Board Meeting

A special board meeting of Westgate association was called Monday night at the home of Gene Ballou, president, to discuss what may be done about the sewage problem occasioned by the recent rains. Numerous suggestions have been made. Keep tuned to this column for further developments.

Probe Effect of High School Double Session

by TOM BRENNAN

Teachers disliked double sessions at Arlington high school during the 1955-56 school year far more than did students, parents or community leaders.

The teachers saw as the greatest disadvantage of double sessions the bad effect they had on student scholastic achievement. School records showing a drop in grade levels confirmed the soundness of the teachers' opinions.

This is one of the conclusions to be drawn from a recently completed study of the year of overlapping sessions at the school. E. Eugene Oliver, then an administrative assistant on the faculty, made the study to partially fulfill requirements for a doctor's degree in education. He was awarded the degree by Northwestern university some weeks ago.

Oliver polled and interviewed hundreds of students, their parents, teachers and community leaders who deal with youth daily to gather information. From them he sought personal attitudes on literally dozens of aspects of the program. He then poured over high school records of attendance, participation in extracurricular doings and the like to determine whether fact and personal attitude dovetailed.

HERE IS A capsule summary of Oliver's findings:

TEACHERS — Slightly more than half felt the shortened school day had considerable and undesirable effects on the students' classroom work while quite a few more felt it affected only the work of disinterested pupils. Many more women than men teachers noticed harmful effects. Principals complaints were: teachers can't reach students outside of class to give extra help; students have not adjusted to more free time and do not study enough, and juniors and seniors work longer hours and do not have time or energy for school work.

One frank comment: "The shift induces an air of 'vacation' in the minds of students. They take more advantage of opportunities to 'slough off'."

One-third of the teachers replied that overlapping sessions didn't affect student behavior; some thought it fine that freshmen and sophomores (who were in school from 11 a. m. until 4:45 p. m. while upperclassmen attended from 7:25 a. m. until 1:10 p. m.) were less likely to "ape" the antics of their elders.

IN LINE with this opinion, the teachers found that separation of the 2 groups reduced behavior problems. They listed this fact as the top advantage of the program. Finally, overlapping sessions didn't noticely lessen the intangible termed "school spirit," despite initial apprehension on this point.

STUDENTS—The advantages of double sessions from the student viewpoint, ran the gamut from the frivolous (being able to sleep later) to the serious (being able to have a part time job in the afternoon.)

Marked differences appeared between the reactions of under- and upperclassmen. Junior and senior boys favored the plan by a 6-4 margin; girls split evenly. Frosh and sophomores were less enthusiastic. Eighty per cent of them preferred normal class days.

THE UPPERCLASSMEN ranked the top 5 good points in this order: "getting out of school early, being able to have a part-time job in the afternoon (two-thirds of them did), having more room in corridors in the morning, longer lunch periods and having more time for homework at home."

Disadvantages were: "harder to get individual help from teachers during or after school, harder to do makeup work, less study time in school, more homework to do out of school and fewer extracurricular activities . . ."

PARENTS—Only 270 parents responded, one-third of the number mailed questionnaires. Surprisingly, only half of these found fault; the rest favored or were indifferent to double sessions.

Random comments, however, voiced strong objections. A mother of a second shift pupil wrote:

"Football boys have to be on the field at 8 a. m. (They) get home at 5 p. m. Basketball practice not over until 7 p. m. No bus or transportation at that hour. Irregular meals, too tired to study—I could write pages on why we shouldn't have split shifts."

REDUCED CONTACT between teacher and pupil outside of class also produced unfavorable comment: "There are few chances for students who didn't understand something to get straightened out. They may have to go on not understanding it."

Neither parents nor students felt part-time jobs were detrimental to school work.

COMMUNITY LEADERS—A majority of ministers, police officials and others daily dealing with youth said that student participation in community activities was not noticeably affected one way or the other. A few felt that high schoolers had "too much time on their hands."

OLIVER'S examination of records at Arlington high school turned up some effects that attracted scant notice in the opinion surveys. Student grades had a tendency to level off, he found, when compared with grades of the previous year. Those with low grades before showed the greatest relative improvement while the grades of brighter students declined.

Juniors' grades dipped more on the average than did those of seniors. The use of library facilities and participation in extracurricular activities dropped by about half. Absences rose sharply.

While Oliver does not say so, it is likely that the elimination of supervised study periods for most students had a good deal to do with the fall-off in grade levels. A loss of 30 minutes a day in actual time spent in the classroom may also be responsible.

The lag in extracurricular activities was due to a necessary trimming of them by school authorities and also to cancellation of a daily activities period.

Double sessions were scheduled after voters refused to approve a second high school for the district in the face of rising enrollments. Later elections resulted in construction of the addition occupied last September and in building of Prospect high school. Freshmen will be accommodated at Prospect high school this fall and sophomores the following year.

COMPLETION of the study so soon after the end of the double sessions did not permit Oliver to examine possible long-term effects.

He does, however, offer advice to schools contemplating adoption of similar plans, basing his statements on the experience at Arlington.

He suggests such schools investigate carefully every opportunity to provide for individual attention and attempt to incorporate as many opportunities as possible, retain extracurricular activities when possible and adjust library schedules for maximum use.

If these things are done, notes the young administrator, they might even make double sessions a "reasonable, although temporary, solution to problems of overcrowding in suburban secondary schools."

LOYALTY AND SECURITY, civil liberties, individual liberties, security investigations and officers—these are among topics discussed in a series of workshops sponsored by Arlington Heights League of Women Voters. Sipping iced tea and discussing the loyalty-security question are Mrs. Gerald Chapman, Mrs. Julian Pelletier and Mrs. Sylvia Paulson.

Loyalty Security Topic Of Women Voters Study

Many an average citizen has, no doubt, been puzzled, even bewildered from time to time by editorials, news stories, or headlines dealing with such intangibles as loyalty-security, civil liberties, individual liberties, security investigations, and security officers.

But, at this point, it would not be an impertinence to say that when it comes to unraveling these hard to define terms, one should never underestimate the power of a League of Women Voters!

DESPITE THE summer heat, and recent high flood waters, just such an unraveling session of the whole loyalty-security question is taking place in a League-sponsored series of workshops on this controversial subject.

Cooly attired in summer cottons, members of the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights will converge tonight on the large, airy porch of the John Hoppe residence, 500 Fairview, Mt. Prospect, where they will sip iced tea or coffee as they take part in a workshop which delves into the pros and cons of loyalty security with Mrs. Richard Bosshart acting as discussion leader.

THE PARTY atmosphere supplied by the tinkling glasses and pastel frocks will be quickly dispelled by the seriousness of the discussion, for a workshop is a concentrated study of all phases of a subject, with members free to ask questions.

It is another instance of the purpose of the League which since its inception has been to teach women about government, to help them become informed so that they can then become active, participating citizens.

The League is a membership organization which grew out of the National American Woman Suffrage association and is completely nonpartisan.

At their last biennial convention the whole League membership voted, in convention, for its national program. The first item on that program under Current Agenda for study by all Leagues is one that is very dear to the hearts of all Americans —individual liberties.

It is toward an evaluation of the federal loyalty-security programs as they now stand, with a hope for improving security measures of protecting individuals, that the League of Arlington Heights is conducting its series of workshops.

IF ONE FOUND oneself charged with being a security risk, or charged with the duty of being a security investigator or secuity officer, or being forced to mete out justice as a member of a hearing board—this whole field of individual liberties would suddenly become something very real and tangible.

Apathy about finely-shaded definitions, or an ignorance of protective measures or laws of our courts concerning civil liberties, would quickly give way to an intensive quest for knowledge on these points.

Many a League member is wrinkling an otherwise smooth brow tonight as she attempts to play this "Just Suppose" game in an effort to learn about loyalty-security at the summer workshops.

IN CHARGE of the summer sessions are Mrs. MacKenzie Ward, National Agenda chairman; Mrs. Paul Fellingham, Loyalty-Security chairman; Mrs. John Hoppe and Mrs. George Marshall are committee members.

Mrs. Frederic A. Thulin, Jr., will act as discussion leader for the third workshop at the Hoppe home, Thursday, August 8, and Mrs. Julian Pelletier will lead the discussion for the final meeting, Thursday, August 22.

Park Ridge Pokes Holes In Court Suit

(CNS—Park Ridge will attempt to poke holes July 30 into a court officer's finding that it is unconstitutional for the city to require subdividers to pay $300 a lot to aid its schools.

Master in Chancery Albert M. Sheppard has recommended that this ordinance be declared unconstitutional.

Six subidviders, sponsored by the Home Builders Counsel of Cook County, filed the suit.

FOURTEEN PAGES, listing 50 to 60 objections by Park Ridge to the Master's ruling will be argued before Master Sheppard on July 30.

Herbert R. Stoffels, attorney for Park Ridge, contends the ordinance is valid and covered by laws. He maintains state laws say that builders must provide new subdivisions with water, sewage and schools among other things.

Circuit Judge Charles S. Dougherty eventually will decide the case. (B7

5 Girls Present Benefit Carnival

A total of $19.57 was collected July 19 when 5 neighborhood girls presented a carnival to benefit the March of Dimes. The affair featured games, a spook house and refreshments with more than 100 in attendance.

Sponsors of the carnival were Marcia Mueller, in whose garage the spook house was set up, Marsha Rudd, whose back yard was the scene of the main carnival, Karen Lense, Georganne Sedor and Debbie Whitson. (A

Window-Breaking Rash Breaks Out

A loud crash of broken glass brought 5 northwest area families out of their beds early Friday morning.

The T. A. Eastmans, 7 W. Kenilworth, Prospect Heights, were among the victims of a window-breaking wave that also struck 3 times in Northbrook and once in Glenview.

Eastman reported that a large rock was thrown through his picture window at 3:53 a.m. J[illegible] 19. However, Eastman was not the first to notify county police.

WALTER E. Mazur, 3135 Highland, Earle A. Wood, 1889 Highland, Northbrook, and George M. Freeman, 604 Glendale, Glenview, reported similar vandalisms within a half hour's time. A brick came hurtling through Mazur's picture window, causing damage estimated at $150. Bottles were used at the Wood and Freeman residences.

Gerald C. Wollan, 2830 Sander pl., Northbrook, phoned police at 4:15 a.m. to report that his 25x45 picture window had been the target of a rock which caused approximately $50 damage.

IN THE SAME area, W. A. Thomas, 1920 E. Ridgewood, Northbrook, returned from a week's vacation to find that 6 deck chairs and a chaise lounge had been vandalized to the extent of $180 damage. The lounge had been cut with a knife. The [illegible] occurred sometime between July 14-20, and might have [illegible] one more stop in the [illegible] breakers' route Friday morning. (B8

Crop Production Drops 7 Per Cent

by L. H. SIMERL

Total crop production this year appears likely to fall about 7 per cent under last year's record output. This forecast was made recently by the United States department of agriculture.

The total acreage planted to crops was reduced about 3 per cent, but crop abandonment will be much less than last year, when extreme drouth blasted the Great Plains. Consequently, the acreage to be harvested this year may equal that harvested in 1956. Lower yields of corn in central and southern Illinois and the oversoaked areas are the biggest factor in trimming over-all production.

IN GENERAL, crop prospects are unusually good this year with 2 exceptions: (1) excessive rainfall damaged or destroyed crops over a large fan-shaped area, including central and southern Illinois and nearby areas and spreading out to the south and southwest to Mississippi, Louisiana and northern Texas; and (2) drouth injured crops in a narrow band along the Atlantic coast from North Carolina to Massachusetts.

Although about 28 million acres were signed up for soil bank payments, the total planted acreage has been reduced only 21 million since the program began.

ACREAGES PLANTED to sorghums and barley were increased substantially. The planted acreage or sorghum was boosted from 21.5 million in 1956 to 27.1 million this year. The acreage of barley was increased from 14.7 million to 16.3 million.

Much of the increase in the acreages of these grains occurred in the Great Plains, where summer fallowing is practiced. Farmers cut their wheat acreage and designated their fallow land for the soil bank. Much of the land taken out of wheat was planted to sorghum and barley. This is another example of the way farm programs have worked to the disadvantage of the feed producer in the Corn Belt.

THE ACREAGE or sorghum to be harvested this year is officially estimated at 25.6 million, or 49 per cent more than last year. Increases in sorghum acreage by states are: Nebraska, 98 per cent; Kansas, 93 per cent; and Texas (the leading producer), 27 per cent.

The reducted crop production this year will not make a big dent in the surpluses. About 10 per cent of the 1956 corn crop is being added to the carryover this year. The official forecast of the 1957 crop is 15 per cent smaller than the 1956 crop, but much of this reduction will be offset by greater production of barley, sorghum and oats. Total wheat production appears likely to be nearly equal to the total amount that will be used and exported, making little change in carryover next year. There is as yet no forecast of the 1957 cotton crop. Production may be down from last year's figures, but exports also may be smaller.

Cloverdale Maidens Discuss Tour

Cloverdale Maidens 4-H club was called to order at 7:30 p.m., July 11. The tour through the Pepperidge Farms bakery was discussed. A vote was taken and the majority of the girls wanted to wait until after the 4-H fair. The date has been set for August 12, 10 a.m.

Many girls volunteered to work in the 4-H federation pop booth at the Wheaton district fair this year.

The Home Bureau picnic was July 19 at Pottawatomie park in St. Charles and the girls from the Green Clovers and Cloverdale Maidens 4-H clubs and their mothers were invited.

Judy Kammes gave a demonstration on flower arrangements and Ellen Kammes gave one on "How to Hem." Refreshments were served by Pat McNeer and Linda Downers. (4-H Corner

WATER-SOAKED DEBRIS from the flood of July 12 was piled up on curbs in the 700 block on N. Kennicott in Arlington Heights when Monday afternoon's downpour struck. Cartons floated down the street and into yards before the water receded later in the day. Residents of Arlington Park and Westgate converged on village hall Monday night to protest against the second siege of basement flooding within 2 weeks.

Q. When guests are leaving, after spending an evening in one's home, are the host and hostess supposed to remain at the door until they have entered their cars and driven off, or do they close the door immediately after the guests have gone out?

A. The door may be closed while the guests are walking away from the house — but, of course, you do not want to be too very abrupt about it.

Q. When the national anthem is played in a motion picture theater, should the audience rise?

A. If it is played as a part of the picture, you do not rise. But if is played separately, you most certainly do rise.

Palatine Seeks Mother-Teachers

A program to encourage mothers and housewives to enter the teaching program to alleviate the severe shortage was inaugurated by the Palatine consolidated grade school district 15 Parent-Teachers association last week.

The beginning was made when a $100 scholarship was given to Mrs. William Rossiter, 809 Patton st., Arlington Heights by Mrs. Arthur Gabrielsen, president of the PTA advisory board.

WITH THE funds Mrs. Rossiter is taking correspondence courses in history and geography to bring her education up to the school district's requirements. A 1951 graduate of the University of Illinois, Mrs. Rossiter by acceptance of the scholarship will teach in Palatine schools upon completion of her work. There is no time requirement specified.

Marion Jordan, Palatine superintendent of schools, said the PTA program is designed to encourage mothers and housewives who need just a few credits to do so in order to ease the teacher shortage. Mrs. Rossiter is a good example. She has a daughter, Sherry, 20, and a son, Richard, 11. (B-7

Warn Area Motorists About Local Detours for Tollway

Northwest suburban can expect to be detoured and slowed down by North Illinois tollway, now under construction from Chicago to Rockford, for at least another year.

Norman Brown, area engineer for the tollway, said detours and run-around detours will be in effect from 9 months to a year, depending upon the weather, the availability of steel and many other factors.

AS A RESULT of the tollway, 3 roads will be closed permanently, 5 during construction and 5 others wil have run-around detours for tollway underpasses.

Here's a list of what motorists can expect in the way of detours for roads crossing the tollway from the Fox river to O'Hare international airport.

Illinois highway 25—overpass of tollway with cloverleaf interchange. Westbound traffic will be on mileage basis and eastbound traffic on quarter barrier system. The structure, located ¾ of a mile north of Shoe Factory rd., will have a temporary run-around.

BEVERLY RD.—Already finished with an overpass. Road was test overpass for pre-cast prestressed concrete, which is expected to save tollway considerable funds.

Sutton rd. (state 59)—will be a run-around detour during construction for Sutton rd. overpass. Connection will have westbound access and eastbound exit for tollway traffic.

Bartlett rd.—will be an overpass with a detour run-around during construction.

Mundhank rd.—will be closed during construction.

HIGGINS rd.—will be closed during construction of an overpass with traffic rerouted on Shoe Factory and Bartlett rds.

Barrington rd.—will have a run-around detour during construction of an overpass. Westbound exit and eastbound access lanes will be constructed to and from tollway.

Central rd.—will be closed from Roselle rd. to Barrington rd. during construction on tollway immediately south.

Jones rd.—will be permanently closed.

Roselle rd.—has a run-around detour already in use while an overpass is being built.

OLD PLUM GROVE RD.—will be permanently closed at the request of adjoining land owners.

Meacham rd.—will have a run-around detour during construction of an overpass.

Rohlwing rd.—will be closed during construction of an overpass and cloverleaf interchange. Traffic will be rerouted west on Golf rd., north on Meacham rd., and east on Algonquin rd. to rejoin route 53. Rohlwing is expected to be closed by the middle of August.

Golf rd.—traffic will not be halted except during heavy steel construction.

Elk Grove rd.—will be permanently closed.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS rd. — will have at least a 10-foot lane open at all times when a 60-inch culvert is installed. At all other times road will have 2 lanes open.

Busse rd.—will be open for 2 lane traffic at all times except when county closes road for construction of new bridge of creek near Algonquin rd.

Oakton st.—traffic will continue as usual except during heavy steel construction.

Elmhurst rd. — is presently closed during construction of an overpass and an eastbound access and westbound exit interchange. Traffic is being rerouted west on Oakton st. to Higgins rd. or Busse rd.

Mt. Prospect rd.—is open to 2 lane traffic except during superstructure work for underpass.

Wolf rd.—is open to 2 lane traffic except during super-structure work for underpass.

TOUHY AVE.—is open to 2 lane traffic except during superstructure work for underpass.

Lee st.—in Des Plaines is temporarily closed during construction of overpass and eastbound access and westbound exit interchange.

Higgins and Devon—will be open to traffic during construction of overpass.

O'Hare interchange—will be southwest of River rd. and Higgins rd. (B-10

How Boom Has Beset Our Schools

Competition for Teachers Is Keener Among Schools

(Fourth in a series)

by TOM BRENNAN

Competition for graduates of teachers' colleges isn't quite as fierce as that for all-star high school football players.

But the principle is the same and Arlington Heights elementary school district has been forced to match other districts dollar for dollar.

IMPROVEMENT of salaries and working conditions was, of course, long overdue in the teaching profession.

As late as 1946 district 25 paid its teachers a minimum of $1600 and a maximum of $2500 a year. Salaries like those can be held at least partially responsible for the postwar teacher shortage. How many youths would seek to join a profession that offered a starting salary of $133 a month as a reward for 4 years of college?

In the intervening years the cost of living has spiraled. But teachers' salaries have improved so much that teachers, in the Chicago area at any rate, now earn respectable livings.

GRADUATES starting their careers in the local system next fall will receive a minimum of $4,000, exactly 2½ times the 1946 figure. This salary minimum, which is general throughout the Chicago area, has been upped at average rate of $200 a year over the past half dozen years.

(It might be pointed out that yearly wage hikes for local village employees have usually topped $200.)

The basic teacher salary schedule in District 25 provides increments of $100-$150 for each additional year of experience, $300 more for a master's degree and $225 for a doctor's degree.

The head of a family, whether a husband or a widow with dependent children, receives $300 annual allowance.

Thus if a teacher earns a doctor's degree by toiling nights, stays in the Arlington system for 15 years and heads a family, he can bring home exactly $6,425 in return for his 42 weeks of work.

SUPPOSING the schoolmarm can afford it, she can obtain a year's leave of absence after 7 years in the system, to be used for travel or study. She will be paid one-quarter of the salary during her previous year during her previous year during this sabbatical.

Education experts feel the scarcity of teachers is lessening. But according to National Education association studies, the nation's classrooms will be short some 120,000 teachers next year.

An average of 6,700 new teachers are needed every year to supply the demand in Illinois, estimates Frank E. Oneal, director of teacher recruitment for the state. About half this number is found yearly.

A CLINIC WAS recently held at Arlington high school to enlist mature liberal arts graduates into teaching. Next year a number of them will take special courses in education to enable them to teach in suburban systems within months.

District 25 Supt. R. E. Clabaugh leaves on a tour of state colleges and universities each spring to interest graduating seniors in joining the Arlington system. The district hires from 10 to 25 new teachers each year, depending on the amount of new construction to be occupied.

And when a prospective teacher visits Clabaugh's office, "this is only one of 3 interviews he's got that day." (A

Ridge Park–Sherwood

There was a fun fair July 16 in the Jack LeBeaus' back yard, but of a different kind from most fairs. It was given by Susan LeBeau, Tomma Gooding, Peggy Klement, Bobbie and Laurie Eeles and Lynn Buckley, who made the tickets, games that were played, coloring books and "things-to-do" books that were sold that night. Neighborhood children and their parents came to watch the girls dance and perform their acts, on which they had worked hard. The girls even made prizes for the games that were played. Popcorn and lemonade were sold and the proceeds from the entire evening went to the hospital fund. The unusual thing about the fair was that the girls got the idea by themselves, did the work and contributed the earnings, $15.15, to a worthwhile cause.

The Mailman's Corner

Don't Be Afraid To Be A 'Fool'

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Being afraid of making a fool of one's self is a handicap which few of us entirely overcome. Many failures in life can be attributed to this weakness in human nature. We are afraid to try new things because we lack the faith that they will work, or because we cannot stand to be ridiculed if they fail.

Suppose the Wright brothers, tinkering with their "fool contraption that will never leave the ground," had been afraid of being considered fools. Or Fulton, who invented the first steamboat, had given up because others said that it could not be done, and considered him a hopeless crackpot? Or Ford, who gave the modern automobile to the common man, had listened when people called him a fool, and ridiculed his first attempts at creating the "road louse?"

BOYS AND GIRLS kept out of school by sickness and behind in their grades often claim to hate school; it is often not the school they hate, but the ridicule of others younger than themselves who's health enabled them never to miss a grade. Because they hated the ridicule of classmates, many of these children who might have become leaders gave up school to work in the lowest paying occupations. They were frustrated and afraid to try because they might be thought fools.

The fear of failure and ridicule is with almost all of us. We want the respect and approval of others much more than is good for us. If there is any one criticism of our school and social systems, it is that they tend to make conformists of us all; and it is not the conformists who bring about the continued advance of our nation, but those stalwart individuals who, when possessed of an idea, dare to continue with their beliefs and dreams until they realize them.

TO BE different from other people is becoming almost a crime in America. Yet Christ was of all men perhaps the greatest non-conformist that ever lived; and the doctrines He proclaimed and the new way of life He advocated profoundly affected the world of His time and has continued for almost 2,000 years to influence the Christian thinking of religious leaders and the lives of millions of men and women throughout the world in every generation. the HARRIS huddle

CORA DORNAN

This is a good time to offer a big "thank you" to all of you wonderful people who have made the Fountain at Harris Pharmacy such a success. It has been my earnest desire to serve good wholesome food at a price that one can afford. An eating establishment that offers food with that "home-cookin'" flavor certainly should have a chance to succeed; and again, we thank you for your patronage.

For the noontime meal we feature "hot lunches" that have proven to be quite popular. Even though the weather is real hot, you should have at least one warm meal. Being a Fountain-Luncheonette, we naturally feature all those taste-tempting Sodas, Sundaes, Milk Shakes and Malteds and many other "Summer-Coolers" made from fresh limes and oranges. We feel we have the ideal spot for that quick lunch, and we certainly welcome you to give us a try.

Say, while you're waiting for your lunch to be prepared, you can browse around and pick up the other items that you may need. Oh, yes, Harris, as well as Arlington Heights Pharmacy, is Air-Conditioned for your comfort.

THANK YOU, FOLKS!

We appreciate very much your cooperation and patience during the recent emergency situation. The record rainfall flooded approximately 20,000 of our customers' homes to such an extent that it disrupted the use of gas appliances.

The emergency covered an area in which more than half of our 580,000 customers live, and this placed a terrific strain on our normal ability to answer your calls for service promptly.

We are proud of the way in which our servicemen responded to this emergency. Many left their own flooded homes to work long and late in order to restore your gas service. Behind the scenes were hundreds of other Northern Illinois Gas employees who also played important roles during this trying period.

Again, may we say "thank you, folks!"

Chicago & North Western Makes Financial Comeback

by JACK MARTIN

Chicago and North Western railway is making a financial comeback.

Its 9400 mile network laces 9 states of the upper midwest and furnishes northwest suburban commuters with transportation to and from their daily labors.

Two years ago, the 107-year-old railroad was facing bankruptcy. Not since 1950 had a full preferred dividend or any common dividend been paid. North Western's roadbed and equipment were in sad need of repair. Steam engines still were operating in some spots. A thumping loss of $5.5 million was reported and pessimism urged a merger with the Milwaukee road.

ON APRIL 1, 1956, 2 gentlemen walked into the C&NW office, rolled up their sleeves, and began the tremendous task of setting the corporation back on its rails. The efforts of Ben W. Heineman, a lawyer-businessman who, with several investor groups, owned 30 per cent of the railroad's stock, and Clyde J. Fitzpatrick, who was brought in from the IC, where he was operating vice-president, have paid off.

Talk of a merger stopped. The new chairman of the board and corporation president insisted that the railroad could be an independent profit-maker.

IN A MATTER of weeks after his arrival on the property, Fitzpatrick had dieselized the railroad. Maintenance was stepped up, accounting functions were centralized, a new system of inventory control and materials handling was introduced, and the operating department was streamlined, new traffic sources are being explored.

The road is reporting its first black figures and Heineman expects to finish 1957 in the black. C&NW has even contracted to buy another small railroad.

LIKE MANY other railroads, C&NW is plagued by passenger deficits. 80,000 commuters ride 3 suburban lines to and from Chicago daily. Turning their attention to the passenger service, Heineman and Fitzpatrick promise the purchase of more double deck commuter cars with air-conditioning, enabling the railroad to junk over-age coaches now in use.

The story of North Western's financial comeback hasn't had a final chapter. The railroad continues to change and become more efficient. Suburban commuters are just beginning to feel the effect of Fitzpatrick and Heineman. (BB

Check Furnaces Hit by Floods

(CNS)—Flooded home owners who have had their doused gas service restored should have their furnaces checked, too, says the Northern Illinois Gas company.

"Some furnaces will need to have work done," a gas company spokesman said.

"Customers are reminded that space heating equipment which was under water should not be relighted until motors and controls have been checked by the customer's own heating service man."

THE SPOKESMAN suggested this be done "soon as possible so furnaces will be in tip-top condition, before cold weather arrives."

"Furnaces not died out properly will burn out,' he said.

Checking furnaces is not part of the company's general service, thus the spokesman's advice to see your own service-man.

However, the company did answer upwards of 20,000 calls to restore gas service to appliances and customers' homes since the record heavy rains of July 12-13.

ABOUT 8,700 CALLS were received from west suburban homes, 5,200 from the north and northwest suburban areas, the balance from the south.

Joliet had 2,000. About 2,700 came from the Chicago Heights, Harvey, and Blue Island areas.

Service was back to normal by Friday, the spokesman said.

Sky Harbor Airport Has Boomed with Northbrook

by MORT LEVE

Sky Harbor airport, located off Dundee rd. in the west sector of Northbrook, has steadily matched the population growth of the community.

Leased to Mid-States Aviation corp., its president John Wilson states that gross business rose to 2¼ million dollars last year. Wilson, who is also a major stockholder in Sky Harbor, is as close to the scenes as can be possible as he resides in a trailer right on the field.

SKY HARBOR is a private-type field, catering mainly to executive-owned aircraft, and maintaining a high standard of instruction and maintenance. Wilson's company is main distributor in the northern third of Illinois and Indiana, and 8 counties in Iowa, for Cessna aircraft.

The Cessna product leads all other concerns in production of light aircraft. Since World War II many developments have been made that are a far cry from the average person's conception of this non-commercial machine. This is no longer a cub-type plane—rather it is $80,000-downward priced with advancements in radio equipment that spell safety . . . cruising range from 450-1,100 miles.

MOST POPULAR today are the new $9,000-$11,000 bracket Cessnas, 4-placed, single engine No. 172. This has the 450-mile range and can be utilized year around for business trips, vacation jaunts.

The day of commuting from this area to downtown Chicago is not yet at hand, although there are 3 businessmen who alternate use of their planes weekly for the daily weekday 15-minute flight to Meigs field on Chicago's Loop lake front.

When we asked Wilson what is more difficult about flying he did not indicate that taking off or landing would be the hardest to master. Rather, he pointed out that the experience and training necessary for a pilot to cope with the intricacies of the aircraft would be toughest. Only through thorough training by capable personnel and the experience gained in flight hours will master this.

"WE DO NOT encourage clubs at Sky Harbor because such organizations tend to economize on instruction, leading to accidents where a plane might be lost and this will follow a pattern of dissolvement," Wilson says. "Flying lessons cannot be given in a group. Every individual differs in his ability to advance. Some solo after six hours, others need as many as 12 hours."

Wilson was definite in emphasizing the safety of flying. There are no problems of road space. "Actually, flying is as safe as the pilot," Sky Harbor's head man avers. "Accidents can occur when a pilot cannot cope with weather conditions he is not trained to handle."

Learning to fly can be both a hobby and practical for business purposes. The famed Hertz rental car agency plans to add plane rental to its services next year. Many men flying into metropolitan areas in commercial craft are stalled from going on to points nearby that are not regular scheduled runs. He will be able to rent a plane, as he would an automobile, and waste no time in reaching his destination.

MORE AND MORE industrial firms are buying their own aircraft for quick mobility. With the advances made in radio equipment, and the constant surveillance the Federal Communications Commission, year around flying is no longer a matter of conjecture.

Many who have never flown as a passenger shy away from going near an airplane. They do not realize the marvelous safety records that have been accumulated by commercial lines and the continued advancements that have been made. Private flying can be akin to owning a boat.

For those who want a brief appetizer of just how it feels to get up in the air John Wilson invites you out to Sky Harbor to take a ride that will give you a bird's eye view of the Northbrook area for only $2.50. And, if you want to ride down to the Chicago loop and back it is $5.

Move Furniture In Prospect High

Workmen began moving office furniture into the new Prospect high school last week and Tuesday found Administrator Alvin L. Kulieke and his office staff settling down to the task of getting ready for the largest freshman class in the history of High School District 214.

WHILE MUCH work remains to be completed, workmen of the various trades are rapidly putting the finishing touches on the 3-story academic section. In addition to the general office and counseling rooms, a first floor study hall has been turned over for the storage of incoming school supplies, and the library is being readied for shelving and books.

Because of the construction hazards, school officials will continue to register next year's freshmen at the Arlington high school building, Euclid and Walnut, Arlington Heights, until August 16.

ALL EIGHTH grade graduates moving into the district during the summer and any local eighth grade graduates who did not complete registration for next fall should do so as soon as possible.

All freshmen will pay their fees at the Prospect building, 801 W. Foundry rd., from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., during the period Monday, August 19, to Friday, August 30.

Upon payment of fees, each student will be given his schedule of classes, a map of the building, and his books. School will open Tuesday, September 3, at 8:30 a.m. (ACM

Tact and Good Taste

These hard-to-define essentials of a good funeral director grow out of years of experience and sincere desire to serve. The families we have served to the third generation testify to our tactfulness and good taste.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (272:3-5): "The spiritual sense of truth must be gained before Truth can be understood. This sense is assimilated only as we are honest, unselfish, loving, and meek."
The Golden Text is from Psalms (98:1,3): "O sing unto the Lord a new song; for he hath done marvelous things: . . . He hath remembered his mercy and his truth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our God."

Saturday's Racing Card Ends Arlington Meeting

Saturday's closing-day stakes "doubleheader" at Arlington Park will give Chicago patrons a box seat to the greatest one-day parade of outstanding thoroughbred talent seen here in years.

The $50,000 added Arlington Lassie at 6 furlongs for 2-year-old fillies promises an interesting contest between 3 of the nation's outstanding juvenile filly stars—Mrs. S. G. Zauderer's Poly Hi, E. H. Lane's Margaretta and Hasty House Farms' Hasty Doll.

Poly Hi and Margaretta were made supplementary nominees to the lucrative filly test by payment of $5,000. Poly Hi has won 4 stakes this year: the Fashion and Rosedale at Jamaica; filly division of the National Stallion at Belmont Park, and the recent colleen at Monmouth.

MARGARETTA has won 8 of 12 starts this year, the last 3 in succession including the Susan Stakes at Thistledown and the Pollyana Stakes here over an off track. The latter victory convinced her connections to make her a supplementary to the Lassie.

Hasty Doll was second to Margaretta in the Pollyanna here, prior to which the stretch-running miss edged Margaretta in winning the Miss Chicago Stakes at Balmoral.

Others scheduled for appearances in Saturday's Lassie are Mrs. Harvey Fruehauf's Honora; Reverie Knoll Farm's Delnita, Elmendorf Farm's Oil Rich, and Patrick Calhoun's Her Gem.

SATURDAY'S big finale, of course, is the one mile and 3/16ths Arlington Handicap on the grass, expected to lure a full field of at least 12, including E. Gay Drake's brilliant handicap champion, Swoon's Son

Marmor Takes Top Position At O'Hare

A hot rivalry in the new and late model stock car races every Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday night at O'Hare Stadium on Mannheim rd., just south of Irving Park, continues to pit Chicago drivers against those from the suburbs and outlying areas. The first race nightly is at 8:30 p.m.

The Chicago contingent got a big boost last week when Gene Marmor, veteran Windy City star, took over top spot in the O'Hare point standings from Tom Cox of suburban Villa Park. Other city stars backing up Marmor include Tom Croft, Tony Venturini, Art Seckman, Rich O'Cara and many others.

RECORDS SHOW that, despite Marmor's advance, the suburban hot shots still hold the edge in victories in 25-lap main events, 10 to 8. Besides Cox, suburbia is represented by Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Kenny Paulsen of Stone Park, Bill Shoulders of North Chicago, Pete Burgett of Waukegan and numerous others.

Besides the big feature event, each new, late model program at O'Hare includes time trials, a trophy dash, 4 heat races and a 15-lap semi-final event. There is ample parking and refreshment facilities are of the finest.

WE USUALLY think of baseball as the national pastime in the United States. A few would question this, thinking of the high school level, and state that basketball was now the most popular sport in this country. Actually both of these sports are well down the list in the number of participants. According to figures compiled by the Athletic Institute, headed by Colonel Theodore Bank, there are more participants in the sport of boating than any other activity, with fishing a close second.

For 1956 the Athletic Institute shows boating 28,000,000, fishing 20,813,000, bowling 20,050,000, hunting 11,784,000, basketball 11,000,000, baseball 7,106,0, softball 6,675,000, tennis 6,583,00, golf 5,100,000, archery 4,600,000 skiing 2,180,000, football 1,725,000, track 580,000, wrestling 170,000.

The athletic institute predicts an increase in total participation of almost 100% in the next 10 years. The greatest percentage increases will come in wrestling from 170,000 to 1,000,000 and in track, football, skiing, golf, and archery.

THE REASONS they give for an unprecedented increase in sports participation are the great increase in sports facilities, largely of the type which is publicly constructed and supported; the great youth sports boom, headed by Little League baseball, which is expected to spread to many more sports; and the great expansion of school sports programs.

In 1956 there were 35,000,000 students of elementary and high school age. In 1966 this will increase to 46,000,000. There is greater emphasis in high school on sports as curricular rather than extra curricular activities and more emphasis upon individual carry over activities such as swimming, golf, tennis, archery, and bowling.

The four day week which labor and business authorities predict is only a few years away will have a tremendous impact on sports participation. Sports activities are far and away the most popular way to spend leisure time.

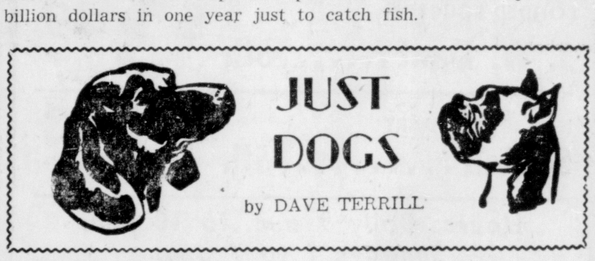
SPECTATOR SPORTS have not suffered a bit by this surge of interest in sports participation. Big league baseball and college football have had increased attendance while pro basketball and hockey have had attendance increases of 100% in the past five years.

Evidence of the sports boom is shown in the fact that sports shirts outsell regular men's shirts by 2 to 1 and sports jackets outsell suits by 60%. Sportswear is already 24% of the total volume of women's ready-to-wear clothing.

On the high school competitive athletic scene a great increase in the athletic program is predicted in the next 10 years. The four top major sports of basketball, baseball, track, and football will increase very little in the number of schools engaging in the sports. At present 95% of all schools have basketball teams while 63.2% play baseball, 58.8% have track and 49.5 play football.

The real increase will be in the minor or individual sports. Tennis as a school sport will increase from 16.5% to 35%, golf from 13.9% to 30%, swimming 5.4% to 20%, and wrestling from 12.2% to 30%.

There are those who question the fact that the Athletic Institute places boating as the leading sports activity. They say that figures for fishing are based on licenses but that children under 16 do not need licenses and that women may also fish without licenses in many states. According to a government survey fishing is our top national sport. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service estimates that American anglers traveled 18 billion miles on 341 million trips and spent 397 million man days and 2 billion dollars in one year just to catch fish.



Topline Shepherd Winner

Jeff-Lynne's Bella, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Donnell, who recently moved from Palatine to Des Plaines, took best of breed at the Topline German Shepherd club in Rockford July 7. This gave "Bella" 5 points toward her championship to make a total of 10 points to date. Jerald Metzger of St. Jacob, Ill., handled "Bella" in the show, in which there were more than 100 entries. The O'Donnells, members of Northwest Obedience club, Palatine, have been active for a long period of time in the breeding and showing of German shepherds and were quite well known in Palatine.

New Veterinarians

Graduates from the nation's 17 veterinary colleges this year totaled 763, according to a compilation by the Gaines Dog Research center, New York.

This figure augments the more than 18,000 veterinarians already in the country. While by far the great majority of these are in private large and small animal practice, several thousands of them are engaged in agriculture and public health work, in research, teaching and in private industry.

The 763 figure compares with an average of 592 graduated during the years 1940-1950.

Of the 942 veterinary students who have just completed their freshman year, 207 already have bachelor degrees and 11 their master degrees. Women represent slightly more than 2 per cent of the current veterinary student body.

Lawn Mower

Tie up your dog or keep him indoors or at a distance when you are using a power lawn mower.

Farmers have long taught their dogs to keep away from the front of moving machinery and not to try to stop a tractor. Householders are aware of the potential danger to small children from the whirling blade of a rotary lawn mower, but they sometimes fail to realize that the family dog can get into the same danger.

Some dogs will stay away because they fear or dislike the noise, but others regard it as fun to grab at the flying grass or charge playfully at the moving object. The fast-spinning blade can sever a pup's jaw, his tail of foot, or it can send a stick or stone flying out with great force.

Both children and dogs often like to go along when the lawn mower is being used. It's a practice that should be discouraged, or else the user should make sure that they are out of its path or sufficiently far behind the mower to prevent possible injury.

Barks and Bays

Ah! Vacations — they certainly are nice, but it looks as if your editor is back on his bi-weekly beat. Many people have talked about working 2 weeks out of the year and then vacationing for 50. It would be nice; however, no one has been able to come up with a satisfactory answer, so we will just have to bury the idea.

Speaking about burying things, the Dakota Indians believed that the buried skeleton of a dog would produce another dog. Your editor has just buried his vacation and is trying to figure out how to produce another one.

Large Muskie

Richard C. Anderson, 405 Highland, Arlington Heights, landed a 33 pound, 8 ounce muskie July 12 on Crawling Stone Lake in Wisconsin. The muskie was 51 inches long and measured 21½ inches around the middle. Anderson was a guest of Maywood Lodge in Lac Du Flambeau, Wis. (Sp

THE STARTER FOR the 1957 Kentucky Derby was an Arlington Heights man who was attending his first "Run for the Roses." James Thomson, of 1017 N. Vail has been associated with race tracks for more than a quarter of a century but had never attended a Derby until last May 4.

An assistant starter at Arlington Park, Thomson made his debut at the Derby when the veteran Ruby White was hospitalized. Thomson moved up as Churchill Downs' No 1 starter when White became ill after the second day of the meeting last fall, and the track's officials didn't hesitate about using Jim for the Derby.

A former groom for the John Hertz Stable in Cary, Thomson got his start as a gate helper with Roy "Boots" Dickerson. Frank Hackett was Hertz' trainer at the time and recommended that the young man accept a position on the gate with Dickerson, an association which has continued to this day. Thomson and Dickerson have worked at most of the tracks in the Midwest and while Dickerson has been engaged elsewhere for a period of time, Thomson has started on his own.

Thomson, who has resided in Arlington for 14 years, is married and has 2 children, a son who will be 22 in August and a girl, 16. Jim, Jr., was married 3 weeks ago and is serving with the Navy in San Diego.

AS A CLIMAX to another outstanding racing season, Arlington Park will hold the famous Arlington Handicap this Saturday at a mile and three-sixteenths on the grass. This will be the 28th running of the Handicap, inaugurated in 1929 and won by the horse which captured the inaugural running of the Arlington Futurity in 1927—Misstep.

Saturday will mark the fourth straight year the Handicap will be decided on the grass although the 1941 renewal also was contested over the turf course.

If an entry from Hasty House Farms walks off with the top prize this year, the Arlington Handicap trophy will be retired. To the owner who wins 3 runnings of the Handicap goes permanent possession of the trophy, hand-wrought from solid silver and imported from England. Replicas of the ancient trophy are awarded to the winning owner, trainer, and jockey. Hasty House Farms won the '54 and '55 affairs with Stan and Platan respectively.

In 1956 Mister Gus, with Ismael Valenzuela aboard, finished in front with a time of 1:54 1/5. This mark stands as a record for the Handicap and also eclipsed the American Turf standard for the distance.

WITH A FEW EXCEPTIONS the first round games in the 22nd annual state semi-pro baseball tourney didn't leave too many favorable impressions. The overall caliber of teams was only mediocre for a tourney of such importance, and the job turned in by the set of umpires wasn't even adequate.

And we aren't in the minority with these opinions. A Major League scout with years of experience said he had never seen a poorer job of umpiring for a state tournament, and he also agreed that the caliber of teams wasn't up to par. Several other people were also in agreement with these remarks.

Arlington's Redwings provided the top thrill with a 4-3 victory over the defending state champion Bill Erickson Boosters of Evanston. Dick Bokelmann, after a shaky start, hurled steady ball and will be ready for the Redwings' second test against Sycamore. We believe Arlington can get by Sycamore but after that contest, we won't venture any opinions.

Pitching depth will decide the '57 tourney—along with the breaks! If the Redwings win Thursday, they will play in Friday's semi-finals. Another win there puts them in Saturday's championship. Bokelmann can't pitch every game! That's about the story of Arlington's chances. They'll need a good performance by some other pitcher if they expect to win the trip to the national tourney in Wichita, Kans. They aren't the only team in this situation though so the semi-final games are very likely to match second-rate hurlers.

That's what happens in a tourney of this type with the games crowded together. The first 2 contests usually match the top pitchers as a club can't afford to experiment with their No. 2 moundsmen and risk defeat. Consequently, the semi-final and championship contests find sub-rate pitchers working against each other.

We liked the performance of Peoria's Cats in their lidlifter and feel the winner of last night's Peoria-Skokie game will have a lot to say about the '57 title. The upper bracket is definitely stronger with Peoria, Skokie, and Peru all classy outfits and title contenders.

ANYONE WHO BELIEVES the life of a professional bowler is all gravy should listen to Buzz Fazio, one of the most sought after TV headliners of the current crop of stars. Fazio earns between $10,000 and $20,000 a year and is one of the less than a dozen bowlers who is getting enough out of the game to call it a career in itself.

In a recent article for the Bowling Magazine Fazio pointed out that his season is one of 52 weeks. He averages about 10 games a day in this period, and he often motors all night to make his next engagement.

For example, last winter Fazio finished bowling on a television show in Detroit at 5 p. m. In a few minutes he was heading to Chicago where he was slated to appear on another TV show at 11 that same night. He made it with minutes to spare, but that wasn't all! He was booked in a tournament in Detroit the next morning which meant he had to turn around and head right back again.

In the last 3 years alone Fazio has lugged his bowling ball more than 200,000 miles over land, sea, and air. This includes treks through Europe (England, France, Germany) and to Hawaii. It's not a bad way to make a living—the trouble comes in getting to the top. (as in everything else).

WHAT WERE THE major sports items on these pages 10 years ago? The leading stories on July 25, 1947 ranged from a Legion boxing tournament to a hole-in-one with the running of the Arlington Classic rating top billing.

The boxing tournament, sponsored by the American Legion of Arlington was set for July 30, and Sonny Rouse was credited with the hole-in-one. The Classic story didn't list any of the horses entered, but it did mention that the famed Armed had run at the popular suburban plant a week before.

Jim Trava and Wayne Hesch led an Arlington softball team to a 26-9 victory over Skokie with Trava slamming a homer, triple, and 2 singles. Other boys playing on the 2 softball teams in Arlington in '47 included Bob Fasick, Ron Thill, Joe Hipp, Bob Ellis, Ray Stockwell, Bob Chamberlain, Richard Nichols, Carl Biegel, Mark Creviston, Herb Van Driel, and Don Helfers.

Arlington's Poole Fords, winners of the ninth district Legion title, bowed out of state play with 2 losses to Winnetka. Bob Thollander, ace of the mound corps, hurled a 2-hitter in one of the defeats but was victim of 4 unearned runs. Joining Thollander on the staff were Dick Steffenson, Paddy Floyd, and a 15-year-old, Chuck Johnson. Second baseman Fred Mueller was the big hitter with a mark close to .400.

The final stories of interest on that July 25 sports page indicated the Redwings were preparing for a Sunday game with West Chicago and that Dick Bokelmann had signed with the St. Louis Cardinals. Bokelmann, who had been on the payroll of Glen Ellyn in the Greater Chicago League, was assigned by the Cards to Rochester of the International League.

Next week we'll take readers back 10 years to August 1, 1947!

Redwings Advance in State Tournament

Arlington Tops Defending Champs Sycamore Next

by BOB FRISK

An unheralded team from Arlington Heights is the talk of the state semi-pro baseball tournament.

Arlington's Redwings, boasting only an average record this summer, fought back from a 3-1 deficit Friday night to shock the defending state champion Bill Erickson Boosters of Evanston, 4-3.

Tony Esposito, slick-fielding shortstop, provided the dramatic blow with a game-tying homer in the last of the ninth. The Dick Bokelmann, who twirled steady ball after a shaky start, backed a single and error with a line hit to center to bring in the deciding tally.

TONIGHT (Thursday) Arlington will meet the Sycamore Sons, runner-up to Evanston in the '56 affair, at 6 p.m. at Wing Park in Elgin. Sycamore was impressive in gaining a 9-0 win over LaSalle in Friday's second contest.

Bokelmann will get the call for Arlington with Jerry Tweetmeyer probably working for Sycamore. Tweetmeyer, a fast-balling right hander, yielded only 1 hit, a first inning single, and fanned 11 in whipping LaSalle.

Erickson's Boosters didn't waste any time in recording the first runs of Friday's twilight affair. Ken McGonagle, the tourney's most valuable player in 1956, led off the first with a single and came around on a single by Al Morrow which got past right fielder Ed Schultz. Doug Davidson's line shot to left brought in Morrow with the second marker.

THE REDWINGS finally broke into the scoring column in the fifth off the slants of lefty Chuck Lindquist. Esposito was safe on an error leading off, and he counted on a single by pinch hitter Gene Modierz. Modierz was batting for E. Kolowsowski who was tossed out of the game for protesting a called strike, marking the first time in 3 years a player had been thrown out of a contest.

Evanston moved ahead 3-1 in the eighth when Morrow led off with a walk and scored on a double by Davidson, the center fielder's third hit of the night.

Then the tide changed! Lindquist had sailed along with a 3-hitter until the fateful ninth but got in immediate trouble by walking leadoff man Dick Rustenowski. Esposito blasted his tremendous homer over the 335 foot barrier in left field and knotted the score, 3-3.

EXIT LINDQUIST, enter Willie Harris, who was originally slated to start! Modierz met Harris with his second hit and when Harris tried to pick the runner off, the ball got away and Modierz raced all the way to third. John Perrill fanned for the first out, and then Harris walked Bruno Fabris intentionally to set up a possible double play. Bokelmann spoiled that strategy with the game-deciding hit on Harris' initial pitch.

The quarterfinal games in the tournament started last night (Wednesday) with Peoria meeting Skokie and Peru facing the Elgin Vets. Following Thursday's Arlington-Sycamore opener at 6 p.m., Canton will meet the Chicago Vets, now ranked as a strong title contender. Semi-final contests will be Friday evening with the championship tilts on Saturday.

Highlight of the first round of games was a no-hitter by Canton's Fred Davis. Davis fanned 9 in the 5-inning victory over Mandy's Tap. The contest was halted at the end of 5 due to a rule that makes a game official if one team leads by 8 or more runs at the end of 7 innings or by 12 or more at the end of 5.

Chicago Vets' Marty Saban put in a strong bid for a no-hitter when he faced the minimum 18 batters in 6 innings before yielding back-to-back singles with 1 out in the seventh. Saban walked 1 and struck out 9.

Vittum Hikes Mark to .370, Paces Black's Boosters

by RANDY THOMAS

Statistics released yesterday by Black's Boosters Public Relations Department revealed many interesting facts even though the Boosters have lost 5 in a row and 7 out of their last 8 games.

While the Boosters have been dropping games faster than the Chicago Cubs, individual and team batting averages have soared. As of the last release, the club was hitting .262 for 14 contests. This mark was hiked 5 points in 6 games to a respectable .267.

Dan Vittum continued to lead the club in just about every department as he sent his average to a mountainous .370, a full 30 points higher than his previous effort.

IN ALL, 7 boys boosted their averages. Among the most noticeable were Vittum, Ron Ashley (.244 to .271—27 points) and Lee Fick who sky-rocketed from .211 to .364. The slugging Fick appeared in 4 of the last 6 games, compiled a .571 mark, collected 3 hits in 2 different games, 2 in 1 other, and slammed 3 doubles.

In the last 5 contests the Boosters have outhit their opponents on 3 different occasions, left more runners on base and have not been able to deliver the all-important base hit when most needed, thus accounting partially for their rapid decline. Part 2 contributing to defeats have been these 2 figures—47 strikeouts and 16 errors!

Park Ridge Tops Heights Legion, Cops Crown

The Park Ridge jinx is still with Arlington Jr. Legion teams!

Manager Lloyd Meyer's local legion nine has concluded another season and included in the record are 2 losses to the ninth district champion Park Ridge squad.

The latest defeat was a 3-2 decision at Park Ridge Saturday. Arlington's Bob Miller twirled another creditable game, but the hosts capitalized on a streak of wildness and 2 errors to push over their 3 runs in the third.

PARK RIDGE used 3 pitchers in the contest, with Humay starting. Rich Peterson, who twirled a no hitter against Arlington in the first game, and Bob Gruber, an All-WSC performer this spring also saw action.

Arlington tallied its 2 runs in the fifth without the aid of a base hit. Three walks and an error in the scoring.

Lee Magnuson had 2 hits for Arlington and Miller, Jerry figured in the scoring. Klement, and John Oberg also had safeties. John Hamman and Michaelson had the only hits for Park Ridge.

RIVER GROVE was no competition for the locals Saturday as Arlington returned home after the Park Ridge game and recorded a 7-0 win in the afternoon's second contest. Oberg did the hurling for Heights and allowed 2 hits.

Jerry Klement had 2 hits for Arlington and Bob Lockwood, Magnuson, Ralph Wille, and Jim Peery also collected base knocks.

Local Softball Team Regains League Lead

The Bill Cook Buick softball team of Arlington Heights regained the lead in the Fox Valley softball circuit with a smashing 19-4 victory over Cary Pub. The squad has now won 4 straight and has gained revenge for 2 previous defeats.

Led by the bats of Harry Griffith, Dick Hoffman, Pat Meehan, Vern Richmeier, Pete Abramson, and the standout pitching of Ronnie Klatt, the Pub team was put away in short order.

The Wolves turned Klatt's 3 walks into double plays and erased all but one first inning uprising in smart order.

COOK BUICK'S Wolves avenged their previous 7-5 defeat in soundly trouncing the Merchants in 2 straight games. Pete Abramson pitched a 1-hitter in the 15-0 game and then in the 18-1 contest, a walk and a passed ball and an error resulted in the only score in 2 tilts.

Again the booming bats were decisive from the start. D. Hoffman went 3-for-3 with 2 walks; Harry Griffith drew 3 walks while Elmer Hoeft, Chuck Bencic, Vern Richmeier, and Dean Skadberg whallped doubles. The team has regained its form and is now ready for tourney play at Marengo, Illinois in the latter part of August.

Last Sunday the locals edged the Arlington Park softball team, 5-4. Pat Meehan twirled 4-hit ball. Pete Abramson finished up and struck out the alst 2 batters.

Any team that would like to play the Bill Cook Wolves is asked to call CL 3-2280 anytime in the morning and in the vening call Mercury 9-6804, ask for Don Richmeier.

White Sox Pace Arlington League

Believe it or not, a White Sox team is leafing a league and looks like a good bet for post-season honors!

That's the situation in the Arlinngton Little League where the American League Sox are doing what their Major League counterparts would like to do—get out in front of a league and stay there.

The 2 latest victories for the Little League Sox came at the expense of the Red Sox and Senators. Lips was the winner over the Red Sox and Vaughn picked up the decision against the Senators.

Tennis Program In 6th Week

by KEN SCHALLER

The Arlington Park District tennis program is moving into its sixth week and shows some rapidly improving young players. Any potential players, ages 9 through 16, may still join the classes and learn the fundamental skills in the final 3 weeks of the program.

Last Tuesday and Thursday approximately 50 of Arlington's young players spent the afternoons at the National Clay Courts tournament in River Forest. They saw some of the world's finest amateur tennis stars—Vic Seixas, Herbie Flams, Tut Bartzen, Neal Frazier, Ashley Cooper, Darlene Hard and Althea Gibson.

ON JULY 31 a tennis tournament will begin for all members of the park's program. The Lions' Club of Arlington Heights is sponsoring the tourney as part of their Lions' Olympics. Eliminations will be held at each of 3 sites to determine entries for the final tourney at the high school, Aug. 6. The winner and runner-up from each site will meet at the high school to determine the Park District's boy and girl champion.

Trophies will be awarded by the Lions Club. A skills contest will be held for the 9 and 10 year old players who aren't quite ready as yet for tournament competition.

The growing interest in tennis in Arlington Heights is reflected by the fact that the high school courts are filled every evening with adult players. All players are permitted one hour on the courts whenever other are waiting on the sidelines to play.

Boosters Drop Twin Bill, Stand 9-10 for Season

A mid-season slump caught hold of Black's Boosters on July 15 and was still taking its toll going into the current week of action.

After a 5-0 defeat to the Chicago Yankees, the Boosters have dropped successive contests to Genoa's Merchants, Lake Forest, Chicago Dodgers, and Chicago Majors, the latter 2 in a twin bill. The 5 straight defeats sent the season record to 9-10-1, the first time this summer the locals have been below .500.

The Boosters were hoping to snap out of the skid Wednesday of this week against the Chicago Angels with another game with the Angels tentatively set for Thursday. Friday, July 26, they will travel to Burlington, Ill., for a contest under the lights, and Sat., July 27, St. Barts is slated to come to Recreation Park for a 3 p.m. affair.

SUN., JULY 28, Arlington will host the Chicago Monarchs at 12:30 p.m. in another League Triple Elimination contest.

Bob Hamilton fanned 15 and walked only 2 but was still tagged with a 3-2 defeat, July 18, in Genoa. The host Merchants pushed across the deciding runs in the seventh inning thanks to a hit, wild pitch, error, walk, and sacrifice.

Arlington tallied its initial run in the second with an infield walk performance in relief.

Sunday the locals had a doubleheader at Recreation Park. As it turned out, all 5 hours of baseball accomplished was to give the Boosters defeats No. 9 and 10.

The defeats can't be blamed on the pitching as the boys who saw action turned in adequate jobs. Defensively, Arlington put on its worst shows of the season, committing 7 errors in the opener and 4 in the nightcap.

Tony Sheer started against the unbeaten Chicago Dodgers and yielded to Bill Yates in the sixth. Sheer fanned 1 and walked 4 and Yanes struck out 1 and walked 3.

CATCHER LEE FICK had 3 hits for Heights to pace both teams and Vittum had 2 more to bring his totals since the Yankees' game to 8 hits in 17 bats for a prolific .471 mark, including the second game of the twin bill.

Apparently the heat caught up with the Boosters in the second affair against the Chicago Majors as the locals were never in the ball game. Chicago tallied single runs in the first and fourth, added a big 5-spot in the fifth, and tapered off to 2 in the seventh and 1 in the eighth.

Arlington continued to show punch at the plate but was still lacking those clutch hits. Of course, Vittum had his usual 2 hits to pace Heights. Johnny Sujack started on the hill for the Boosters and fanned 7 in 4 2/3 innings before yielding to the heat and Bill Yates. Yates fanned 6 and walked only 1 in another impressive relief stint.

grounder by Cosmo Vivirito bringing in Scott MacKenzie, and Stan Fletcher rapped a sharp hit to bring in Ashley with the final run in the seventh.

DAN VITTUM, who has been on a batting streak and has now hiked his season mark to a lusty .370, rapped 2 hits to top the locals' offensive, Lars Henrickson, All-Conference football and basketball performer at Fenton, paced Genoa with 2 safeties.

Sat., July 20, Lake Forest topped the locals, 5-3, thus avenging a previous 2-0 loss. Norm Nedde and Hamilton shared Arlington's mound duties with Joe Belmonte going the route for Lake Forest and hurling a creditable contest.

Jim Troy, the winner's centerfielder who formerly played for Coe college, rapped 3 hits to take game honors. "Dependable" Vittum and Ron Ashley topped Arlington with 2 each.

NEDDE FANNED 4 and walked 5 in his 3 2/3 innings of work, and Hamilton, the ace of the staff, turned in a 7 strikeout, 0

Era Tool Increases Margin In Wayside Golf League

Era Tool continued to dominate the Wayside Golf League at Chevy Chase by downing one of its major opponents, Arlington Milk, by a 4½-1½ count. Howie Johnson, one of the top match players in the league, led the way for Era by defeating Dave Marini, Arlington Milk's No. 1 man. Johnson had help from Capt. Paul Marsh and Norb Hruby who also contributed to the cause. Howie Jack, playing as an alternate, came in with a low enough net to help his team pick up the team net point.

Barrett Insurance, the second place team, split their match with Stefanik's Food Store. Mert Taylor defeated Don Engstrom while Bucky Bakalar tied Lou Stefanik and Jack Boland tied Jake Marino. Lou Stefanik picked up low net with a 35 while the team total ended in a tie with both teams picking up a ½ point apiece. Tom Barrett, captain and sponsor of the team, dozed off to sleep on his way home from work and in dreaming of his and his team's victories, he didn't wake up until he reached Cary and therefore did not play.

TED PILAT shot a 58-28-30 low net for the evening in leading Moody's to a 5 to 1 licking of Kindler's Vern Adrig tied Bob Botterman, Gregg Moody also tied Augie Bonucchi and Bernie Kelly beat Ed Keegan. Kindler's had defeated Barrett's the week before and therefore must have droppd their guard as they faced the lower placed Moody outfit.

Bud Martindell shot low gross for the evening with a 39 to pick up the only 2 points for Black's Memorial Home. Dick Jamieson and Tom Strass led Continental Can to a 3 to 2 victory by whipping Ed Ryan and Jack Garrity. One match was not played therefore only 5 points were involved.

The league will hold its first annual tournament Sunday, August 25, at Chevy Chase. There will be golf (18 holes), swimming and a banquet with the prizes and trophies to be awarded that night. Members are advised to make up their own foursomes now so that the league officers will know how many to expect.

Golden's Continues To Dominate Golf In Mount Prospect

Golden's Food Shop, by scoring 7½ points, continues to dominate the Monday Night division of the Mt. Prospect Twilight Golf league. They now hold a substantial lead of 8½ points over the second place team, O'Day Realtors. Winkelman's Shell team scored 7 points and jumped from fifth place to take over third place from the Mt. Prospect Bank team, dropping them to fourth.

The balance of the league remained pretty much the same with one exception. The Mt. Prospect Lions club team, who have held down last place in the league almost as long as Golden's have held first place, scored 8 points against the O'Day Realty team to move out of the cellar by the narrow margin of ½ point.

It was a mighty lean night for birdies with one being scored on No. 7 by Mike Grimm.

7 Teams Battle For Golf Lead In YMCA Play

After 11 weeks of play, only 3½ points separate the leader and the seventh place team in the 10 team YMCA Wednesday evening men's golf league. Marland Oil Co. team with 39 points held tenaciously to its slim margin when it tied the Ladendorf Motors Co. team last Wednesday 3-3. Prairie Lee Paint, led by Ed Nixson, jumped from third position to second place with a win over Spyrison Shoes 3½-2½. Jack Sneeden, number one player on the Optimist club team, came in with a par 36 on the back nine to become the first league player to achieve this distinction this season. Chuck Kessler continues to lead the league in individual games won with 7½ victories to 2½ defeats.

Tindall and Sons continues to be the jinx team in the league. They lost a decision to the Optimist club 4½-1½ even though 2 players carded net scores in the 30's and 2 others in the low 40's. They continue to play team after team on a night when their opponents are at their best.

Newly sponsored North Continental Lumber continued to score well with a victory over Mt. Prospect Country club 4-2.

Klehm's Holds St. Jame's Lead

Sitarz and Rapp must have had the PGA tournament in mind in the St. James Holy Name twilight golf league as they shot a 38 and 39 respectively. Their teams are in first and second places and they halved the match.

All members were geared for this contest and played well. Barry won consolation prize; however, Zito certainly gave him a tussel for it. It appears that Charles Klehm's Nursery will represent the league in the popular Paddock Tournament.

Dairy Increases Rob Roy Lead

Dunteman's Dairy whipped Sterling Oil, 6-1, to stretch its lead to 7 points over second place J. L. Stearns in the Rob Roy golf league.

Since only 7 points is all that can be won in any night, it will only require a ½ point by Dunteman's to win the Paddock entry. Bill Behrens led the Dunteman team with his 44-8-36 out of the 4-man position.

J. L. Stearns dropped a 5-2 decision to Jacobs Hardware. This is the first loss in 9 weeks for the Stearns team who came from last place into title contention. Prospect Hts. Pharmacy edged Kirchhoff Insurance, 4-3, on sponsor Johnny Brennan's 40-10-30.

PETERSON FLOOR and L-Nor Cleaners played to a 3½-3½ deadlock. Peterson proved that losing out match-wise doesn't always spell defeat. The Peterson gang took team gross and net total points to gain the deadlock.

Hartman House gained a 5-2 victory over Elston Driving Range by winning 3 close matches and the 2 team total points. Michael IGA pounded out a victory over a struggling Ehlers Inc. team. The Ehler team has been running into hard luck from week to week. When they are hot, the opponents are hotter, leaving them on the short end.

Prospect Heights Variety has recuperated and last night showed it by beating Gunnells Recreation, 5-2. Gunnells' loss has eliminated the only other threat to Dunteman's.

Morava Gains Rob Roy Ladies Golf Lead

Thursday, July 11, saw many changes in the standings of the Rob Roy Ladies League. Morava Stationery moved in on the leaders, Arlington Heights Pharmacy, and knocked them back into third place. Lorraine Baird of Morava brought in a 48-13-35 for the day's low net, to help her team pile up the 6½ points they collected. Jacob's Hardware moved into second place by taking 6½ points from Rhodes Appliances. Town and Country managed to hold fourth place by pushing Spiegler's Dept. Store for 5½ points. Des Plaines Liquor moved up from ninth place to sixth by jumping over O'Hare Stadium for 5 points. Webber's Paint Store finally hit their stride and romped over Charm Center for 6½ points, this gave them the chance to move out of the last spot for the first time this season.

The birdie of the day was a deuce carded by A. H. Pharmacy's Maurine Griffenhagen, on hole 8. Merry Lockwood of Webber's started the day out right by sinking her appraoch shot on hole 1.

Fish, cut bait or get off the course—that's the job ahead of hopeful twilight golfers of this area as the eligibility date for the Paddock tournament nears.

First place teams of 14 twilight leagues as of Saturday, Aug. 3, will be eligible for the eighth annual Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap golf tournament at Nordic Hills country club, Aug. 18.

LEAGUE SECRETARIES will have another week to send in entries. Listing of teams and actual foursomes in order will appear in the sports pages Aug. 15. But tourney promoters are hoping league secretaries will turn in the entries (and greens fees of $14) just as soon as possible for better publicity.

Whitton Realty won the title at Roselle golf club last year, representing one of the Mt. Prospect leagues. The 14 foursomes will be shooting for the large traveling trophy, 12 medals and a dozen golf balls. Latter award will go for low individual net. All of the prizes are on display at Wessman - Cunningham sports store in Arlington Heights. (Sp

How are the races developing in some of the leagues which will send representatives to the Paddock tourney? In the Rob Roy loop Dunteman's Dairy needs ½ point next week to cinch a berth while Charles Klehm's Nursery is in a good position to grab the position from the St. James Holy Name golf loop. Koop's Mustard and the New Emerald Cleaners and Dyers pace the Arlington twilight with 61 points with Stan's Standard Service as a close third. Era Tool looks like a good bet to represent the Wayside division and Trapani Plumbing and Moran Furs are currently heading the St. Raymond's division.

Sylvia Florist Cops Arlington CC Lead

The Sylvia Florist team took over the lead from Wheeling Lumber in the golf league at Arlington Country club As the Paddock Tournament nears, it looks like a real rough race for the first 5 teams.

Bud Haut shot 1 under par 34-4-30 while Reinke, a No. 3 man, shot a neat 40, net 29. Union Hotel took 5 points from Arlington Pharmacy to give them a much needed boost in the standings.

Here's Your Opportunity To Work in Foreign Lands

Africa, South America, Europe, Asia ... an invitation to work in a foreign land is now being issued by Miss Esther Rice and Mrs. Donna Livesay, personnel officers of the United States Department of State, to residents of the Chicago area with a desire to travel and work abroad.

The work, at one of 270 Embassies, Consulates and Legations in 78 countries, offers travel, the prestige of representing your country and the satisfaction which springs from knowing and working with people of foreign lands.

TRAVEL NEED no longer be only a dream if you are a high school graduate between the ages of 21 and 35, single with no dependents, in excellent health and you have been an American citizen for at least 5 years. You must be willing to go anywhere in the world.

Applicants for Foreign Service will be interviewed at the Illinois State Employment Service, 73 W. Washington st., Chicago, from July 22 through August 10. Office hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon.

Positions open to qualified secretaries require a typing speed of 50 words a minute and shorthand at 100 words a minute. The starting salary is $3,800 a year, plus allowances.

A STARTING salary of $3390 is offered to stenographers with a typing sped of 50 words a minute and a shorthand speed of 80; communications code clerks with a typing speed of 45 words a minute (qualified typists will be trained for the communications code clerk positions); and the mail and records clerk position with a typing speed of 35 words a minute. Mail and pouch clerk and general clerk positions open to men only require a typing speed of 35 words a minute. All applicants must have 3 years of general office experience.

Salaries are supplemented by either free housing or a housing allowance, at some posts a cost-of-living allowance and, for duty in hardship areas, a post differential ranging from 10 to 25 per cent of the base salary. For instance, a stenographer in Saigon, Viet Nam, receives $6,700 a year; in Caracas, Venezuela, $6,870 a year; and, in Madrid, Spain, $4,290 a year.

LIBERAL VACATIONS provide time for sightseeing, shopping and other recreation determined by your tastes, but tempered by the customs of the land. Many an interesting hour is spent by Foreign Service employees as they compare notes on safaris, skiing on the Zugspitz, wild boar hunting in Australia, golfing on sand courses or the fun of finding activities "just like back home" in foreign lands.

Upon completion of a 2-year tour of duty, employees are returned to their homes in the States for 6-weeks of home leave before reporting to their next overseas assignment.

IF YOU ARE not ready to launch a stimulating career abroad, jobs for typists and stenographers are available at the Department of State headquarters in Washington, D.C. Starting salaries range from $3,175 to $3,415 a year. Applicants must be 18 years of age and able to type 40 words a minute. Applicants for the stenographic positions must, in addition, be able to write shorthand at 80 words a minute.

Special appointments and additional information can be obtained by telephoning Miss Rice or Mrs. Livesay at FInancial 6-3960. (BB

Announce New Laboratory For Northwest Center

Northwest suburban physicians now have a laboratory where an elaborate setup of equipment offers services not previously available in the immediate area.

Located in the new Northwest Suburban Medical center on N. State in Arlington Heights, the laboratory renders such routine services as haematology (blood count), basic metabolism tests, and electrocardiograms, and special testings such as seriology, blood chemistry, parasitology, gastric analysis, bacteriology, and pregnancy tests.

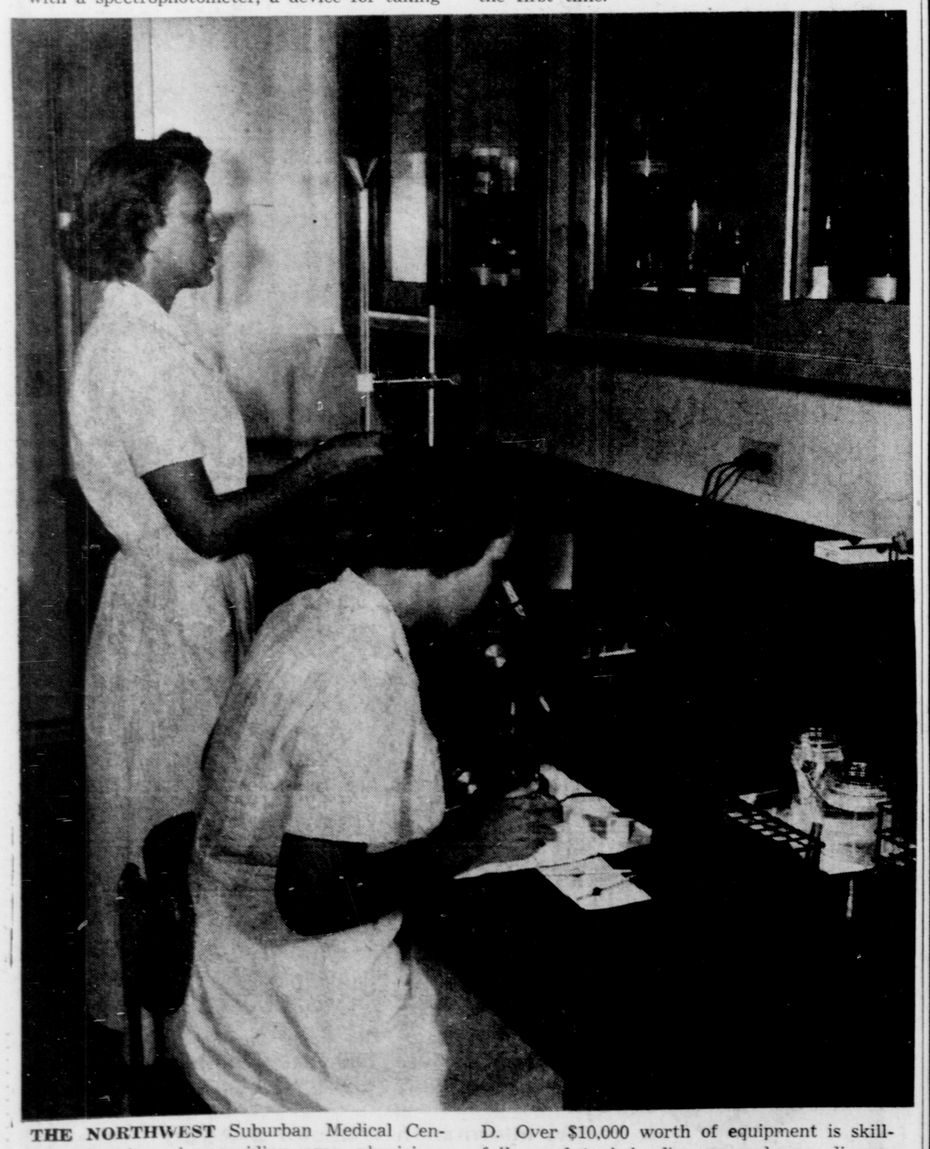
IN THE FUTURE the lab plans to make room for radio-active isotope devices being developed for medical services.

Opened March 15, the laboratory is open wekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7-9. Saturday hours are from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. (B7

JAN LINDNER, registered medical technologist at the Northwest Suburban medical clinic on N. State in Arlington Heights, works with a spectrophotometer, a device for taking chemical analysis of blood. Blood chemistry is one of the special services which the laboratory offers Northwest area physicians for the first time.



THE NORTHWEST Suburban Medical Center laboratory is providing area physicians services heretofore not offered in this locality. The lab is staffed by 4 persons and supervised by Dr. Francis J. Haddy, M. D., Ph. D. Over $10,000 worth of equipment is skillfully used to help discover and cure disease. Jan Lindner (seated) and Doris Gray (standing) are the laboratory's medical technologists.

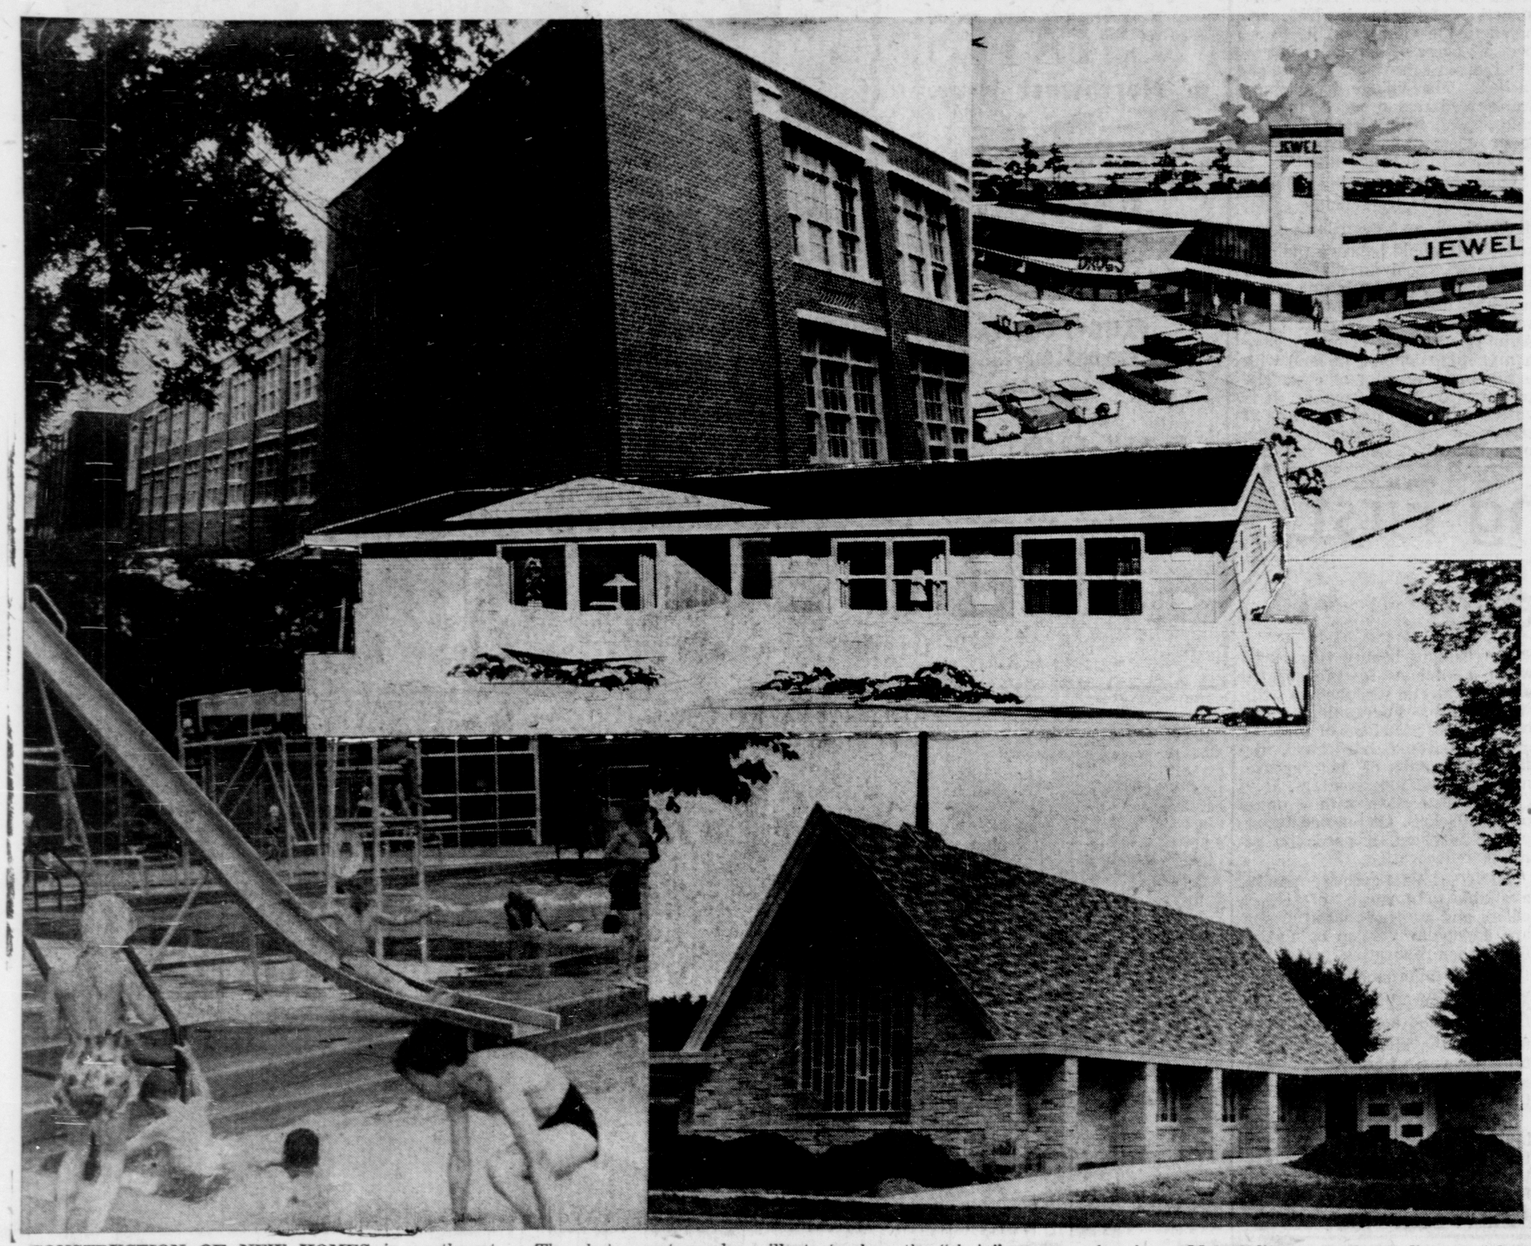
CHICAGO LOOKS NORTHWEST



CONSTRUCTION OF NEW HOMES in northwest suburbs set off a chain reaction of community-wide construction to keep pace with expanded populations. The photo montage above illustrates how the "chain" operates: new homes create needs for new shopping centers, new schools, new parks and playgrounds, and new churches. Metropolitan experts predict an "almost unlimited" growth potential for the future in northwest Cook and north Du Page counties.

Spectacular Growth Is Forecast for Suburbs

The eyes of Chicagoland are upon us.

Home seekers, realtors, builders, merchants, and industrialists—all are looking in ever increasing numbers toward Chicago's dynamic northwest suburbs as an ideal location for homes and business.

POST WAR expansion in northwest Cook and north DuPage counties has been both dramatic and colorful. More than 100,000 persons now reside in an area which has consistently established building records for the past 7 years.

Within 10 years, these communities will reach 200,000 population and the quarter million mark a near certainty by 1972.

The exodus to suburbia seems unending.

New communities spring up almost overnight.

Towns now scarcely more than a gas pump and beer sign may soon be sprawling residential developments.

POTENTIAL FOR growth in the northwest area is almost unlimited in scope. For example Arlington high school district alone encompasses an area equal in size to the city of St. Louis.

The clamor and crash of new construction is a familiar sound to these suburbanites. Since World War II, Arlington Heights has tripled and Palatine doubled in population. Mount Prospect's population was doubled in 3 years and is now 3 times greater than in 1951.

Wheeling—until 2 years ago, a sleepy roadhouse village—has jumped from 900 persons to nearly 5,000 today. In 5 years, Rolling Meadows has sprung from barren prairie into a city of more than 8,000 persons. And by 1962 the new village of Elk Grove should be larger than Arlington Heights is today.

BUILDING PROGRESS in north DuPage county has set fantastic new records—since 1949, the area has had 8,782 new homes valued at $70 million. Construction in 1956 was ahead of 1955 by 55 per cent.

Construction in Bensenville during 1956 hit a new record of $3.6 million in valuation, bettering the 1954 record by nearly $600,000.

And the nation's largest home builder—Centex Construction co. of Dallas, Tex. has been lured to northwest suburbs by the promise of an unlimited home market. Elk Grove Village, with an initial 6,000 homes, will be the midwest's biggest single community development.

THE OUTLOOK is even brighter with a growing scarcity of vacant land on the north shore and in western suburbs. South Cook county is slated for heavy industry and low-cost housing.

Thus, northwest suburbs and its environs emerge as the most desirable area for medium and higher price housing as well as light industrial development.

Playing vital roles in this growth potential are toll roads, expressways, and O'Hare International Airport. They will attract home seekers as well as desirable manufacturing to the area.

Traditional hostility toward industry in suburbs is falling off as tax rates nudge $5 per $100 valuation and $1,000 tax bills no longer excite loud gasps.

Two new communities — Winston Park in Palatine and Elk Grove Village—have set aside special areas for industry. The ICC has already approved a Chicago and North Western railway spur into Elk Grove.

GROWTH IS ALSO accelerated by the development of toll roads and expressways, as witnessed by New York, Los Angeles, and Edens Expressway in Chicago.

Northwest communities can expect fresh waves of homeseekers, workers and shoppers in 1960 when the Northern Illinois toll road brings new population shifts.

From semi-rural country towns into vast suburban cities—this is the spectacular transition which is carving a new suburbia and a new way of life into the changing landscape of Chicagoland's fastest-growing territory.

Spectacle of Progress

Ordinarily, there is little romance in the brick and mortar of home construction. But residents of Chicago's northwest suburbs have for 12 years witnessed one of the most romantic and stupendous spectacles of progress in the history of mid-America.

What is more romantic than love, marriage and the founding of a home—a home which becomes a basic part of a new community which grows and grows until it comprises thousands of homes, industries giving employment to many, stores supplying every need, churches, schools, libraries, institutions for thrift and home ownership and every other feature of the American way of life?

To those who have watched this process of community development through the post - war years, there has come a deep realization that the growth of northwest suburbs represents a great human achievement.

This is the romance to which Paddock Publications dedicates its first Summer Home Festival edition.

Supervising preparation of the edition were Bob Paddock, advertising director; Charles Hayes, managing editor; and Tom Brennan, associate editor of Paddock Publications. Assisting with organization of editorial matter were Bob Buchanan, news editor of Palatine Enterprise; Helene Bristol, news editor of Rolling Meadows Herald; and Carol Bunting, staff writer.

From Dozing Northwest Suburbs:

Mixed Welcome for Sanitary District

Dozing northwest suburbia awoke one frosty morning last November to discover it had been occupied overnight by the legions of the Metropolitan Sanitary district of Chicago.

To several of the communities the Sanitary district appeared as a liberator, freeing them from the costly task of coping with sewage disposal problems. Thus Palatine and Wheeling, 2 of the villages annexed as a result of a Nov. 6 referendum, quickly came to terms with the district.

TO OTHER communities the annexation election resembled a dark plot by a super-authority to extend its power. Arlington Heights and Barrington both maintain they have treatment plants which can serve adequately for years and at much less cost to local residents.

The attempts of the two to withdraw from the Sanitary district have had varying success.

Late in the last session of the legislature, a bill was passed enabling communities on the fringe of Cook county to pull out of the district upon a favorable vote by townspeople. Barrington, Bartlett, a portion of Elgin lying in Cook county and perhaps other areas are expected to take advantage of this act.

HOWEVER, THE Sanitary district is determined that Arlington Heights shall not escape. A bill that would have permitted this was squelched by the Springfield legislators. Another Arlington weapon, a lawsuit testing the constitutionality of the annexation, looks more promising.

Faced with the suit, the district has retreated from its previous attitude toward Arlington. The district now finds it will be able to reimburse the village for loss of the village treatment plant.

The district is willing to pay the village something to relieve local taxpayers of the $600,000 debt on the plant, slated to become a white elephant if annexation goes through. Provided the village and the district can agree on the amount of compensation, Arlington Heights will remain in the district.

MT. PROSPECT, taken into the district a number of years ago, is tilting with the Sanitary trustees over another issue. The district proposes to sell revenue bonds to remodel the village's antiquated sewer system. The catch here is that Mt. Prospectites would bear the brunt of the cost. Other newly - annexed suburbs will watch the outcome of the dispute carefully.

Sewage disposal, it seems, can hold its own as one of the causes of growing pains in booming northwest suburbia.

Hodgepodge in New Suburbia

How Planners Seek 'Order'

In an office on the 17th floor of a Loop building, a group of men in shirtsleeves is making plans to partition off suburban Cook county's "unfinished attic."

A score of years or so ago it seemed as if the attic wouldn't be needed for decades. But that was before the Chicago household started to grow at an astounding rate.

First of all, the kids cramped in tiny downstairs bedrooms wanted roomier quarters upstairs. Then cousins-twice-removed came to live in the attic, jostled right up against a workshop Dad had fixed up, while in another corner little sister decided she'd start a trading post where the neighborhood young'uns could swap matchbook covers.

ALL IN ALL, the attic showed signs of becoming a hodgepodge of squabbling relatives, each claiming the other was interfering with his right to live, work or exchange goods in peace.

Multiply the dimensions of that attic a few thousand times and you have something approximating the current zoning situation in the 450 square miles of unincorporated Cook county.

For this reason, the top governing body of the county—the 15-member board of commissioners—has hired a planning agency to try to bring some order into the present chaos and draft a plan for more orderly development in the future.

THE WHOLE concept of zoning—the idea that government ought to take an active role in sorting out and keeping separate the areas used for homes, industries and business—is relatively new to Cook county.

A brochure describing the aims of the latest rezoning effort relates the background of zoning in the county:

"The present Cook county zoning ordinance was drafted in 1940 under difficult circumstances. The nation was mobilizing, and the Chicago area was becoming the major arsenal in the production of war equipment and material.

"Existing industries were expanding and many new ones being constructed to meet ever increasing demands . . . Orderly growth and development, according to a plan, and protection of existing properties from adverse influences were not then matters of prime concern . . . In spite of all this, the 1940 ordinance performed an essential function and met with moderate success.

"Today, however, it is obsolete."

THE PLANNING firm of Harry F. Chaddick Associates several months ago began work on the tremendous task of rezoning the 450 square miles in the county beyond the limits of incorporated municipalities.

More than a year will be required before the results of this work will be made known, according to George H. Kraneberg, technical director of the 11-man staff.

One of the biggest chunks of preliminary work involves a foot-by-foot survey to determine what use is being made of each parcel of land in the 30 townships included in the study.

ONCE LAND USE MAPS are drawn the zoning experts can begin to analyze present and future needs for industry, homes and businesses. At this stage, the plans of literally hundreds of governmental units for development of highways, schools, parks and utilities must be considered.

During the latter half of next year, the planners will unveil their designs for a 1970-style suburban Cook county. Public hearings will be scheduled in each township at which villages and local residents can air their views.

Judging by the intensity of local feeling aroused by rezoning requests in northwest Cook county in recent years, Chaddick's proposals will become the subject of cinder-hot controversy.

If past practices are a reliable guide of what's to come, petitions from objectors will be stacked to the ceiling in the storerooms of the county building.

Modernized Porch Adds Extra Room

There's a lot of comfort in an old-fashioned porch, especially if it's screened for summer and glazed for winter. A bit of modernization, however, will give a porch the facelifting it needs for functional living—a place to sew, a hobby area, a spot for TV or hi-fi, and books and magazines where they're handy.

For such modernization, many builders are recommending Masonite hardboards because they are economical, long-wearing and easy to maintain. They include versatile "Peg-Board" panels and fixtures which are so handy for refreshment shelves, books and magazines, not to mention hobby displays.

A plan has been prepared for folks who would like to "do something" about their porches. It's full of ideas that will make any porch a haven of rest or a beehive of activity, depending on who's present and who wants what. For a free copy, address a postal card to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting plan No. AE-275.

Prime-Coated Boards Save Builder Time

The home owner who does his own fixing up wants to save not only money but his own time. That's why he is likely to buy materials that both serve his purpose and save him time.

An example of a time-saving material that is growing in popularity is the line of prime-coated Masonite hardboards. Designed as time-savers, they also assure top-quality finishes of paint or enamel.

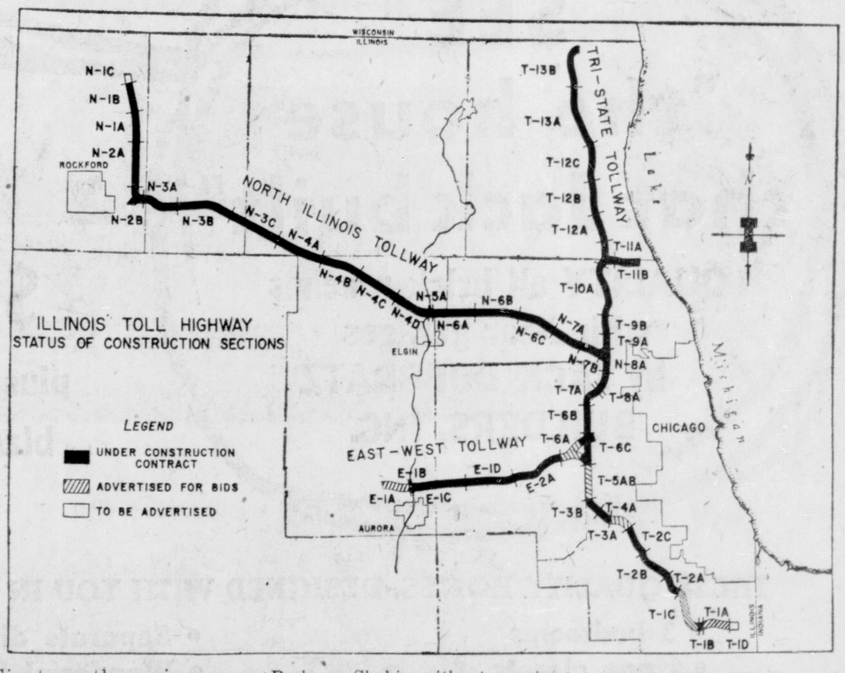
PRIME-COATED Masonite also eliminates one-third to one-half the work of applying the finish coat to the surface, home craftsmen report. Any Presdwood product with a smooth surface, including both interior and exterior types, is available with the scientifically-applied, smooth, dense primer coat, sealed on at the factory.

Prime-coated hardboard has many applications in homes and offices. Some examples are gable ends, canopies, displays, porch ceilings, signs, soffits, partitions and built-ins.

Expressways, Toll Roads Vital to Suburban Growth



Giant earth-moving monsters, gouging and cutting their way across miles of fertile farm acres, are creating vital new arteries of transportation for northwest Cook county.

By 1960 you'll probably be able to zip Loopward in your Boulevard 8 in about 30 minutes, or approximately half the time it now takes if you run at least a couple of yellow lights.

OR IF YOU choose to go north there will be broad bands of concrete to carry you to Milwaukee or Kenosha, by-passing one-street villages which slow your pace to a crawl.

Perhaps you're employed in another suburb in the north or west of Chicago and will be able to reach your job in Franklin Park or Skokie without pausing for a single traffic light.

Toll highways, free expressways and improved secondary roads under construction or promised for the northwest area add to a promising outlook in the not-too-distant future for local motorists.

FOR THOSE who will drive some distance, the projected highways will offer higher speed limits and no stop-and-start traffic. And for the housewife who merely gets in the car to go across town to visit a friend, never nearing one of the engineer's dream highways, there will also be benefits.

With through traffic preferring the expressways, local traffic will be much less congested.

Wouldn't it be a pleasure to drive Rte. 83 without being shaken by the roar and dust of passing oil road-freighters?

The population explosion into the northwest suburbs has overburdened the area's narrow 2-lane roads and made Rand rd., only 4-lane highway in the area, into one of Illinois' worst death traps before more police vigilance cut the slaughter.

WHILE COMPLETION of toll highways will take much traffic off local streets, there will still be need for improving secondary roads. State and county governments are pouring much money into expressway construction. But the updating of heavily-traveled arterials such as Central rd., between Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect, has lagged.

To select the worst example, widening of the section of Central rd. mentioned has been promised for 3 years without so much as a thimbleful of dirt lifted.

On the other hand, it might be pointed out, the widening of Wilke rd. between Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows was announced, a contract let and the job finished in little more time than is required for a 7-furlong race at Arlington Park.

Highway department officials, it seems, can get things done quickly when they've a mind to.

Country Club Project Hailed In Mt. Prospect

In its Country Club Park subdivision, north Mt. Prospect golf course, Alfini Construction company has built 2, 3, 4 and 5 bedroom homes.

More than 20 different floor plans of ranches and bi-levels have been used, with several elevations of each, in building the 110 homes.

Alfini specializes in bi-levels and was one of the originators of this type of construction in the Chicago area.

HAVING BEEN in the construction business for an extended period of years, quality has come to be the by-word in the company and every effort is made to provide the home buyer with a home investment, not a home of gadgets.

Always leaders in home insulation, Alfini Construction company has recently changed to Owens-Corning Fiberglas "comfort engineering" which, among other things, requires 3 inches of fiberglas insulation in the exterior walls and 6 inches in the ceilings!

Quality is stressed with face brick veneer construction, ceramic tile baths, plastered walls, birch kitchen cabinets, wood windows, oak floors and extensive use of thermopane glass.

A self-imposed rule which again emphasizes the investment side of a home is the design and construction of every house in the subdivision with an attached garage, either 1 or 2 car. This 1 feature alone has the effect of transforming the back yard areas into 1 park-like expanse.

SPEAKING OF parks, few residents realize that Alfini Construction company, in 1953, donated to the village of Mt. Prospect 5.2 acres of land adjacent to the Lincoln school—no strings attached. The village has since transferred this property to Lincoln school, which is one of the main reasons Lincoln can now be expanded to a junior high!

Incidently, with all the hullabaloo rampant about builders donating land and contributing to schools, it would behoove the citizens and school boards of Mt. Prospect, and neighboring communities, to examine the Lincoln school park area. In this case, Alfini Construction company gave a maximum amount of land with a minimum amount of cost. The park has no street frontage. It is ringed with the back yards of 27 homes of the subdivision which back up to it. (RE

Revamping First For Kitchens

The kitchen, as Mother's main workshop and the hub of daily family living, is likely to get top priority in the scheduling of home improvements.

As much time as she and the rest of the family spend in and near the kitchen, Mother can make a strong case for improving its function and appearance. An entirely new kitchen may result in the end.

THE STARTING point for renovating a kitchen may be the need or desire for modern appliances which permit spending more time for better living and less time at drudgery. Or providing cabinet space that is roomier, better organized or handier may spur a remodeling project.

A fresh appearance may be the most pressing reason for kitchen renewal. A bright, cheerful looking room can lift the working morale of the homemaker, and provide a setting enjoyable to the whole family. Just the opposite effects can result when walls and ceiling show the toll of hard kitchen usage.

Long-lasting beauty is assured when a kitchen is redecorated with a material designed to withstand abuse. For example, the baked plastic surface of Marlite, a pre-decorated hardboard, defies the assaults of hot grease, moisture and foot spatters. It is easily wiped clean with a damp or sudsy cloth. Undimmed by repeated washing, it needs no periodic redecorating.

TONGUE-AND-groove planks, available in a range of choice colors and authentic wood grains, are a popular version of Marlite for kitchen renovating.

Another approach leading to kitchen renewal is to alter the floor plan and arrangement so as to make the kitchen more of a family room, where work, eating and leisure activity overlap, as they did in an earlier day.

Any project that makes the kitchen look better or serve better will justify its priority through rewards of better living for the whole family, along with Mother. (RE

Grouping Aimed At Newlyweds

The accent is on youth in a new coordinated group of home furnishings. Although designed specifically with "young marrieds" in mind, it will suit anyone who is furnishing a home and is young at heart.

Nine manufacturers as a group cooperated to contribute bedroom, living and dining room furniture and such accent pieces as occasional tables and chairs, lamps, and rugs. Designed for interchangeability and coordination without regimentation, the group offers style and quality at a modest price.

THE VERSATILITY of the pieces in the group permits custom arrangements for the young home-maker hankering for custom made furniture—at budget prices.

Outstanding pieces in the line include hanging wall units which are designed to grow "with the budget." A variety of drawer, cabinet and shelf units can be attached to wall support units in almost any arrangement. The homemaker can purchase the number which will fit her present wall space and, when she moves to larger quarters, can add more units.

Mobile wrought iron pieces for indoor and outdoor living are part of the group. Brilliant decorator colors accent wrought iron bucket chairs on wheels, table benches and tables which are adaptable to the living room or patio.

BEDROOM pieces include lineup storage units. For instance, a 30-inch chest can be aligned with a double dresser to look like a triple dresser. A variety of bed headboard styles are offered, including a glamour-size headboard all of 80 inches wide with natural cane panels. Unusual brass drawer pulls distinguish the chests, which are quite roomy.

The young homemaker can furnish her home with pieces from this group and know that her furniture is well coordinated. She can choose the pieces which will fit her space. Insure Your Mortgage, Life in a Single Policy

When you obtain a mortgage, the lender will require that the home be insured against fire up to 80% of the value of the house. That's for his protection and yours.

But for your own protection, the editors of New Home Guide magazine suggest, you'll probably want additional protection in the form of extended coverage, to cover loss from windstorm, hail, explosion, smoke, riot, civil commotion, vehicles, and aircraft. If your house does not have a lightning protection system, there is the added expense of that insurance coverage.

YOU MIGHT also want coverage against damage suits in personal liability insurance. Or, you could lump all these extensions of insurance under a blanket policy which is available today.

In addition, you might want to consider another type of insurance — which doesn't protect against damage, but against your inability to complete the mortgage payments. This is a form of coverage which, New Homes Guide magazine editors say, merits study by the prospective homeowner because it is less known than the others. It's called mortgage insurance.

THE ODDS on your needing it are these:

If you're 30 and get an 25-year mortgage, there's 1 chance in 7 that you won't live to pay off the mortgage. If you're 35, the chances are 1 out of 5. The same odds prevail if you contract for a 20-year mortgage at 40, and they drop to 1 out of 4 if you're 45.

One way of protecting the family against the mortgage debt is by ordinary term life insurance, covering the amount of the mortgage over the period of the mortgage.

Another way is the mortgage-life insurance package, with a plan that basically provides:

For a 10-25-year mortgage up to a maximum of $25,000.

CANCELLATION of the unpaid balance of the mortgage if the owner dies, plus return of an amount which can equal all payments made to reduce the principal.

No bonus payments or commissions for obtaining the mortgage money.

Establishment of a fund which may be borrowed against for emergency needs, or used to pay off the mortgage in advance of its due date.

ESTABLISHMENT of an insurance program which may be continued for straight protection after the mortgage has been paid off.

And, since the program combines both a mortgage loan and the life insurance which makes the loan a better risk, the mortgage rates sometimes are lower than the same money can be obtained for in conventional mortgages. (RE

Carpeting Reveals New Hues

Carpeting can be the basis of your decorating scheme. Recent technological advances — new dyes, man-made fibers, new ways of handling the favorite perennial wool — have opened the way to greater freedom in color and texture.

You can choose a carpet in almost any color of the rainbow and be sure that its beauty will last. Carpets can have the handloomed or home-spun look, and can be loosely or tightly constructed. They almost look handmade, but machines did all of the work. (RE

Suburban 'Boom' Creates Challenge for Merchants

The suburban "boom" has put business men in the same fix as a motorist trying to drive a modern toll road in a 1926 Pierce-Arrow.

Suburbs are trying to serve a 1957 shopping community with facilities that, in many instances, were inadequate even before the post war population influx.

A SERIOUS shortage in adequate parking space . . . too-narrow streets choked with traffic . . . older buildings showing signs of decay and deterioration . . . the threat of sleek shopping centers sprouting on the perimeter of established communities—these are some of the problems facing merchants in central business districts.

Their biggest handicap in keeping pace with population increases is the youth of the suburbs themselves. Downtown shopping areas can't expand beyond original limits because of a lack in adjacent area business suitable to raze for development.

The modern shopping center, detached from congested business districts, has attempted to supply an answer.

AMONG THE FIRST to envision the shopping potential in the new Auto Age were Carlton A. Smith and Allen Dawson, originators of Prospect Heights shopping center at McDonald and Elmhurst rds.

When opened in 1939, it was the first "drive-in" shopping center in Illinois with off-street parking accomodations.

Since 1955, shopping centers have sprung up in Rolling Meadows, Wheeling, and the Westgate section of Arlington Heights.

CONSTRUCTION IS scheduled to start next spring on a shopping center for Hoffman Estates, and work will begin within 3 years on a 60-acre shopping center at Rohlwing rd. and Northwest hwy., Palatine.

Established business districts aren't ignoring the competition for consumer dollars, however.

Arlington Heights has made a unique approach to the problem of revitalizing its business district with construction of 2 shopping centers with off-street parking. The Elms and Dunton Court combine the advantages of a central location with the convenience of one-step shopping and free parking.

IN AN ATTEMPT to save Mount Prospect's business district from succumbing to outlying shopping centers, the chamber of commerce is currently studying a plan to completely modernize its main business section. Merchants are cooperating with village planners in incorporating the shopping center concept in much the same manner as the Elms and Dunton Court have done in Arlington Heights.

Gone are the days when country town storekeepers and tradesmen had a "seller's market." With the advent of the shopping center, the popularization of the automobile, and the switch to suburban living, the "buyer" has retrieved his hey-day. (REF

Select Area For Comfort 'Engineering'

Chicago has been selected 1 of 19 major cities in which Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation, with local builders, is sponsoring a program to show home owners how to decrease heating and cooling units while increasing comfort of occupants.

This national "comfort engineering" program is now under way in Chicago, according to James E. Higgins, local branch manager of Owens-Corning.

OWENS-CORNING says a test program it has conducted continuously since October, 1955, indicates savings in heating and cooling costs of more than 25 per cent for homes "comfort engineered" when compared with like dwellings constructed to meet only FHA minimum property requirements.

The company predicts savings averaging $39.72 a year in heating and cooling costs for Chicago area homes.

Chicago was chosen for the program because it is a representative city in the middle U.S. zone.

Texan Emerges as 'Giant' Among Area Home Builders

A wiry, 5-foot 6-inch Texan, aptly named Tom Lively, stands out among northwest area home builders both for the size and the scope of his newest undertaking, Elk Grove Village.

Start of construction of the fabulous project in May drew nationwide attention for it came at a time when the housing boom, predicted many observers, had lost its momentum.

JUST TO SHOW gloom-and-doom boys how wrong they were, Lively, 37, sold 324 homes during the first weekend after model homes opened.

Announced last spring as a $175-million project, Elk Grove Village as planned will be the largest 1-builder community in northwest Cook county and in the Chicago area.

The first 2 units of homes are rising in the area bounded by Higgins rd., Arlington Heights rd., Tonne rd. and Oakton st. They are due for completion early next year.

DEVELOPMENT will proceed south from Oakton st., eventually to reach nearly to Devon ave. Subdivision plans call for provision for park, school and shopping areas, with the walls of the first school on Oakton now going up.

When the assembly line hits full production, 6 homes will be finished daily. Schedules aim at completion of 6,000 homes within 5 years but long-range plans may boost that figure by thousands.

Elk Grove Village is one of the few northwest developments designed to become a fully integrated town. Areas are being set aside for industry to relieve one of the bugaboos of new "dormitory" suburbs—lack of an industrial tax base to shoulder some of the financial burden.

LIVELY'S CENTEX Construction co. took another step to make things easier on the young family's pocketbook. The builder has donated $175,000 to Elk Grove school district 59 to pay for every last brick in the village's first schoolhouse. More land and money are promised later.

Centex homes contain numerous features seldom found in their price range, from $17,950 to $19,950. Living rooms open onto a concrete patio at the rear of the house, television antennas are built-in and all units will have attached garages. Ranch homes in the first section will all contain 3 bedrooms, be of brick veneer and frame construction, and have from 1,200 to 1,400 square feet of living area.

Architect for the homes is A. J. Del Bianco of Chicago.

According to one real estate veteran, the selling price of the homes compares favorably with that of other large scale builders. Purchases of tremendous quantities of supplies, use of pre-cut materials and lower land costs than for some other subdivisions are all factors in holding down prices.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE will have been incorporated as a municipality for 1 year by the time the first Centex home is occupied. The Texas-owned giant of the building industry foresook the usual practice of building homes and then letting its new residents incorporate if they felt the need.

A number of reasons for incorporation could be cited but perhaps the most important had to do with zoning. Only by obtaining the legal powers of a village government could zoning control be exercised over the fringe areas outside the Centex development.

For example, the village has successfully prevented a second-hand tire storage yard from locating about a mile beyond its borders.

CHARLES A. Hodlmair, a Des Plaines real estate operator, spent most of 2 years acquiring the land for Centex. He then moved into a farmhouse on Arlington Heights rd. and became the town's first mayor.

Another village official, Leonard Scharringhausen, is one old-timer who stuck around to help direct the destiny of the new community. Most other farmers, descendants of the sturdy Yankees and German settlers of 100 years ago, moved into town or bought farms west of the Fox river.

The sellers had little choice, for truck and general farming became increasingly unprofitable with the change of the area from rural to urban. Then to many, high land prices meant they could retire after lifetimes of arduous labor.

Thus, after a century as a close-knit farming neighborhood, Elk Grove is being catapulted into the era of the backyard barbecue and the cul-de-sac. (RE

'Operation Face Lift' Is Planned for Older Houses

With "Operation Home Improvement" continuing into 1957 on an accelerated basis, the new year should see a marked increase in exterior modernization projects, accoding to Chester C. Kelsey, manager of the Asbestos-Cement Products Association.

"Much progress was made during the first year of OHI, the nationwinde 'fix-up' drive," Mr. Kelsey reported, "Even greater results can be expected in 1957. Many of the bigger projects inspired by the drive take time and planning to get under way. More and more of the big jobs will be started in coming months."

AMONG THE bigger projects, he said, are exterior modernization undertakings. These often call for re-siding, re-roofing and structural changes to eliminate outmoded features.

Home remodelers of 1957, Mr. Kelsey said, will find asbestos-cement siding available in many new colors, textures and unit sizes. Asbestos siding for many years has been the most popular material for rejuvenating the outer walls of old houses. It also is widely used in new construction.

"Never before has the home modernizer been able to choose from such a wide variety of asbestos siding materials," he said "For those who prefer a conventional effect, there are long, narrow units which can be applied in clapboard fashion. This style is particularly adapted to the long, rangy type of house and it is filling a long-felt need. The 12-by-24-inch siding shingle, the most familiar size, continues in demand. And to complete the selection there are oversize units which meet many architectural requirements.

TWO FACTORS have combined to make asbestos-sided houses more attractive than ever before, according to Mr. Kelsey. One has been restyling of the shingles themselves. They now come in a wide range of beautiful new decorator colors and with a variety of interesting surface textures. The second factor has been the introduction of new application methods which accentuate the shadow lines between horizontal courses.

Asbestos sidings now being offered the public, Mr. Kelsey said, are without doubt the most beautiful ever carried by dealers. At the same time, he declared, they retain all the characteristics which earned for them their wide acceptance — low cost, weather resistance, durability and incombustibility. (RE

Dear Mr. Paddock:

I think you will be interested to know that a great percentage of our residential sales made since the incorporation of our new organization March 12, 1957 have been due to direct response to display advertising in your papers each week.

I can remember back about fifteen years when your paper was used principally to let the people know that we were in business, but the Chicago Metropolitan Papers were relied upon to bring us buyers. This is no longer true.

More buyers are responding to our ads in your newspapers than from ads in the Chicago papers.

Very truly yours,

Rolling Meadows: Pioneer Among Area Developments

Rolling Meadows may not be a typical "frontier town" of the Old West, but the same eager spirit of newness, achievement and adventure prevails in this "pioneer" subdivision development in northwest Cook County.

The first community planned for mass construction, Rolling Meadows has outgrown even the most optimistic dreams of its creator, Kimball Hill.

STILL GROWING, the city boasts a population of 8,400 with more than 2,100 homes. A young and enthusiastic city government guides its destiny; an efficient, honest and capable police department guards its safety; a "model" building code, zoning ordinance and master plan protect its future.

The success of the "experiment" by Kimball Hill & Associates is attested by the many builders who have followed the pattern set up in Rolling Meadows.

Planned as a residential community for families with children, Rolling Meadows has curved, paved streets with curbs and sidewalks. Streets are curved to cut traffic speed. Every home has a driveway to avoid on-street parking as a hazard to children. Broad city parkways line each street, with trees provided before each home by the builder.

LOTS HAVE A minimum frontage of 60 feet. Sizes vary from a minimum of 7,500 square feet, but in the majority of Rolling Meadows sections the minimum averages more than 10,000 square feet. Fences are few, and the back yard areas look more like parks than individual cut-up postage stamp yards.

True to the forward-looking planning which went into the formation of Rolling Meadows, Kimball Hill was the first builder in the northwest area to donate money to the school district for the extra burden of school buildings needed to serve the many families his development brought to the community.

Hill voluntarily set aside $200 per home for school construction —then built the school buildings himself on a "cost" basis to get the most "school for the money."

Rolling Meadows now has a modern 32-room school with a combination gymnasium-auditorium, library, office and various special rooms. The esteem of the school district is reflected in the school's name—Kimball Hill.

A second 12-room school will open in the fall. The second school boasts the largest gymnasium-auditorium in the Palatine school district. A second section of the school to provide junior-high facilities will be started this year.

PLANNING for Rolling Meadows included religious as well as educational facilities. Sites for churches were set aside, with concessions freely given to enable the establishment of church groups.

A thriving Community church is now in the first phase of a building program, after 3 years of operation in a converted Barn donated to their use by Hill Homes.

Trinity Lutheran church (Missouri synod) dedicated its church structure last year, and a new Lutheran church is nearing completion on the city outskirts.

The Meadows Gospel church (Baptist) holds services in Kimball Hill school.

Within the past 2 weeks a new Catholic parish of Rolling Meadows has been established, with almost 40 acres of land presently held by the Catholic archdiocese for development.

CREATING A community from corn fields necessitated planning for material needs, too. A new shopping center serves the needs of the community and the surrounding area as well. Parking facilities for 1,300 cars (without meters) answer the congested driving conditions found in other localities. The shopping center has 13 stores and plans call for 8 more.

One of the most frequent criticisms of mass-development housing—the monotony and sameness of the houses—was eliminated as much as possible by the professional architects and planners in offering a large variety of front elevations and roof styles.

The ingenuity of community residents themselves, however, accounts for the pleasant and varied appearance of Rolling Meadows today.

Older sections of the community show a startling variance in scene with landscaping, building additions, trim, paint and structural changes all adding to the differences in an over-all pleasing charm.

At least Rolling Meadows will never have the problem of a staid Victorian mansion towering over an ultra-modern 1-story home set less than 5 feet away on the next lot.

THE SPIRIT of accomplishment by Rolling Meadows residents extends beyond home lot lines.

Community spirit ranges high, divided between church, school and civic work. In less than 3 years organizations such as the Junior Womans club, Lions, Jaycees, Registered Nurses' association, American Legion and C.A.-Y.O. (Civic and Youth organization) have set outstanding records of achievement.

Youth groups, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Little League and teen clubs have fantastic growth in membership — and equally high standards of leadership and development.

Has the "pioneer" spirit started to burn out after 3 years? Hardly! A new volunteer fire department and park district will be accomplishments this year. A huge city "industrial park" has been created, with ground-breaking for first new plants expected this year, too. And home building continues, and continues, and continues.

New families quickly "catch the frontier-spirit infection" and the planners of Rolling Meadows continue to be amazed at the success of their own brain-child.

St. Paul Assets At a Record High

Assets of St. Paul Federal Savings and Loan association of Chicago were at a record $76,773,-399 June 30, reflecting a sustained rise from assets of $68,260,-189 on the same date last year and $72,322,538 at the end of 1956.

Frank P. Kosmach, president, reported a corresponding rise in savings, from $57,025,631 a year ago to $60,910,676 last December 31, and to $65,713,008 June 30, 1957.

Home lending activity increased to a total of $64,165,309 first mortgage loans outstanding at mid-year 1957, as against $61,-027,552 at the end of 1956 and $57,122,233 June 30, 1956.

Door Panels Add Unity To Decorating

One of the newest ways to give a room more interest and individuality in its decorating scheme is to match picture frames with the panels of panel doors.

Many doors of ponderosa pine come with unusual and distinctive panels in modern and traditional styles. "Stealing" the shapes of these panels and reproducing them in picture frames offer two important advantages in decorating. They are:

1. Color. Both the door and picture frames can be painted the same color, or stained in warm natural wood finishes.

2. Unity. Each time the shape and color of a door panel is picked up by a picture frame, that section of the room is related to other parts of the room where the panel shape and color appear. (RE

Mt. Prospect Has New 'Shangri-La'

George O'Day's description of his new subdivision "Hiawatha Trail" is Shangri-La in Mt. Prospect. Asked to explain, he told us that his conception of Shangri-La is a tucked-away piece of heaven—a retreat — beautiful, peaceful and private; a Utopia of happiness, convenience and fulfillment. Such he says, is the perfect description of Hiawatha Trail.

It's small — there are only 38 homesites there. It's private — no through streets —you have to LOOK for it to find it. It's beautiful — rolling land, curving streets, with a backdrop of graceful willows and a picturesque stream.

It's convenient—just 5 blocks straight south of the depot and town. There's a foot bridge to be installed for quick and safe access to the pool and Lions school.

There is no monotonous similarity of homes—this is a custom home subdivision, not the speculative mass production type. Such earthy, but necessary things, as the underground improvements, are right, too.

The sewer situation there couldn't be any better — there'll be no flooded basements in Hiawatha Trail — the best engineers and contractors were retained to make sure of perfection.

"Drive down and see it," George says. Take either Hiawatha Trail or Lonnquist blvd. east from 83—he thinks you'll love it! O'Day Realty, 66 E. Northwest hwy., Mt. Prospect. CLearbrook 3-1101.

Winston Park Annexation Largest in Area History

The 755-acre Winston Park annexation to Palatine last month was the largest such area ever annexed by a Chicago suburb.

The 1900 new homes to be built in the development will more than double Palatine's population within 3 years.

Under the leadership of David Muss, Winston Park-Northwest corp. plans to develop a 74-acre industrial park and a 60-acre shopping center in addition to new homes.

WINSTON WILL offer 5 types of homes ranging in price from $19,600 to $25,000. Models are now under construction on Palatine rd.

Residential lots will have 80-ft. frontage, storm and sanitary sewers, city water, and underground utilities. Street signs and lights will also be provided.

In addition, the Chicago firm has donated 2 sites to the grade school district and will pay $200 a home to help build schools to accommodate the pupil influx. The Palatine-Rolling Meadows school district votes August 3 on a $775,000 bond issue, part of which will build the initial 15-room wing of Winston Park school.

The developers have also given the park board 30 acres of land, and the village has been presented with a $90,000 water system and $20,000 for water development.

THE SHOPPING center, to include some 10 acres under roof, will gross $36 million in its first year of operation, according to Winston estimates. Located at the northeast corner of Northwest hwy. and Rohlwing rd., it is slated for 2 major department stores.

Village trustees have specified that Winston's industry must be "light and non-objectionable." No industrial construction has yet been announced.

Revenue-wise, Winston will pour some $215,000 into village coffers when the development is complete. This includes an estimated $105,000 in general taxes, $40,000 in sales tax, $35,000 in motor fuel tax revenue, and $9,000 in vehicle licenses. This will help offset the increased costs of municipal services which the area will inflict upon century-old Palatine.

ANNEXATION of Winston Park was not achieved without controversy, however. Residents along Rohlwing rd., protesting industrial and commercial developments, attended one village board meeting 100-strong as well as distributing 1,500 circulars opposing the project.

Palatine officials, explaining annexation, said it was in the best interests of the village to be in a position to exercise some control over the development.

Winston Park Northwest is located between Palatine rd., Rohlwing rd., and Wilke rd., between Palatine and Arlington Heights.

Willson & Florence Show Higher Unit Sale in 1957

Sales recorded for the 6-month period ending June 30 show a higher unit sale, according to Clarence A. Hendrickson of the office of Willson and Florence, 28 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

In his first half of 1957 report, Hendrickson noted that the firm sold 47 properties for a volume of $1,088,000, or a price of $23,149 per unit. During the same period last year the firm sold 61 properties for $1,303,730 or a price of $21,373 per unit.

THE TOTAL sales show a drop in volume compared to last year. However, the months of March and April were the largest months in 1956; but May and June were larger this year, so the normal spring buying was later this year, accounting for volume missed in the earlier spring months.

The striking thing about the activity was that it was in the sale of residential properties; the firm had very few inquiries for commercial, vacant, or subdivision properties. Each year desirable homesites in the incorporated areas are becoming increasingly less. Many individual homesite buyers desire larger grounds and are seeking country properties and estate sites.

SEVERAL OF the most recent sales made by the firm are as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goeddeke of Itasca purchased the Stadnik property, 28 N. Reuter, in Westgate.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Twilling of S. McKinley in Arlington Heights purchased the property at 1227 N. Illinois. Twilling is employed by the Chicago Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Flanigan of Kansas City recently moved into 1504 Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rumpf purchased the Scholl home at 121 W. Maple. The Rumpfs plan to move approximately August 15. Rumpf, who is employed by the Pure Oil company, is considered one of the top bridge players in the nation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hawley of Arlington Heights recently purchased the John Petrie property at 501 N. Beverly lane, Eastwood. Hawley is in the screw-machine business. The Petries are moving to their farm in McHenry county.

MR. AND MRS. John Schaff purchased the Batuk property at 1266 N. Chicago ave. Schaff is business manager of high school district 214.

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Craig have purchased the Johnstone property at 1345 N. Wilke rd. Dr. Craig has his office at 11 S. Vail.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Berry brought the Stegemen property in Prospect Heights, 211 N. Elmhurst rd. Both Mr. and Mrs. Berry are accountants.

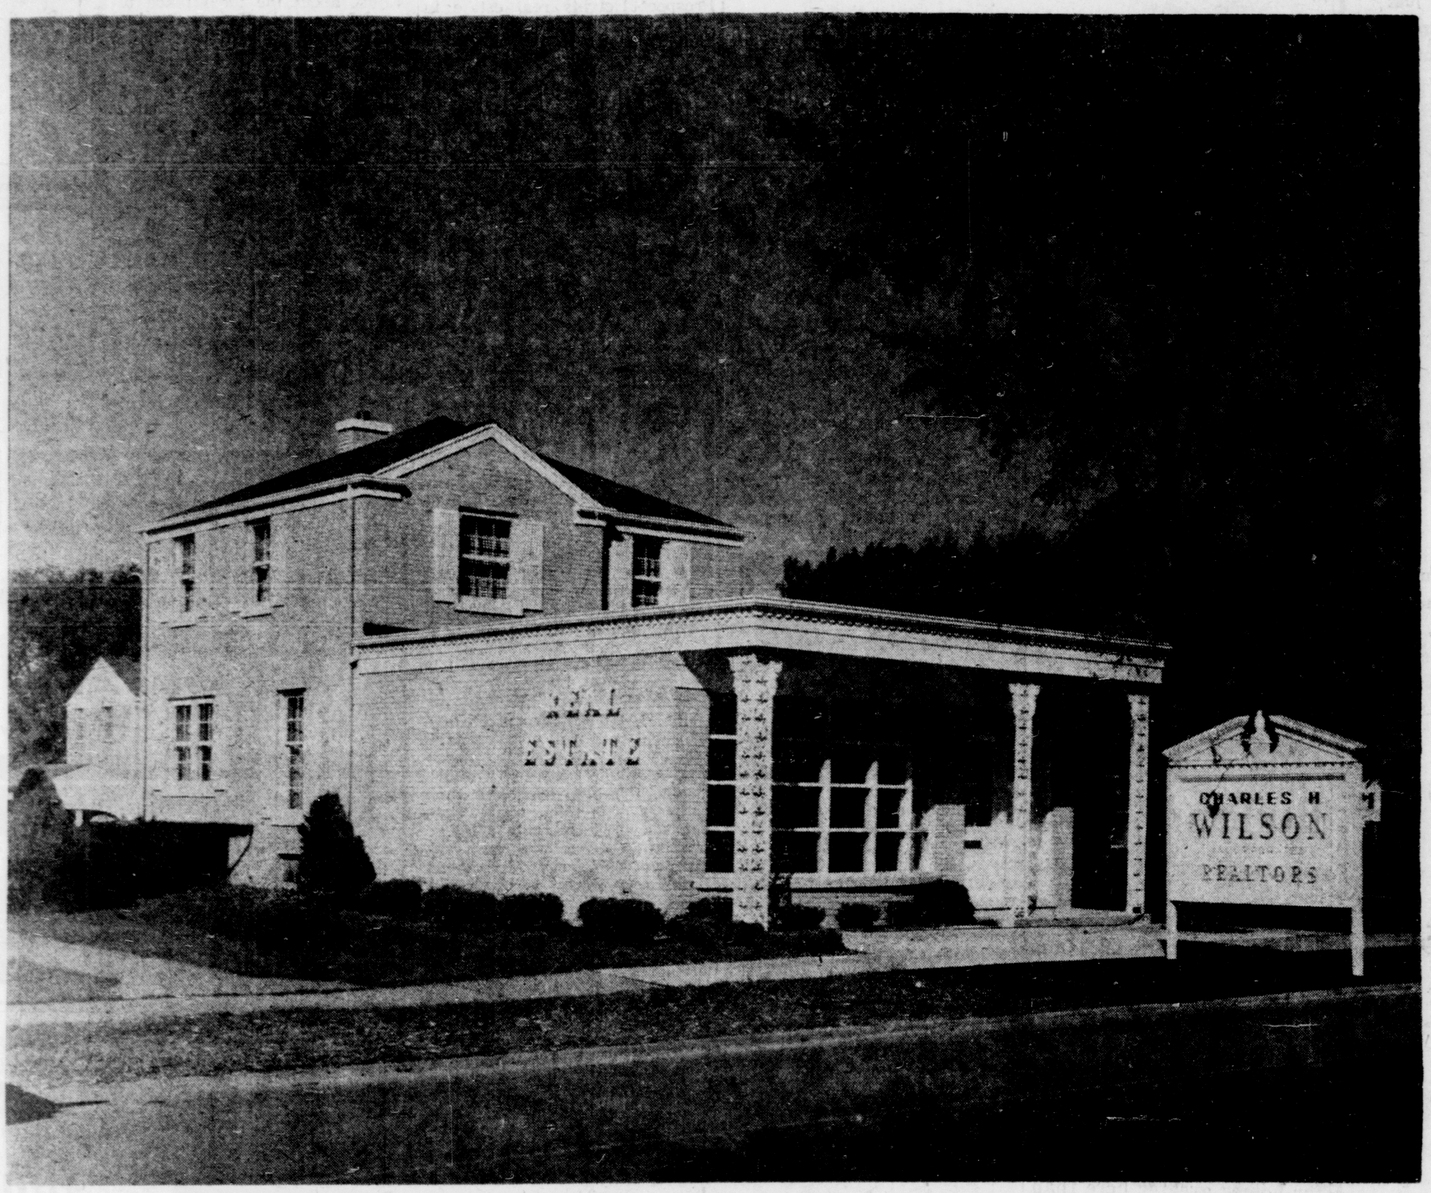
"How Sweet the Dream of Home".

. . . Thomas Moore

This dream has become a reality for so many of our friends and neighbors. They have come to us by the hundreds, from both far and near, and have not only found the homes they have desired – but have found a Realtor Service that inspires confidence.



The House of Homes

The Wilson Gallery of Homes

The Popular Wilson Gallery of Homes provides a key to several factors that have made the Charles H. Wilson Realtors one of the most successful and respected real-estate firms of suburban Chicagoland.

The Gallery suggests a spirit of service to buyer and seller that highlights features and values. It also reflects a thoroughness of approach that inspires confidence.

Here are a few of the factors that have prompted so many northwest suburban buyers and sellers to turn to Charles H. Wilson Realtors and have helped to account for an annual sales volume in excess of $4,000,000.00.

Appraisal Service

Our personnel are exceptionally qualified to place fair and accurate market values on properties. The wide experience gained through large annual sales keeps us in intimate touch with the pulse of our market. We are as reluctant to entertain offers that are seriously deflated as we are to accept inflated appraisals.

Sales Promotion

We have been alert to adopt new concepts of sales promotion to achieve buyer and seller objectives. We no longer depend, for example, in large measure upon the classified columns of newspapers. Our largest — and ever-increasing — source of potential buyers is through our system of referrals . . . a principal reason, we believe, for our annual sales record.

Financing

Practically every real-estate transaction requires financing. We have over many years established an excellent record with a number of the outstanding mortgage firms in metropolitan Chicago. Liberal and competitive loans are available to qualified buyers; we have the know-how to obtain them promptly.

Professional Competence

Each member of our staff is equipped with a sound background and has been thoroughly trained in every phase of our work. We derive deep satisfaction from our role of helping families to achieve their "dream of home." We are happy to place at their disposal our thorough knowledge of the many aspects of purchasing a home. But as professional realtors we make it a hard and fast rule "never to practice law." We retain legal counsel to draw and execute legal documents and preside in person at final closings. This is the key point in a real estate transaction; we prepare for it thoroughly by drawing accurate closing statements and assembling the many necessary papers and documents. Professional competence in these procedures and strict accounting explain the confidence that buyers and sellers so often express in our services.

Counselors . . . not just salesmen

The purchase or sale of a home is usually one of the major transactions a family makes. Selection of a home goes far beyond architecture and quality of construction. You don't just buy a home . . . you buy a neighborhood . . . a community . . . educational and recreational facilities. In fact, you buy a way of life.

We believe that the purchase or sale of a home deserves professional counseling . . . the most understanding analysis of individual requirements we can possibly make. No family needs are identical . . . therefore, we offer our services to each family as counselors, not as salesmen.

Before actual inspection of homes takes place, our staff member consults with the home seeker to determine as accurately as possible what his requirements are, what preferences he has, what his financial situation is as it relates to his purchase, and what timetable of moving he is confronted with. The purpose of this careful analysis is to direct the home seeker to the kind of home that meets all his requirements.

Staff members are in daily consultation, exchanging information that may be of value to each in accommodating their respective clients. Discussion of new listings . . . analysis of features that may be of interest to certain clients . . . counsel concerning special approaches to arrange financing — these are among the many ways in which staff teamwork at Charles H. Wilson Realtors serves the best interests of buyers and sellers.

One of the most important phases of our business is the intelligent and accurate listing of property for sale. The establishment of a fair and proper market price requires good judgment and thorough knowledge of values, locations, and current sales of comparable properties. Experience in processing sales in excess of $4 million annually accounts for our unusual success in this key phase. Such reliable consultation is at your disposal without obligation.

What to Consider When Buying New Air Conditioner

Room size is only one of the factors involved in choosing a room air conditioner that will provide complete comfort and operate satisfactorily, acording to Public Service company.

The utility's engineers point out that a ½ horsepower unit, for example, may cool an area of from 135 to 240 square feet, depending on conditions of use.

AMONG THE factors that determine a unit's space-cooling efficiency are window exposures, normal occupancy of the room, thickness of outside walls and insulation of walls and ceiling.

Because of the hot afternoon sun a room with windows facing west requires more cooling than a similar room with windows facing north. The same is true of the home or office that has lights on when the sun is sining.

The more people that occupy a room, the larger size unit is required. Of course you don't buy a room air conditioner to provide maximum comfort for an occasional houseful of guests. Normal use of a room is the consideration.

OUTSIDE AWNINGS and inside shades and draperies also may influence the size of a room air conditioner.

Proper wiring in the home, office or apartment must be taken into account when purchasing a new air conditioner, the utility's experts say.

A unit of ½ horsepower or less may be connected to an existing outlet, but caution should be used if there is a heavy lighting load, appliance or television on the same circuit. For a ¾ hp unit, rated at 1250 watts, a special 240-volt circuit is recommended.

Where installation of a room air conditioner requires new 240-volt service, customers may take advantage of Public Serivce company's "share the cost" plan for wiring modernization.

THE UTILITY shares wiring costs when improved capacity is required to serve an additional 240-volt appliance in an existing residential building of one to three dwelling units. While providing necessary wiring for the new appliance, the plan also makes it inexpensive for residential customers to bring their home wiring systems up to 100-ampere capacity.

In effect, the electric company pays for the service entrance portion of a modern three-wire installation while the customer pays for the necessary 100-ampere main switch and 240-volt circuit.

Cites Protection Of Realty Laws

Growing protection of the use of the term "Realtor" by specific state laws was cited this week by Donald D. Florence, president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, as new and authoritative recognition of the high level of professional competence designated by the term.

"ACCORDING TO the records of our National Association of Real Estate Boards, California, Illinois, Kentucky, Nevada, Texas, Washington, and the District of Columbia already have on their statute books a prohibition against the use of the term "Realtor" by brokers who are not members of NAREB," Florence said, "Moreover, some state legislatures still in session are contemplating the enactment of just such a clause."

The local real estate executive went on to explain that the state laws confining the use of the term to NAREB members are usually those setting up the conditions under which real estate brokers may be licensed. All realtors are licensed brokers, but only brokers meeting the ethical and professional standards of real estate boards are taken into membership and thus become Realtors.

"THE TERM Realtor has been registered as the trade-mark of NAREB in the U.S. Patent Office," he said, 'and the right of members of the association to its exclusive use has been confirmed by no less than 18 court decisions, including a recent ruling by a U.S. District Court in California."

State laws on the subject, usually enforced by the state real estate licensing agency, will make it easier to assure the proper use of the term, the Northwest Suburban real estate official stated.

"Instead of the real estate board taking the time and expense to bring violators to court, the state real estate commission can simply warn the offender that his continued unathorized use of the term will bring about the revocation or suspension of his license. There have been many effective instances of this type of action."

QUICKER action to prevent the improper use of the term Realtor represents protection to the public, Florence declared.

"Through experience, the public has come to have confidence in the ability and integrity of a Realtor in buying, selling, or renting real property," he went on, "and when a person turns to a broker advertising himself as a Realtor for professional purposes, the purchaser has a right to know that the broker is correctly representing himself.

If this is not the case, it is a clear case of fraud. It is in recognition of this more and more states are policing the use of the term."

Homes Cost More Here: Builders

Home prices are higher in the Chicago area than anywhere else in the U.S., according to 2 national home builders, F & S Construction co. and Winston Park-Northwest corp.

Robert Richards, vice president and general manager for Winston, said wages and prices are higher and demand.

for homes greater here than anywhere else in the country. His firm is building 1,900 homes in Palatine.

Lowell Siff, sales manager for F & S, added that his company did not have any exact models to compare, but on a cost per square foot basis, Chicago is definitely highest in price. F & S has developed Hoffman Estates between Roselle and Palatine.

A $20,000 home in Chicago would lcost $14,000 to $15,000 in New York's more fashionable suburbs.

"According to surveys we have taken," commented Richards, "Chicago builders are not meeting the demand for new homes. Compared to other metropolitan cities, the percentage of home owners is relatively small. Chicago is known as one of the highest rental cities in the country. Only in suburbs has home buying taken hold. We think that there is actually great demand for home ownership."

BELL SAVINGS and Loan association, in its monthly report on building activity in the Chicago area, revealed that home construction has been falling off in the suburbs. Suburban towns and unincorporated areas have felt heavy all-building losses.

Skokie, for the sixth straight year leads the list of 114 suburbs on which Bell Savings reports home permit valuation. Second in value of home permits for the fourth consecutive year is Park Ridge.

New to the list this month was Elk Grove Village which ranked fourth among all suburbs. Compilation was based only on 2 months—215 permits valued at more than $4 million.

HOME BUILDING permits and valuations for June in this area included:

Arlington Heights: 44 permits, $804,100; Addison, 17 homes, $257,000; Elk Grove Village, 107 permits, $2,095,950; Mount Prospect, 18 permits, $391,800; Northbrook, 4 permits, $105,400; Palatine, 6 permits, $91,000; Rolling Meadows, 7 permits, $105,218; Roselle, 3 permits, $62,000; Wheeling, 24 permits, $304,000; and Wood Dale, 1 permit, $13,500.

The average cost of homes in suburbs in 1940 was $6,392. Average cost during first 6 months of 1957 was $16,311.

MAJOR construction firms continue to flock into northwest suburbs because diversified industry will help sustain the demand for new homes.

With marriage taking place at a younger age, home ownership on easy terms sounds attractive to America's couples. This factor, coupled with industrial and commercial growth, make builders confident Chicago is the area in which to flex their biceps. (REF

Ehler Inc. Now Dealers In Used Real Estate

Ehler Inc., Prospect Heights, is now exclusively a dealer in used real estate.

The firm which developed Country Gardens, subdivision in Prospect Heights, is no longer building new homes. Lon Ehler, president, said his firm will still serve as an agent for Country Gardens but that other builders will do the actual construction.

EHLER, INC. is located on the corner of the new section of the Prospect Heights shopping center. It has a staff of 2 brokers and 3 sales persons and is open 7 days a week with evening hours by appointment.

Ehler began his career in Prospect Heights real estate in 1951. With his former partner, Jack Wenborg, he built the new section of Prospect Heights shopping center. Last October, the partnership was dissolved, and the firm became Ehler Inc.

In promoting Prospect Heights, Ehler feels one of its main selling points is that it's one of the few northwest areas that still restricts lot size to ½ acre.

"This way we feel that the people are getting a little more of real country living," said Ehler. "So many of the areas have broken down their building site restrictions to the point that each house is practically on top of the next one."

"I FEEL that Prospect Heights is just about the ideal place to live. I can honestly say this because my family and I have really enjoyed being able to live out here. In fact it reminds me a great deal of the small town I grew up in as a boy," said Ehler.

In the years that he operated as a builder, Ehler constructed approximately 320 homes in Prospect Heights. (RE

Glen-Tyan Is Always 'High, Dry'

"High and dry here. No basement floods."

These advertising claims for Palatine's new Glen-Tyan Manor should be of interest to area residents who are still recuperating from the recent storm.

Glen-Tyan Manor is a new, partially rolling area of about 30 acres with 94 quality, individually custom-built homes. Spacious 70 ft. frontage lots support the 6½ room houses, which feature 3 large bedrooms, an all-electric kitchen, 100-plus wiring, tile bath, built-in oven and range, washer and dryer, and gas heat.

ALL IMPROVEMENTS will be in—gas, sewer, black top streets.

Near Northwest highway and route 53, the Chicago and North-Western railroad will provide service for commuting Manorites. A public school is within 2 blocks, the high school is three quarters of a mile, and a Catholic school is one mile away.

Palatine offers the new subdivision Episcopal, Methodist, Lutheran, Bible and Catholic churches. A shopping center and post office are within 5 blocks.

Good fire and police protection exists, yet taxes are moderate. (RE

New MAP Listing Service Boon to Buyers, Sellers

In just about a year since its inception, the M.A.P. (Mount Prospect - Arlington - Palatine) multiple listing service has proven a great asset to buyers and sellers of real estate in this area.

In this year, 329 houses have been sold though the combined cooperation of the members of MAP with a total volume of $7,961,602.

M.A.P. multiple listing service is made up of 24 cooperating real estate firms in Arlington Heights Mount Prospect, Palatine, and Prospect Heights. Through their combined efforts these firms have approximately 110 licensed full time real estate salesmen on hand ready to serve the public. They presently have 364 active listings.

M.A.P. is a service organization designed to make the process of buying and selling a home easy and efficient for its customers. When a prospective buyer calls on a member of M.A.P. to help him find a home, he is able to see all of the listings available for this entire area. The buyer no longer has to go from one firm to the next in order to cover the territory thoroughly.

EACH MEMBER of M.A.P. is given a listing of all of the property that is for sale within 24 hours after it has gone on the market. Each firm receives a sheet with a photograph of the property plus detailed information concerning the actual physical structure of the land or buildings.

In the actual sale of the property the firm which was given the exclusive listing is responsible for closing the business transactions, so the seller is still able to select the firm which he wants to represent him in the business transactions.

Through their combined effort M.A.P. members have found that the volume of real estate business his increased. It also gives each office an opportunity to be better equipped to sell the area.

CHARLES H. WILSON, president of Charles H. Wilson, Inc., speaking for M.A.P. said, "Many home buyers are not aware that the ability to secure mortgages is still good. When a buyer is qualified there is no difficulty in securing a loan."

The M.A.P. officers are: Jack V. Keller, president; H. J. Tindall, vice president; Norman S. Falkinger, secretary, and George R. Busse, treasurer. The directors of the organization are; Charles H. Wilson, Clarence A. Hendrickson. Albert C. Peters and Edward J. Busse. (RE

Shadowvent Put on Homes Without Nails

Look, no nails!

An unusual and important feature of a new siding is that it can be applied to a house without nails showing to the weather. From the appearance standpoint alone this is an advantage, since nails sometimes pop up and sometimes rust.

Masonite Shadowvent siding, made of durable, weather-resistant tempered hardboard, simply is slipped into position on an aluminum shadow strip which previously has been nailed to the wall studs through the sheathing. These strips are vented to prevent condensation of moisture behind the walls.

BUILDERS like this new siding not only because they can put it up more quickly but they can get a better paint job. The reason is that half the painting—the important priming—already has been done. The factory-applied coating is smooth and even, ideal for the top surface which is applied on the job. Paint on Tempered Presdwood wears unusually long.

This siding comes in a 12" width, considered ideal for ranch style houses. There is no premium in the cost because of this wider width.

Specially designed metal corners, made for use with this siding, require nailing only in the bottom unit, since they interlock.

Kimball Hill to Build Bigger Homes, Basements

Kimball Hill and associates, developers of Rolling Meadows, have disclosed plans for "building up" to a larger home in the northwest suburb.

The firm is setting its sights on construction of 300 3-bedroom homes with basements in the $17,800 to $18,990 brackets. The homes will include one and one and a half baths.

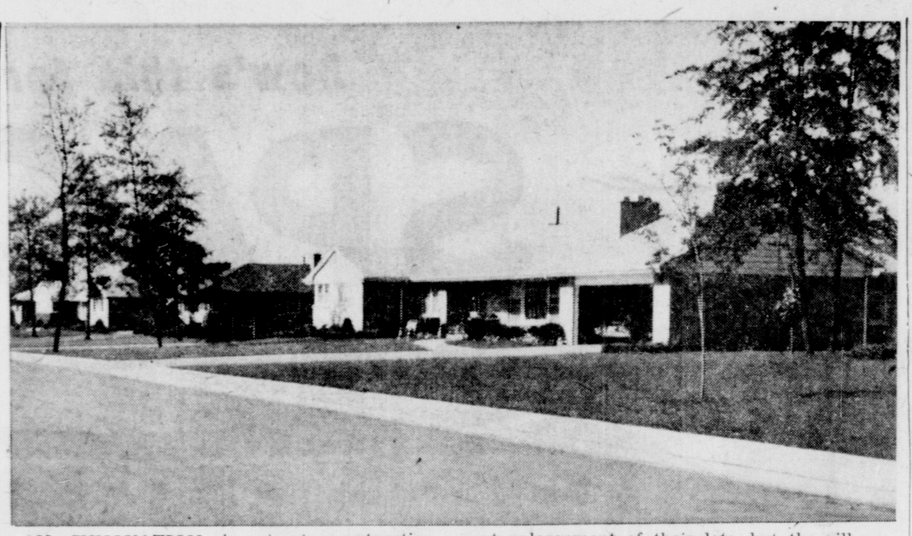
HILL'S FIRM, which has primarily concentrated on lower cost homes since undertaking development of Rolling Meadows, will continue to build 3-bedroom units in the $15,550 bracket.

William Dean, vice president of the company, said plans for building a large volume of higher-priced homes are based upon a demand for such housing in the community.

"Surveys here indicate that people who have been here a few years and improved their income during this time want a bigger house," he said. "We also find a demand for base- (RE



AN INNOVATION in street construction places the sidewalks next to the curb in this Arlington Heights subdivision, thus greatly increasing the sweep of the front lawn. The home owners are delighted with the apparent enlargement of their lots, but the village frowns on the change, alleging danger to playing children and inconvenience in snow removal. These homes are on S. Salem st. and are built by Craig Construction.

'Entertainment Wall' Houses Hi-Fi Gear

Many high-fidelity fans are building "entertainment walls" with cabinets of ponderosa pine. The spacious cabinets house all the necessary hi-fi paraphernalia, record player and speakers, with plenty of storage for records.

A television set also can be included in the "wall." An ideal arrangement for this is to use a kitchen cabinet of ponderosa pine designed to hold a wall oven.

'57 National Fire Loss May Hit Billion Dollars

National fire losses for 1957, if the present rate of severity and frequently continues, will hit the billion-dollar mark for the first time in history. Many an "insured" homeowner will be a heavy loser because he ignored the fact of economic life.

CLARENCE BERLIN, of the Berlin Insurance Agency, 115 N. Northwest hwy., Palatine, made these observations today in citing the dangers of going along with insurance "believed" to be adequate.

"Not only has the value of a $10,000 house nearly doubled in 10 years, but the addition of modern conveniences such as television sets and home freezers and other household appliances has further increased the value of the typical home," Berlin pointed out.

"NEARLY 40 MILLION American homes now have TV sets,' he observed. "In 1947, comparitively few sets were in use." Other appliances appearing in more homes are clothes dryers and room air conditioners. Retail sales of furniture, rugs, refrigerators and vacuum cleaners are at an all-time high.

"Add to this the boom in home improvement," Berlin stated, "and you can see how, if you're not careful, a home may outgrow its insurance protection. If fire strikes, that can be financially disastrous."

"TO GUARD against such a blow a homeowner should determine the value of his house and what's in it. As far as getting a valuation is concerned, obtaining the services of a professional appraiser is the best idea. If that's out of the question," Berlin continued, "chances are that the homeowner knows enough about local real estate values to make a pretty fair appraisal of his own."

As for the household contents, making an inventory is still the best practice. A room-by-room listing of property is usually quite revealing. Few homeowners fail to be surprised at what an accumulation of values the years have brought.

ONCE VALUES have been determined, the next step is to compare those values with the insurance being carried. "If underinsurance is evident," Berlin warned, "a call to an insurance agent for a protection check-up is in order."

"The best time to find that you don't have enough insurance is before a fire," Berlin cautioned. "A few minutes' review and a few more dollars invested in protection may save the homeowner weeks of anquish and thousands of dollars."

Berlin's remarks were made in connection with the campaign against under-insurance, currently being conducted through Life magazine and the Saturday Evening Post by the Hartford Fire Insurance company.

'Tight' Houses Immune to Wind

You can run for shelter when a hurricane or other severe windstorm strikes, but your house can't.

For this reason, it's a good idea to get your home ready now for late summer and early autumn storms—possibly even a hurricane or two.

WHAT CAN you do? Begin by checking the roof, since it is a home's first line of defense against weather of all kinds.

A careful inspection is important, because an old, weathered roof is an open invitation to severe interior damage during and after a windstorm. High winds can weaken portions of the worn material so much that heavy rains following the winds can soak through into the house.

To be certain your roof can "take" high winds and rain, call in a roofing contractor to give it a professional inspection. If he recommends a new roof, asphalt shingles can be applied in a weathertight covering which will last for years. This type of roofing can be applied to resist even hurricane winds and usually can be put on directly over the old roofing, eliminating the labor and mess of removing the weathered material.

OTHER windstorm preparations you can make include checking the house for loose shutters, window boxes, siding, TV antenna—anything that might be ripped away—and making sure that doors and windows are weatherstripped to keep out driving rain.

Its also a good idea to look for cracks around the foundation, windows, and doors, and to fill them with caulking compound. Young trees and shrubs should be staked, and older trees should be pruned of dead limbs. (RE

Here's How You Can Increase Storage Space

How to increase household storage space economically is a question he often is asked by home owners, according to R. S. Chmeleck of the Hill-Behan Lumber company.

Space to keep cloths, tools, garden and lawn equipment, housekeeping supplies and the various odds and ends that just seem to accumulate always is at a premium.

CHMELECK suggests the use of Masonite "Peg-Board' panels for greatly inreasing storage space without erecting costly additions to the home. The panels are available at the Hill-Behan Lumber company aong with free plans and advice.

An example Chmeleck cites is a closet lined with the perforated hardboard. "Using 'Peg-Board' fixtures, you can install several clothes bars at convenient heights instead of having one long bar for everything," he points out. "Also, you can use wall space that otherwise would be wasted."

PANELS OF the perforated hardboard also can be installed in a kitchen cabinet to provide handy hanging places for cups, pots and pans, and other kitchen utensils. Stored this way, the utensils are convenient for use because they are not stacked.

"'Peg-Board' is ideal for lining the interior walls of a garage. One-quarter-inch material should be used here," the lumber dealer advises, "because it will have to support such things as power mowers, ladders, wheelbarrows, and shelves for paint cans and other heavy items."

HOME CRAFTSMEN also have found the perforated hardboard a virtual necessity in their workshops for keeping tools convnient and in good order. There are fixtures especially designed for hanging everything from screw drivers to power tools.

"'Peg-Board' is one of the best space providers we've got," the lumberman asserts. "Use of it can more than double storage space in many homes."

Cold Walls Cause Mysterious Drafts

Home-owners who are puzzled by chilling drafts along floors even when all doors and windows are closed should look to their walls for the answer. Chances are the trouble is lack of insulation.

A cold, uninsulated wall chills the air next to it. Since cold air is heavier than warm air, the chilled air drops to the floor and goes scudding across it in a constant cold draft.

Mineral wool insulation helps prevent cold walls by blocking the passage of heat. The walls stay warmer, drafts are eliminated, and room temperatures are more healthfully uniform. (RE

Average Life of Mortgage Here Less Than 54 Months

The average life of a real estate mortgage is less than 4½ years.

Falkanger-Kohl real estate, 110 S. Northwest highway, Palatine, came up with this and several other facts concerning the buying and selling of real estate in the Chicagoland area.

BELL SAVINGS and Loan association of Chicago stated "We find our loans are paid off on an average of less than 4½ years. This comes about through complete pre-payments, re-sales, due to work transfers, or the desire of better homes through refinancing.

This indicates an active real estate market in the area because the majority of the "pay-offs" are due to transfers or refinancing, thereby resulting in the sale and purchase of a home.

AN ANALYSIS OF 1000 loans made last year by Bell to purchasers of existing single family dwellings reveals the average price was $21,150 according to Myron H. Fox, president. In turn the average loan was $13,900, revealing that the average down payment was $7,250 or an equity of 34.2 per cent.

The majority of loans were made to families with annual incomes ranging from $4,800 to $8,400.

FINANCING is an integral part of the purchase of a home. Some basic rules to keep in mind when contemplating buying a house are:

1. Mortgage companies are particularly sensitive to location, which is a major factor in future marketability or re-sale. This is important because the real estate market is increasingly selective.

2. Another major factor in any lending policy is its flexibility with respect to capacity to repay the loan on the part of the borrowers. Mortgage companies carefully screen all prospective appicants and check their credit habits. Traditionally they follow the axiom of 20 per cent of gross income for housing and that a family can afford an investment in housing of 2½ to 3 times gross annual income. Realistic revisions are necessary however, because of the wide spread between gross and net incomes today.

3. Down payments in connection with conventional financing can be as low as 20 per cent of the purchase price, but generally is closer to 25 per cent.

4. The prevailing interest rate continues at 5½ per cent for 20 years. It is also interesting to note that 7 out of 10 buyers of new homes are second and third time purchasers.

CHICAGOLAND builders report the greatest demand for new homes is in the $21,000 to $26,500 price range.

Average selling prices of existing 5-room brick homes on the Northwest side have shown tremendous increases in the past 10 years. Average prices for a 5-room brick home during this period is as follows:

1947	11,730
1948	13,330
1949	14,000
1950	14,750
1951	16,750
1952	16,850
1953	17,200
1954	17,038
1955	18,309
1956	19,775

Accordingly, vacant lots have taken a similar, if not greater increase in price in the Northwest suburbs.

Small Ranch-Style Home Can Be Economical to Heat

When a family buys a small, ranch-style home, one thing they generally expect is that its compact, all-on-one-floor arrangement will make the house easy and economical to heat.

Many ranch - home owners, however, have been surprised to discover that they were paying fuel bills as high or higher than their friends and neighbors with larger homes. Investigation usually has shown the trouble to be lack of insulation.

Insulation should be installed in the complete perimeter (heavy line) of the living quarters to be most effective.

HEATING AND insulation engineers usually recommend two inches of mineral wool for the floors if the house is built over a crawl space, or a special band of slab insulation for homes built on a concrete slab. A 3-inch thickness is recommended for the walls, and at least 4 inches of mineral wool is needed between the joists above the attic ceiling.

WHEN MINERAL wool is installed according to these recommendations, fuel bills can be reduced as much as 50 per cent, and the house will be more comfortable during ali seasons of the year.

Owners of existing ranch-style houses that are not insulated generally can do part of the insulating job themselves. They can install batts or blankets of mineral wool in the attic and in the floor above the crawl space. An insulating contractor can blow mineral wool into the walls. (RE

Hasbrook Unveils 3 Model Homes in Arlington Hts.

Northwest suburbia newest housing development will officially open at 2 p. m., Saturday when Hasbrook Construction co. holds open house for its 3 model homes in Arlington Heights.

First of 532 homes the company expects to build there, the homes have three bedrooms, two full baths, living and dining room, attached garage, and built-in oven and range. They will sell for $18,950.

During the open house, Hasbrook will also display its unique Home Fashion center, a one-stop shopping mart where home buyers can purchase everything needed to customize and equip their homes from furniture to garden tools.

THE $10-MILLION development is on a 140-acre annexed tract at the northwest corner of Arlington Heights, on Palatine road between State and Wilke roads. It is being backed financially by Donald L. Huber, vice president of the H. C. Huber Construction co., Dayton, Ohio.

Designed by Fitch, Schiller & Frank, Chicago architects, the 1,400-square-foot homes will give the buyer a choice of 35 different elevations.

"This great variation is made possible by different combinations of roof line, garage location, floor plan reversals, exterior trim and color," explained Albert E. Riley, Hasbrook president.

FHA 25-year mortgages at 5 per cent and $2,100 down will be available, Riley said, subject to final implementation of new liberal FHA terms authorized by Congress. Conventional mortgages will also be provided by Dovenmuehle, Inc.

ALL HOMES will be built of face brick on an insulated concrete slab foundation. Wood will be used only to give variety and richness of color. A 10 by 16 foot concrete patio and concrete driveway will be provided.

For low maintenance, the homes will have aluminum horizontal sliding type windows and screens, stone sills, and aluminum water diverters over windows and outside doors. All are included in the purchase price.

Standard lots are 70 by 125 feet. Corner lots are slightly larger. Curvilinear streets in the subdivision will provide variety in the sizes and shapes of the lots.

Certified adequate wiring (100-plus) will be used throughout, with all outside wiring concealed in underground conduits. For heavy-duty appliance requirements, 220-volt service entrances will be provided. High-style lighting fixtures will be installed in each room.

A thermostatically-controlled, forced hot air radial heating system will be used. It is adaptable to central air conditioning. Hasbrook has obtained 40 space heating permits this year, Riley said. All other homes built in 1957 will be heated by oil. After 1957, homes will be heated by oil or gas, depending on gas permit availability and buyers' preferences.

OTHER FEATURES of the homes include Hotpoint built-in oven and range, kitchen exhaust fan, Formica-topped kitchen cabinets, door chimes, Bigelow-Sanford carpeting in the living room, asphalt tile with vinyl base on other floors, and 45-gallon quick-recovery water heaters.

"The subdivision is already a part of Arlington Heights, enjoying the benefits of the village's municipal services, including fire and police protection, water supply, and sewers," he said. "Hasbrook, not the buyer, will pay for improvement of streets, curbs, gutters, and sidewalks."

He also said any point in the subdivision is within walking distance of the Wilson grade school. To help take care of the increased student load, Hasbrook is giving the Wilson school district $175 for each home built.

A further asset, Riley said, will be a 14-acre park on the property, to serve as a recreation area. A half-acre pond in the park will add to the scenic value and hold excess water run-off in case of extremely heavy rains.

'Trudeville' Speeds Trend To 2-Story Colonial Homes

Ranch houses are bustin' at the seams—from the kids, that is.

Many are the ranch homes purchased by small families in the suburban area the past 5-10 years. But ol' Mr. Stork has brought so many bundles of joy, more and more families are going back to 2-story colonials with 4 bedrooms, simply to accomodate the crowd.

That's the story of "Trudeville," that umpteen square block area south of Rockwell in Arlington Heights. It varies from street to street, but includes over 400 ranch homes built by Bill Trude since 1947.

IT'S NOW Trude Land Development Co., with many hands available to make decisions of a million natures, but Bill is always around taking a strong personal interest in each of the 40-50 homes he builds each year.

"Larger families have forced us to swith to colonials now," says Bill. "Most of our customers now buying the 2-story 4-bedroom homes formerly had ranch homes of ours, but have added to their families and need more room.

RANCH HOMES with 4 bedrooms involve such a large investment that home buyers have learned they can purchase more house for less money by going colonial.

And just to keep things on even keel, the Trudes have completed the Arlington Gardens apartments and The Elms shopping center, and are currently building an office building on South State rd. for Pure Oil Co.

The future? It looks bright. More and more families are moving up to their "second" and "third" homes, gaining more space and comfort in the process, and helping make Arlington Heights an enjoyable place in which to live.

What Does Housing Bill Mean?

There's little reason for Chicago area home seekers to kick up their heels with joy over the signing of the new housing bill by President Eisenhower.

The new law makes an additional $1,990,000,000 available for various housing programs and authorizes the Federal Housing Administration to slash to an all-time low the minimum down-payment requirements on new and old homes under its mortgage insurance program.

The new law, for example, would allow the down payment on a $15,000 FHA financed house to be cut from the present $1,950 to $1,050.

Martin H. Braun, president of the Chicago Metropolitan Home Builders assn., termed the decrease "inconsequential in large metropolitan areas where home construction costs are necessarily higher."

"The bill does not go far enough to solve our problems in Chicago," he asserted.

The lower down payments made possible by the bill—but not necessarily those the FHA will set—are a minimum of 3 per cent on the first $10,000 of appraised value, 15 per cent on the $10,000 to $16,000 segment, and 30 per cent above that.

PRESENT requirements are at least 5 per cent on the first $9,000 and 25 per cent above that.

If the new minimum is put into effect, the results in this area in the next 6 months will be "negligible" as far as lending by savings and loan associations is concerned, according to Otto L. Presiler, president of the Cook County Council of Insured Savings associations.

H. Hoyt Thompson, president of the Chicago Mortgage Bankers association, said there would be no "appreciable" increase in Chicago area housing starts "right away," but there may be "eventually." He called the law a "step in the right direction." (REF

Trade in Old House for New

So you'd like to trade your house in on a new model?

Suppose you're living in a nice 4-room home that was a "dream" just a few years ago, but the family has grown until you now feel the need of 3 bedrooms. You have your eye on a new house being built that sells for $29,000. You'd like to act now, but you're not quite sure what the old house will bring, and you can't afford to be stuck owning 2 houses.

THE TRADE-IN plan is designed to help out in such situations. The builder or real estate broker takes your old house in trade, much as an auto dealer would take in your old car.

But as yet, few builders possess the funds to buy such houses outright and apply the purchase price to the cost of the new home. Moreover, misunderstandings are likely to arise, because the potential home trader may not have a realistic view of his house's worth and how much additional cash he will have to come up with to buy the new home.

To facilitate trades, the Percy Wilson mortgage firm in Des Plaines has developed a special financing service, with an initial form to be filled out that puts the deal on a realistic basis at the outset. Heart of the plan is that it results in an FHA appraisal and 6-month mortgage commitment for the property to be traded in.

In the example above, assume you think your present home is worth $20,000. You owe a present mortgage balance of $13,070. You might begin figuring on that basis, but the Wilson form could save you some headaches later on.

SUPPOSE THE FHA appraisal shows the worth of the house is $19,000, instead of $20,000. The trade-in plan form would also point out the real estate broker's commission you would have to pay to sell the house, the mortgage discount to conclude the old mortgage, and any reconditioning costs that might be necessary to merchandise the house. The net proceeds of the sale after deducting these items might come to $17,070. After paying off your mortgage, you would then have $4,000 cash available.

The form also analyzes the house you intend to buy. Extras, such as built-in oven and range and finished rec room, bring the total price to $30,000. You can get a mortgage commitment for $20,000. This leaves $10,000 cash required. You have $4,000 cash from sale of your old home. So you have to raise $6,000 more to go through with the deal.

"WITH THE HIGH level of employment and incomes in the Chicago area, families are in a good position to raise their living standards and enjoy more adequate homes," Wilson states.

"In our trade in financing plan, we believe we have found a helpful method for builder, broker, and home owner to begin dealing on a realistic basis to the satisfaction of all parties," he concluded. (RE

Decorator's Notebook

Two Woods Give Group Great Charm

By the interplay of two lovely hardwoods — nut brown walnut and spice-toned cherry—a design of great simplicity achieves an air of timeless elegance in this six-drawer dresser.

All its companion pieces in a new, moderately-priced bedroom group have the same unadorned lines, but there is nothing severe in this design, primarily because fine cabinet woods of themselves offer great visual warmth. This is especially true when their grain patterns are the main decorative theme. Here, for example, the walnut surfaces reveal shell-like figures—the gentle, familiar wood pattern of which no one ever tires.

The lighter-colored cherry which "frames" each drawer is a luxurious note, suggestive of costlier decorator furniture.

Walnut "Warms" Glass

Polished brass pulls are thin, straight-lined — just a dash of accent on each drawer — to avoid distracting the eye from the wood. Note, too, how the gently rounded, plain walnut frame softens the "coldness" of the large mirror, and how its "off-balance" placement avoids monotony.

In this group the manufacturer has introduced a new size—42 inches—in chest pieces. It is a three-drawer version of the above dresser (which is 54 inches wide). There is also a "triple dresser" in which three much narrower center drawers are not banded with the cherry wood. Instead their walnut fronts form a single, eye-pleasing brown tier between cherry-bordered rectangles on either side.

In a low-scaled chest-on-chest, the upper deck has door fronts which also vary the design theme by being of walnut alone. Beds in this group offer a choice of headboard or bookcase styles, both with the appealing cherry-banded panels. Capacious two-drawer night tables follow the design of the dresser we've illustrated.

Benefits of "Bonded Woods"

For those interested in construction details, the dresser's frame, which includes the slightly "shaped" protruding posts in view, is made of solid walnut. But all the flat surfaces — sides, drawer-fronts, top — take advantage of the great modern process of "bonding" woods which has superseded what used to be called "veneering". Thanks to this development, these flat expanses are immune to warping, cracking or splitting, and have extraordinary durability regardless of weather or climate.

Gas Appliances Feature New Look

Gas has really got it this year! The "new look" is everywhere. Top burner controls, wider ovens, recessed griddles, meat thermometers, built-in and recessed ranges, refrigerators, dryers and water heaters are show-stoppers!

MODERN, handsomely-styled kitchen settings use gas appliances in every conceivable way, proving once again the versatility and adaptability of gas equipment.

Taking their lead from the automobile manufacturers, the "new look" kitchens are equipped with two and three-toned colored enamel and metallic-fininshed gas appliances in combination with color-coordinated cabinets. Pink, yellow, blue, green, coppertone, stainless steel and satin chrome, used in a variety of combinations, put kitchens on the "best-dressed" list.

Surface units, in a variety of arrangements, are used to advantage. These attract a great deal of attention because of the new thermostatic controls which are revolutionizing top of the stove cooking, where 80 per cent of all cooking is done.

HAILED AS ONE of the most exciting new range features ever developed (one manufacturer calls it the greatest development in cooking over the last 43 years) these marvellous thermostatic controls make any utensil an automatic appliance. Automatically maintaining temperatures ranging from a low, low 150 degrees up to 450 degrees, they completely eliminate scorching, burning and boil-overs.

Built-in ranges, of course, are in abandance, One built-in oven now comes 24 inches wide to make it the largest built-in gas oven on the market. Others have a built-in thermometer which reads the doneness of roasts from inside the meat and registers the reading on a visible range-top dial.

Still another model has a meat thermometer with a metal-covered cord attached, which is plugged into a connection recessed in the oven wall, which works like a telephone jack. The sharp point of the thermometer is plunged into the roast, the dial set and the cord hooked up. The "oven sentinel" then takes over and when the meat is cooked precisely to the doneness desired, it turns the oven off.

It can also be hooked up to oven clocks so that the entire cooking operation takes place while the housewife is out of the house.

ANOTHER scene-stealer is the gas duomatic washer-dryer combination. These are becoming just as versatile and popular as built-in gas ranges. Recessed into walls, built into unusual counter arrangements, and left free-standing, they illustrate the widest choice of arrangements possible. They can be used in the kitchen, laundry room or basement laundry-playroom area.

Gas water heaters are tied-in with laundry equipment to emphasize the importance of hot water in home laundering. They, too, have the much wanted "new look." A pink and white square-shaped gas water heater, specially designed to fit in well with washers and dryers in modern laundry rooms, makes a big hit with housewives.

Truly automatic, 1956 gas appliances are the most completely modern appliances on the market. They incorporate every possible feature, in every possible choice of colors and finishes. Whether built-in or free standing, they add a note of beauty to any kitchen setting.

Gas has got it, and you can be sure that the housewife wants it judging by the public's reaction to the "new look" with gas.

How Charles Wilson Built $4 Million Realty Firm

The Wilson Gallery of Homes is familiar to the readers of Paddock Publications, but there are many unknown facts that have brought about the success of this organization in a fast growing area of the Chicago suburbs.

Charles H. Wilson Realtors have noted several factors that have helped to account for an annual sales volume in excess of $4 million.

IN APPRAISAL service, the Wilson personnel are exceptionally qualified to place fair and accurate market values on properties. Experience gained through large annual sales keeps them in intimate touch with the pulse of the market.

Since the purchase or sale of a home is usually one of the major transactions a family makes, the members of the Wilson staff strive to be counselors not just salesmen. They realize that when you buy a house you are buying a home, a community, a neighborhood, educational and recreational facilities. They try to learn from the buyers what they are looking for in a "way of life" and then set out to find the house that will best suit their needs and give them a home and not just a house.

STAFF MEMBERS are daily exchanging information that may be of value to each in accommodating their respective clients. Discussion of new listings, analysis of features, counsel concerning special approaches to arrange financing these are among the many ways in which staff teamwork at Charles H. Wilson Realtors serves the best interests of buyers and sellers.

Since the purchase of real estate requires financing in most cases, the Wilson firm has made its ability to secure financing a major part of its business. Because it has established an excellent record with outstandingmortgage firms in metropolitan Chicago it has the know-how to obtain loans promptly.

Hoffman Estates Developed From Farmland in 2 Years

One of the nation's foremost home builders has created a modern residential community in the rolling prairies of Schaumburg township, until 2 years ago regarded as Cook county's last completely rural "outpost."

F & S Construction co. began Hoffman Estates in September, 1955, on farmland in the vicinity of Golf, Higgins, and Roselle rds.

With almost 1,000 homes already occupied, F & S plans a total of 1,250 homes. The firm recently announced a new residential development for south Cook county.

TO ASSIST the rural school district in meeting the demands of hundreds of new families, the developer has built a school in each of the community's 3 parcels. The newest of the trio will be ready for use in September.

Lowell Siff, sales manager, estimates that the school buildings have cost F & S approximately $400,000.

Construction is scheduled to begin next spring on a 16-acre shopping center for Hoffman Estates. It will be located east of Roselle rd. between Golf and Higgins rd.

Although an unincorporated area, Hoffman Estates has rapidly developed community structure.

Hoffman Estates Home Owners association, with the cooperation of F&S, developed the barn on the former Oscar Hammerstein farm into a community center, focal point for much of the area's social life.

F & S IS PRESENTLY building 2 kinds of homes: the 3-bedroom, 1 bath Monterey for $15,350 and the 3-bedroom, 2 bath Westerner Deluxe for $17,950. Both are brick veneer and farm construction.

Prior to moving their headquarters to the Chicago area, F & S built 14,500 homes between 1948 and 1955 in Arizona, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, and Cleveland, Ohio.

Officers of F & S Construction are Sam Hoffman, president; Robert Rosner, vice president; and Jack Hoffman, secretary-treasurer. (RE

Buffalo Grove Historic Site

Northwest area home-buyers are finding out why a German immigrant walked across the United States in order to own a Buffalo Grove home.

Al Frank's National Home development in Buffalo Grove is being erected on a historic 187 acre farm once owned by Melchior Raupp.

RAUPP came to this country in 1847, looking for rich farm lands in the Madison, Wis., area. However, the sight of the fertile Buffalo Grove area was not easily forgotten. He finally settled there in 1853, paying $1,975 for the land.

It took 100 times that much money to buy the farm from his heirs recently, but Buffalo Grove Home Builders, Inc., feel that the land still has the drawing power that brought Raupp back from the California gold rush.

THAT SAME SORT of magnetism is bringing prospective home-buyers to see th site of 504 pre-fabricated National Homes, 150 of which are to be erected this year. The 3 bedroom ranch-type dwellings feature Climatrol heating, Plextone multi-color paint, and Republic steel kitchens, complete with built-in ovens and table-top ranges.

The quarter acre lots are completely improved with sewer, water, natural gas, paved streets, sidewalks, and all the other features so important for gracious family living. Prices range from $16,580 to $18,200.

AN ADDITIONAL 25 homes, ranging in price from $25,000 to $3,000, are also being planned, over-looking Buffalo creek.

A grade school and a 3½ acre park will be completed next year, as will a $40,000 shopping center which will include 12 stores. The subdivision is only a half hour's drive from Chicago, along route 21 (Milwaukee ave.), Eden's expressway or a combination of Dempster and route 83 north.

Ease, Flexibility In New Collections

Dinner is a family affair. And it should be eaten in pleasant, relaxing surroundings. When the family is gathered around the dining table, for the evening meal or on festive occasions, they should be able to dine in comfort.

The dining groups which are available today have been designed with that idea in mind. Whether you have a large dining room or whether your home has a smaller dining area, you will find a group which will fit beautifully and which can be adapted to your needs.

YOU CAN FURNISH your dining room in any style or period which suits your fancy. Some very lovely French provincial groupings were introduced during the recent home furnishings markets.

Many of the French provincial lines have a painted finish. A number of them combine rich natural wood table and chest tops with painted legs. It is an interesting and attractive combination.

One line has dining chairs with cane backs which are painted white. Running through the cane is a delicate criss-cross pattern which is painted in a soft pastel color.

The many correlated collections are a perfect answer for the dining group which must be placed in a living-dining area. The furniture for both areas is coordinated so that it blends well together and presents a unified setting.

One such line is called "Cadence." This is a contemporary grouping with colonial overtones. Pieces are available for dining room, living room and bedroom.

THERE ARE many pieces from which to choose for your dining room. A number of differently styled chests are available. You can combine 2 or perhaps 3 against 1 wall and place a china deck on 1 of them. A bookcase deck is also available which contains a fall-front desk.

The wood used in this group is maple in a light, honey finish. Slat doors are a feature of the chests. Drawer pulls are wooden, long and vertical and tipped with gleaming brass edges. Dining chairs may be covered in fabric or in leather, whichever you prefer.

More styling is being seen in metal dining groups these days. One new line includes an Early American dining group. It is available with either a rectangular or a round dining table. Chairs have padded seats and backs, covered with an attractive fabric in a provincial pattern.

THE ROMANTIC influence sweeping the country, inspired by the musical play "My Fair Lady," has reached the furniture field, too. One new dining group is even called by that name. It is cleanly and finely styled and eloquently tells the story of the dignity of traditional design.

Servers are continuing to be an important part of dining room groupings. They are wonderfully handy for transporting food from the kitchen to the dining room or for bringing refreshments into the living room when you are entertaining more casually. They also add a bit more storage space.

Walnut is the most popular wood for the contemporary dining groups. Maple and cherry remain strong for early American. Mahogany is still the favorite for 18th century groupings.

Wives Discover Lure for Husbands

Women have discovered a secret allure for keeping husbands home. They are having the family room paneled in friendly, relaxing wood.

Since most exclusive men's clubs, a favorite hangout of some husbands, are wood paneled, the smart wife has reasoned she must compete, if she wants to see more of hubby during waking hours.

The male behavior being what it is—psychologists supplying the words—the little lady may have an idea, the conservative West Coast Lumbermen's Association remarks with a mischievous simle.

THE LUMBERMEN, always trying to be helpful, suggest another asset value of wood-paneled living rooms. The relaxing atmosphere created, say these worthy gents, may be so complete that the too-tightly-wound-up husband may not have to take tranquillity pills in the future.

All of which is a leadup to something else, a suggestion by these west coast tall timber boys of the kind of wood which has the highest built-in tranquillity factor. May they suggest, and they do, Douglas fir for beauty and friendliness, west coast hemlock for blond loveliness, or western red cedar for the old-shoe homeliness of calico and gingham.

TV Influences Home Furnishings

Television has become an important part of our lives in the past few years. It has brought entertainment into our homes. And because of this, we spend more time at home—and in our living rooms—watching the television screen.

The influence of television is being felt on home furnishings. Ottomans are getting larger, so that they are more comfortable seating pieces. Pull-up chairs are being designed so that they look good from all angles and can stand alone in a room. Sofas are getting bigger and "sprawlier" for more viewing comfort.

WATCHING television seems to increase the appetite, too, so that snack tables are becoming more popular. Many of them are small and compact and fold for easy storage when not in use. Tea wagons are handy, too, because they can be loaded with snacks in the kitchen and rolled into the living room with a minimum of effort.

Remember, too, that you are spending more time in your living room watching television. Your furniture will be getting increased use. Even though today's furniture is built to last a long time, you can't expect it to last for ever. (RE

Area Suburbanites 'Star' In New Commerce Series

Commuters of Arlington Heights are in the limelight these days as the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry distributes its informative books on the metropolitan area — its growth, it future.

First book released 3 weeks ago tells every aspect of growth in the 6-county metropolitan area for the past 10 years, plus forecasts of the next 10-25 years. In the series on transportation, a picture of commuters streaming from a double-decker commuter train at the Heights station is shown.

THE BOOK is good reading to anyone fond of statistics, tales of progress, and forecasts of business futures.

Included are stories galore of the coming ocean-going traffic through the St. Lawrence waterway; of the effect in real estate values, the coming of new industries, and plans for additional culture facilities.

Many are the facts, stories and pictures of home building projects increasing school enrollments, and the wide system of toll-roads, expressways, and super-highways. Also included is a story of the arrival of out-of-state builders arriving, mentioning Centex at Elk Grove, F & S at Hoffman Estates, and Winston at Palatine.

NEW PLANTS discussed and pictured include the James B. Clow industry at Bensenville, the largest of its kind in the Chicago area. Particularly interesting was the story of airport development, including the news that by 1959 jet airliners will be landing at O'Hare. They will not be able to land at Midway.

The picture of the Arlington commuters was again used in a pictorial book of "Chicago's life and its people, how they play, work and live" just released last week by the same association. The 50 page book contains 159 photographs from 73 sources.

Make THIS the year when your "dream home" comes gloriously true! Whether you aim to buy or to build, now is the time to DO something about it. HERE is a good place to start . . . looking, checking, comparing, getting new ideas about the home you'll be happy and proud to call your own!

Custom Homes In Mardan Woods

In the woodlands and rolling country side of the Long Grove area, among towering oaks, shag bark hickories, and with an abundance of wild life, is the setting for Mardan Woods Estates and three other developments which are being developed by Charles H. Wilson Inc.

When it is complete, Mardan Woods area will comprise approximately 175 estate type homes on large tracts of land, which will be centered around the village of Long Grove on Route 53.

ONE OF THE new wooded sites has been named Valley View and will be restricted to tracts of 3-5 acres per home. The Mardan Estates are being built on the rolling country side surrounding the Mardan Woods area. The third development will border on a private lake on Cuba Road and is known as Oak Island.

Mardan Woods has been under development for the past 3 years. Wilson stated that he thought the area would be completed within the next two years.

EACH HOUSE built in the area is custom constructed through a firm working with the Wilson organization or each person may select his own contractor. However, all plans must be approved by the developers.

"In building up this area we are striving to give the people true countryside living with protection against over crowding. Long Grove is just 4½ miles to the nearest commutor station, a short 20 minute drive to the Old Orchard shopping center and within easy daily driving distance to Chicago," said Wilson. (RE

Often Misused

Distinguish between "continual" (which implies a close succession or recurrence) and "continuous" (which implies an uninterrupted continuity). "There was a continual rain." "The work required continuous labor from morning till night."

Do not say, "Each of us had more than we could carry." Say, "Each of us had more than he (or, she) could carry."

Avoid such expressions as, "You'd better figure on twenty guests," and, "When does he figure on making the next payment?" Instead, say, "You'd better plan on (or, arrange for) twenty guests," and, "When does he plan on making the next payment?"

Distinguish between "festal" (relating to a festival, a holiday) and "festive" (joyous; mirthful). Thus: "We saw the festal procession enter the church," and, "The small square was crowded with a noisy, festive band."

Avoid the expression, "far distance." "A distance is long, great or tiresome, but not far.

Builders' Plan Varied Homes

A California builder of more than 30,000 homes has come up with an entirely new approach to the problem of giving individuality of appearance to each house in a giant subdivision.

The firm, Bollenbacher & Kelton, of Los Angeles, avoids indiscriminate use of sharp colors and widely-varying roof pitches, concentrating instead on quiet restraint in developments that fit the terrain.

"WE STUDY the terrain and work with it," says Ray J. Swaner, manager of the firm. "In San Diego, we are building 3,000 houses in a bare valley surrounded by stark hills. So we have chosen an earth-brown for our asphalt shingle color, and a moderately steep pitch for the main roof lines."

For variety and interest, Swaner says, 16 different exteriors are used for 10 basic floor plans. Some 80 per cent of the roof styles have the same high pitch. They include gable styles, hip roofs, and louvered Scotch-hipped roofs. The variety of roof shapes gives each house its individualized look.

THE TOTAL effect of the Bollenbacher & Kelton development is rich restraint and a quality of unobtrusive substantiality. The high-pitched roofs have an advantage of an air-washed attic, which helps keep the houses cooler in hot San Diego summers. Another important contribution to living comfort is made by the thick layer of mineral wool insulation laid in blankets between the attic floor joists.

Approached from the hills around the sub-division, the houses, with their subdued earth tones of asphalt shingles, seem to fit naturally into the rugged country side, and harmonize softly with the green of lawns and landscaping. (RE

Small, Cozy Room Makes Ideal Den

A room that's small and cozy—that's an ideal den for man or boy. Sometimes a bedroom can be fixed up as a den; more often one has to start from scratch in a portion of the basement or attic.

Make the den a place to "get away from it all." It requires privacy, comfortable furniture and furnishings, masculine decorations and a convenient place for study or hobby pursuit.

An atmosphere of Gemuetlichkeit, or comfortableness, is the goal.

AN IMPORTANT contribution are the walls of the den. Rustic and masculine, Masonite Seadrift, a textured hardboard, is ideal for achieving the den's feeling of Gemuetlichkeit. Available at lumber yards, the panels have random grooves and a pattern that takes a handsome one or two-tone finish.

In an attic modernization, rafters and studs may be covered with Masonite Panelwood, another economical hardboard. First, of course: insulate. Over rough flooring you can install a tough, durable floor of Tempered Presdwood. Cabinets and storage places may be constructed also of framing lumber and hardboard.

For a free plan on creating a comfortable den in an attic, write a postal to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting plan No. AE-297. (RE

Utility Offering Modern Street Lights to New Areas

(CNS)--Commonwealth Edison-Public Service company is offering modern street light poles for a slight consideration to suburbs annexing subdivisions having inadequate and unsightly street lights.

Ralph Raymond, commercial manager, outlined the charge request Thursday before Frank Foster, chief electrical examiner for Illinois commerce commission.

RAYMOND SAID Public Service would replace present poles when necessary. The monthly charge sought from municipalities is 1-¼ per cent of the additional company investment to cover a "modest return on investment, income taxes, depreciation, general taxes, and maintenance."

He said municipalities would pay for any additional poles they wish to add. Four types of poles are available, including the economy size standard pole costing an average $96 installed and the "deluxe sanded" or machine tooled model for $131.66.

For those wishing to do away with unsightly poles in back yards, Public Service has designed 2 other types to be used for street lights in conjunction with underground wiring. Both are already wired when sold. They are the notched pole for $127.30 and the suburban-delight, a pole bored end to end to hold electrical wire, selling at $172.06.

ARTHUR GEHR, the utility's attorney, said many subdividers have placed wiring underground at insistence of municipalities and prospective homeowners. Public Service therefore is asking for the slight increase in maintenance charges to meet added cost in installing and maintaining the lines.

Raymond considered the monthly payment, which is over and above the monthly electric charge, a "give-away program."

Lawyers representing 8 Chicago suburbs and Aurora did not agree.

Aurora Attorney Charles A. Darling attacked the charge for new poles, contending the company served the public and should not charge for additional poles.

Raymond answered the utility served residents primarily and that street lights were only "incidental."

MELROSE PARK Attorney George N. Guerine said in "new undedicated subdivisions present lighting is inadequate, either due to the distance between light poles or the strength of the lights." He said he could not see why municipalities should have to pay for additional poles for lights.

Gehr said all municipalities have enough poles and need only the light fixtures.

The other lawyers asked for time to discuss the proposal with their respective village boards. The case was continued to July 25.

Other attorneys and representatives included Mount Prospect Village Manager Harold Appleby, John R. Jeffers for Calumet City; George E. Billett, Elmhurst; John R. Fielding, Summit; Miles Wlodek, Cicero; Fred Weissman Jr., Wheeling; and Edward B. O'Shea for Northlake and Forest Park. (BB

Mr. and Mrs. William Schoepke 28 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday, July 13, at Palatine Firemen's hall, where 350 guests attended the celebration.

William Schoepke of Arlington Heights and Amanda Volberding of Itasca were married July 11, 1907 in St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, by Rev. C. Noack. They have resided in the same home at 28 S. Vail ever since their marriage 50 years ago.

Members of the bridal party still living who attended the celebration are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Busse, Elgin; Henry Wittenkamp, Harvard; Mrs. Melvin Elfring, Bensenville. Mrs. Lillian Stangor of Des Plaines was not able to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Schoepke have 11 children, all living. The 5 boys are Arthur, Milton and William Jr., Arlington Heights; Willard, Brookfield, and Richard, Chicago; the girls are Mildred Busse, Eleanor Schoepke, Florence Wagoner and Dorothy Gehrig of Arlington Heights; Lillian Winkelhake of Palatine and Lorraine Fanz of Brookfield. There are 25 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

In addition to the celebration Saturday night, open house was held at their home Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m.

Dolores Holtzee Weds Benjamin P. Gaulke

Miss Dolores Ruth Holtzee and Benjamin Peter Gaulke were united in marriage June 1 at 7:30 p.m. in a candlelight setting in St. Paul church, Palatine, with Rev. Glenn G. Gumm officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holtzee, Bradwell rd., Palatine, but has been residing with her uncle and aunt, the Charles Holtzees, in Barrington since being employed at the bank there. Mr. Gaulke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gaulke of Fox River Grove.

Harold Berg was organist and an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Clarence Voras, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" for the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length white lace and net gown with full skirt set in tiers of ruffles. Her fingertip veil had a beaded tiara, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Wallace Yount Jr. of Barrington, was her maid of honor in a blue embossed nylon acetate street-length dress with full skirt and scoop neckline. Her bouquet was of blue and feathered white carnations. Bridesmaids wore dresses of identical style only in pink, and carried pink and feathered white carnations. They were Mrs. Kenneth Holtzee, cousin of the bride and Miss Carol Gaulke, sister of the bridegroom. Penny Greenwood, 3, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl in blue ruffled nylon.

The bridegroom's brother, Richard Gaulke, was best man, Charles Greenwood and Kenneth Holtzee were ushers, and Tommy Weseman, 4, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Holtzee wore a pink linen and lace dress with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Gaulke wore a navy and white print ensemble with a similar corsage.

A reception followed in the church social room for 200 guests at which Mrs. Esther Puffpaff of Dundee, the bride's sister passed the guest book and Judy Gaulke, the bridegroom's sister, served punch.

The couple has an apartment in Barrington, as both are employed there. The new Mrs. Gaulke is a Palatine high school graduate and since her marriage is continuing in her position at First National bank of Barrington. Mr. Gaulke attends Metropolitan Business college in Chicago and works part-time in the Barrington post office. (Community Camera

Wonderful Time of Year

Dear Peg:

This is that wonderful time of the year when families load their cars with suitcases, fishing tackle, collapsible carriages, golf clubs, and clothing that won't fit in the suitcases and, looking like the Joad family, roll out to the highway leading to a favorite vacation spot.

The station wagon was so packed when we left home Wednesday, I could hardly see out the windows to drive, much less move enough to shift the gears.

Part of the trouble was that I had to leave plenty of room in the second seat for Megan, Bridget, books and toys and plenty of space in the third section (in which we've taken out the seat, folded out the floor and put down a mattress) for Patrick and anyone who may want to take a nap. This left only the other half of the seat and floor in front to hold almost everything the children own—you see, they'll be in Indianapolis with Nana for 3 weeks.

I don't know how the girls will ever be able to settle down to normal living. No sooner had they returned from their week's visit with Grandma and Grandpa McArdle than they were on their way to Grandma Rice's home in Indianapolis. And I don't know how I will ever be able to settle down to normal living after the wonderful vacation Bob and I have planned—and, thanks to mother, it will be a vacation all by ourselves! I'll stay here in Indianapolis with the kiddies and mother for a week, then on Wednesday the 24th I'll drive back home.

With only 2 days to spare for packing, etc., Bob and I will leave for Crivits, Wisconsin, his favorite northern Wisconsin fishing spot. For 5 days, the fisherman in the family will fish and the fisherman's wife will paint. From Wildwood retreat, we'll travel north around the lake to the straits of Mackinac where we'll cross by ferry into northern Michigan and drive south to the Menonaqua Beach club, near Harbor Springs (the lodge where Bridget, Megan, and I visited last summer) where with our friends, the Carrolls, we'll play for 5 days before returning to Indianapolis. Doesn't this sound like fun?

Our trip to Indianapolis yesterday went very well. We made just 2 stops—one for lunch and one for ice cream. Arriving about 5 o'clock we were met by an excited reception committee of cousins Dottie, Debbie, and Grandma, "Nana." After Nana's birthday dinner and gift opening the cousins played for a while before bedtime and, needless to say, for a while after bedtime. Patrick slept soundly through all the giggling and scooting from bed to bed.

I'm sitting upstairs now and as I write to you, can hear a spirited game of tag going on in the back yard. However, the girls are just marking time until Nana is ready to take us out to her cottage, the place they all love best.

My love,
Patty.

Chestnut, Arlington Heights, became the bride of Vern Warnecke in First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights, June 22 at 6 o'clock in the evening. Rev. Paul Louis Stumpf performed the double-ring ceremony at which Mrs. Mary Ann Laseke sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mr. Warnecke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Steif of Des Plaines.

Coming down the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown, ballerina-length with long sleeves and scalloped neckline. A pearl crown held the fingertip veil, and the bridal bouquet was of white roses, feathered carnations and lily of the valley.

'Up in Smoke' About Fashions

by MARY

Sweet jumping jehosaphat, they're doing it again. Every year I am forced to go up in smoke about women's fashions. This year the mysterious they are even surpassing themselves.

I saw a dress advertised the other day that really shouldn't happen to a dog, let alone a female. It was sort of a mother hubbard thing. The model had her back to the audience and was looking coyly over her shoulder and I know why. She wanted to see if the rest of her was coming. The shroud was caught up in a drape at the lower hem and some demented designer had tied the whole mess in a bow.

WASN'T THAT a dainty dish to set before the queen? It made her look like an old fashioned lampshade and her hat added a piquant note. It was shaped like an inverted strawberry box and would have been much better if they had left the strawberries in it. That way it would have had some reason for living.

Then they had a sheath like long swooping thing that had a plummeting neckline. I don't know how the rest of the women in the world feel, but I like to know where my necklines are going to end. I don't want anything to do with any old neckline that doesn't have sense enough to know where to stop.

THE BLURB that went with this little gem went on to say that the skirt was a complete surprise. Well, what do you know. It didn't say whether it was a surprise that it had a skirt at all what with the runaway neckline. It just plain said that the skirt was a surprise.

I don't know about the rest of you, but I am hanged if I am going to get a dress with a trick skirt. Just thinking about it makes me nervous. With a skirt that didn't even have the decency to know its own mind, anything could happen.

SO, I SHALL stick to the classic suit which isn't so much a classic as it is an antique. But at least it buttons up the front of the jacket and the skirt zips up the side and it is of that material known as good sturdy tweed. With a pair of good serviceable brogans and a walking stick, I might be taken for Lady Astor.

If I wanted to, that is. (S

Long Hours Bent over Books Can't Guarantee Good Grades

A high IQ and long hours of study do not guarantee good grades in college.

Results of a survey at Illinois Institute of Technology indicate that it's the use of study time and not the actual hours spent poring over the books that counts.

"And the grades may not bear a close relation to the amount learned," says William D. Diemer, Illinois Tech mechanics instructor, who made the survey.

"PERSONALITY characteristics, which may not be measurable, may be more important in determining a student's grades than either ability or amount of time spent in study," he explained.

Over a hundred students—representing a cross-section of the student body — reported their activities around the clock for a typical one-week period in the school year.

Total study time averaged 25.9 hours per week for students with high, medium, and low grade point averages. Freshmen being surveyed spent an average of 20 hours a week in study, sophomores, 30 hours, juniors, 29 hours and seniors, 24 hours.

OF THOSE who studied more than the average, the grade point averages ranged from a perfect 4 (A) to a low 1.38 (d). Those studying less than one hour per hour of credit had grade point averages ranging from 3.88 (a-) to 1.28 (d-).

"In general," says Diemer, "students who spend more than the average amount of time (1.5 hours per hour of class) studying underestimate study time, and those spending less than the average overestimated time spent studying."

The correlation between IQ and grades indicated that, even though ability was taken into account, there was little clear relation between the two.

AFTER THIS phase of his "Survey on the Use of Student Time," Diemer intends to use the same material to analyze student use of leisure time.

Diemer received his master's degree in education from the University of Chicago after being awarded a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Case Institute of Technology.

He worked as a draftsman for several Ohio firms and was an admissions counselor at Case Institute for 2 years.

Q. What is the correct size of the place card at a dinner?

A. Usually about 2 inches long and an inch and a half high. It is usually plain white, but it may be embosssed in white or gold with a monogram or crest. Place cards are inscribed in longhand.

Q. If a person trips over the foot of someone who is seated, who should apologize?

A. Since usually this situation comes as a surprise to both persons, both of them should say, "Pardon me."

Robert Stewart Takes Edison Park Bride

In a double ring ceremony June 15, Robert J. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Stewart of Palatine, took as his bride, Miss Betty Jane Lemke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Lemke of Edison Park. The service took place at 2 p.m. in Edison Park Methodist church. Rev. Emerson Colaw, pastor, officiated.

A centerpiece of white carnations and candles decorated the altar table.

Mr. Lemke gave his daughter in marriage. She chose a white ballerina gown fashioned with lace bodice and sash and full skirt of silk organza. Her veil was in 3 tiers and was shoulder length, held by a cap of lace to match her gown. Her bouquet was a nosegay of feather carnations and stephanotis.

Only attendant to the bride was Mrs. Hollan Valkenaar of Glenview who wore a ballerina gown of grey silk organza with pink silk organza trim at the off-shoulder neckline. Her flowers were the same as the bride's, except in pink.

The bride's mother wore a pink 2-piece linen afternoon dress with pink carnation corsage, while the bridegroom's mother wore a blue lace afternoon dress with pink carnations.

Ronald M. Cole of Wheeling was best man to the bridegroom and Harold C. Anderson and Richard Brent of Wilmette were ushers.

Tea was served to 125 guests in the church following the service after which Mr. Stewart and his bride left on a 2-week honeymoon trip to the Smokies and Asheville. Since June 30 they have been at home at 5065 N. Hopkins st. in Milwaukee where the bridegroom is employed by Carrier Air Conditioning Corp.

The new Mrs. Stewart was graduated from Taft high school and North Park college and was employed by Abbott International Co. in the Merchandise Mart. The bridegroom was graduated from Palatine township high school and Northwestern university.

John Orzolek Of Palatine Takes Bride

Present at the ceremony were 2 of Mr. Orzolek's sons, Kenneth and Frank, and their wives. His oldest sons, Randy and Barry, were unable to be there as both are in service. Mrs. Paulsen's children, Kenneth and Juanita also attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bornhoff of Northbrook, friends of the couple, stood up for them.

The new Mrs. Orzolek wore an afternoon dress of orchid chiffon with matching hat and a corsage of white orchids.

The couple are now living in Wheeling. Mr. Orzolek is employed by the Chicago North Western railway in Chicago.

Bargains, Beauty, Variety Of Aprons at Benefit Fair

If reports from the numerous women cooperating on production for the apron booth are any criterion, persons attending the Community fair, to be sponsored October 11 and 12 by the Northwest Community Hospital Women's auxiliary, will be in for a vivid and spectacular array of bargains, beauty, and versatility.

The fast-moving hospital project will benefit from all receipts taken in at the fair, which will be held at the Arlington Heights field house. Women from communities throughout the northwest area which is to be served by the new hospital are volunteering to bring vast arrays of products which, while offered at bargain prices, will move the women's auxiliary further along toward its $25,000 pledge to the $2,250,000 hospital.

SPOTLIGHTED AMONG the versatile and charming aprons being readied for the apron booth of the fair is a hostess apron designed on an apron-of-the-month motif, with snap-on pockets featuring birthdays, Thanksgiving, St. Patrick's day and numerous other holiday occasions. The tinier females of the family are being remembered with "Little Miss Hostess" aprons, with table cloth and napkins of miniature size and matching design, for tea parties held by the small miss. Still in the youngster department is a special apron for school, with pockets for crayons, handkerchief and the apple for teacher.

Father and son are being kept in mind, too, with bar and barbecue aprons and uniquely-patterned apron-vests.

THE IMAGINATIVE line-up of aprons includes still more: an attractive number just right for the expectant mother; a terrific item for the demon house cleaner with giant pockets for dust rag, furniture polish and radiator brush; a baby-bathing apron which first protects mother, then is quickly unsnapped to wrap up the baby when the bathing is done.

According to Polly Owens, chairman of the apron booth, working and sewing for the fair has turned out to be exciting fun. Women participating are doing double duty, not only because of the pleasure of the creative work, but also because of the natural interest in contributing time and effort to a project of such vital community importance as the hospital.

Mrs. Owens invites others in any community in the northwest area who can sew, to join in the production with the apron booth crew. She will welcome calls at her home phone, CL 3-6702.

More Facts about Sidewalks

As president of the new South Property Protective Association, I should like to set the record straight on the 10 points presented by Mr. Carlisle in his letter which appeared in the July 18 Fence Post.

1. It is quite obvious the new village board is taking over where the previous board left off, although the question might be raised whether the current action on sidewalks was initiated by the old board or by the village manager.

2. The village board and the manager have stated in the presence of witnesses that sidewalks are planned for the entire village.

3. How do you define "immediate school areas," Mr. Carlisle? In the particular area chosen for the starting point on the sidewalk drive, do you know what automobile traffic exists?

4. The reference to the child injured in the Kensington road area was incomplete since it did not state that the child was on a bicycle. Bicycles are not allowed on sidewalks.

5. Restricting sidewalks to a narrow 2-block area around schools is similar to putting up a huge building and installing fire escapes only half way up. How is this 2-block limit determined? And, since Mr. Carlisle used the word "around," how is it only property owners directly south of the area have received letters from the manager?

6. If the local traffic hazard is so serious, why have not sidewalks been installed 100 per cent along main traffic arteries?

7. The Carlisle letter stated that the south side area was chosen for a "first move on sidewalks since three schools are involved." But it did not mention the obvious larger student concentration—the high school area.

8. The 60 property owners are being requested to "cooperate" to the tune of some $10,000 minimum. This is for paving only, as there is no way to determine the additional costs for new landscaping.

9. The board has not properly determined whether these sidewalks should be installed as a "matter of public safety." No qualified safety engineer has made any such study, and as of July 20, 1957, the Arlington Heights Police Department had never been consulted on the matter by local officials.

10. With our real estate taxes going up at least 20 per cent a year for the next few years, we feel this sidewalk matter is largely a local luxury that can be deferred indefinitely in favor of more important necessities such as schools and sewers.

Most of us have small children, and, as Mr. Carlisle states, we too strongly favor safety. But we also favor common sense, economy, fair play and courtesy in government.

Day of Rest for Cash Registers

A few Sundays ago our family took an afternoon ride through Palatine and were surprised and encouraged to see the following sign displayed by a local florist: "Closed Sundays—See You In Church!"

The rest of our drive was a little discouraging, however, as we passed 2 paint stores, a used car lot, and an antique shop which were obviously unable to give their cash registers this one day of rest. Maybe we haven't thought hard enough, but we can't see any "emergency" qualities about paint, used cars, or antiques which would force these merchants to remain open for the common good.

Perhaps some of your other readers — or maybe the store owners themselves — have other ideas. We'd be interested in hearing them.

Enforcing Speed Limits

The home owners on S. Highland in Arlington Heights have the same protection for school children as the school property. A complete sidewalk on one side of the street. Like the school, none of us object to the children walking on our lawns.

Last Spring a survey showed 8 to 11 children, including high school age, using the walk to and from school.

How much better to protect all children by enforcing the 20 mile an hour speed law. Those walking, riding bicycles, and the pre-school children at home would be protected.

Neighbors Are Important

In the midst of "dehydrating" my home I began thinking just how much it really means and how very important it really is to have neighbors.

Being a former "cliff dweller" a neighbor was someone you nodded or said hello to as you passed on the stairway. Since joining the realms of suburbanites I have learned to appreciate what a neighbor really is.

During the recent storm my wife and I were out of town, and it was not until we were returning Sunday evening that we learned of the seriousness of the storm. Imagine our surprise to come home and find our neighbors pitching in to salvage what they could for us. Everyone was more than willing to help the other one out; the Austin's loaned us a pump, and the others such as the Bardaches, the Thompsons, the Stewarts, and the Meades pitched in and really lent a helping hand.

In a situation such as this, words cannot express the feeling of sincere appreciation and thankfulness I had because of the thoughtfulness and kind help of our wonderful neighbors. If I were to nominate my choice for the outstanding man of the year in Scarsdale, my vote would go to my neighbor Floyd Tremberth.

Surely any slight inconvenience of suburban living, such as traveling farther to reach the city, is more than compensated for by having real neighbors—real friends.

My sincerest thanks to all of my many wonderful neighbors.

None of the Taxpayer's Business?

The Board of Education of Palatine School District 15 continues to follow a policy of secrecy. If any announcements at all are made, they originate from an employee of the Board as was the case when the death of one of its members was mentioned in the Palatine Enterprise

Neither the Board nor this spokesman, however, found it necessary to tell the taxpayers how and when and by whom the vacancy that thus occurred was filled.

In this week's issue of the Palatine Enterprise an item appeared telling about the filling of a vacancy by appointment at a school board in a neighboring community but District 15 apparently feels that it is none of the taxpayers' business to know who helps to dispose of their tax dollars.

The local press is also remiss in its duties to its readers. While its editor proudly announced that he would hire enough reporters to keep the public posted on such matters, he seems to consider this unnecessary at the present.

Even a certain Chicago paper, which the editor considers so inferior to his own, tells its readers about any changes of trustees of the Board of Education.

The Way We See It

The Advent of Television

When one considers that the United States existed over 150 years before the advent of the living room cyclops, he is shaken with sorrow by the thought of spending a full evening alone with his family, depending solely upon himself for entertainment. Few inventions have captured so many followers so completely.

It is this sort of mass hypnotism that has moved the kitchen table into the living room where roast beef won't interfere with TV ham. What housewife can resist swinging her ironing board around to eye the monster and how many husbands are wearing scorched shirts testifying to their wives' being overly engrossed in the "early show."

Television hangovers cause early morning eyes to shrink from the sun. (Some find it necessary to accustom the eyes by turning on the TV and staring at the morning news.)

The art of entertaining has become a simple matter of feeding the guests, steering them into the living room, turning a knob, and then getting up to let them out at the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner." If you happen to "drop in" on some neighbors, they have a hard time hiding since TV blasts are a testimony to their presence. However, a shout of "come in" and an exchange of "how are you's" can be accomplished without missing a minute of the TV production.

A home without television is a house without visitors. No one is as socially inept as the person who cannot discuss at length a current TV rage. Of course, these bits of conversation are exchanged only during commercials.

Television has really tested the ingenuity of the American people. For those families who cannot afford more than 1 set, elaborate mirrored devices have been developed so that programs will not be missed while mowing the lawn, washing the dishes, or taking a bath.

It takes a well coordinated family or a planning commission to set up an agreeable program schedule which will satisfy the husband, wife, and child factions. TV has been mentioned in many divorce suits and blown out picture tubes have been causes of frustration for many a psychiatrist's patient.

How far the mania will go is anybody's guess. It has been known to run a family through 3 picture tubes in 1 year.

It used to be that the eye-sore victim could break the spell cast by the aluminized enchantress by escaping to the out-of-doors. By collapsing on the beach or withdrawing to a leafy enclosure, one could look at the sky long enough and then — lo and behold, the test patterns engraved in the mind's image would gradually dissolve.

Now the crafty characters who design the durn things have come close to blocking this avenue of escape.

A late development is the portable television set. It's light enough in weight to be carried by a husky 4-year-old. And is. Perhaps the apparatus is not completely portable, as one still must plug it in somewhere. But junior would scour the neighborhood to find a block's worth of extension cords if necessary.

That way the small fry can have their favorite entertainment at their side even if the family picnics in the farthest corner of the yard, say out by the compost pile on the alley.

And a TV set with batteries, aver the experts, is not long off.

At that point, we shall think of moving far, far away.

Do you suppose the coaxial cable has reached Patagonia yet???

Book on Christian Ethics Illustrates a Way of Life

by REV. WILLIAM McGILL

The Episcopal Church through its department of Christian education, is in the process of publishing an interesting series of books on The Church's Teaching.

The one that I have recently read has to do with ethics, the fifth or sixth in the series. They start the series with the Bible, deal with church history, with theology and worship, then ethics, and finally, the Episcopal Church as such.

VOLUME V, "Christian Living," is by Bishop Stephen F. Bayne Jr., from the Pacific northwest.

Bishop Bayne starts with the self-evident rights which all men possess, primarily life and the pursuit of happiness. God made these rights available in creation to every human.

Christianity as the fullest revelation of God, heralded in Judaism and hinted at, in one way or another, in many other sacred traditions — Christian ity has not changed the self-evident rights of men; it has given them new significance. It has set them in a new relationship.

THIS IS VERY important because it is always so easy for one or another of us to dedetermine that such and such a state of affairs is "the only Christian solution." This is never true.

Christianity is a living stream which is always in motion. Each new threshold is an occasion for seeing new tasks and new responsibilities.

Quite properly, Bishop Bayne points out that his effort is not concerned with "how" to engage in Christian living, but with "what" Christian living appears to mean at this stage of our common experience.

ONE INTERESTING feature, especially for non-Episcopalians it seems to me, is the way in which the author endeavors to suggest the timeless relevance of the Book of Common Prayer.

Thus he ties prayer and christian living and the Church together in their effect upon the world and the free individual within the world.

This is the great fact of Christian living, that it represents the way free men and women live and worship in company with other free men and women.

Reputation is one of the few things that looks worse when you try to decorate it.

One of the sad facts of our age is that the closest many people ever get to praying today is when they bend a knee to tie a shoelace.

Few people get very far on a 40-hour week. Most of the notable people I know try to work the equivalent of a 40-hour day.

A man who is carrying his own weight never has any left over to throw around.

Arithmetic is something you should use to correct hearsay; multiply a woman's age by two, and divide a man's reputed wealth by ten.

Always remember that no matter how bad today may seem, the good thing about it is that you'll remember very little of it tomorrow.

Paul Simon's Exclusive Report

Legislator Evaluates Last Session of General Assembly

(Paul Simon, Democrat, is state representative from the 53rd district and one of the general assembly's outstanding young legislators. He is editor of the Troy, Ill., Tribune and wrote "Springfield Sidelights" column for Paddock Publications and other weekly newspapers during the last session of the state legislature. He consented to write this evaluation of the last session especially for Paddock Publications.)

by REP. PAUL SIMON

Charles Hayes, managing editor of Paddock Publications, has asked me for a "no holds barred, straight from the shoulder" evaluation of the legislative session which was just completed.

Every member of the legislature would probably give you a different impression—but for whatever it may be worth, I'm happy to comply with his request.

I would say 5 things stand out:

1) A judicial reform article was passed. It will not please everybody, but it does take the important step of integrating our courts. I think it was the most positive contribution of the session.

2) THE FINE CROP of new members we got this session certainly is one of the outstanding features. We have more legislators on both sides of the aisle who are not party hacks, in the worst sense. We gained a number of new members who voted the issues as they saw them and did not regard a party label as a necessary indication of merit or lack of merit.

3) On the part of both the legislature and the administration, I feel there was a real lack of balance as to the areas of need for expenditures.

4) FOR REASONS which were not always too clear, many items were bi-partisan which should not have been. Blind partisanship is, of course, folly. But the failure of either party to be militantly watchful of weak legislation by the other party is also harmful to good government.

5) Governor Stratton clearly was the dominant figure. This was much more the case this session than the last session.

I MENTIONED the "lack of balance as to the areas of need for expenditures."

While not enough money was provided for "reading, writing and arithmetic" in our schools, $10 million was approved for drivers' education. While our schools were given an inadequate budget, the Secretary of State's office was authorized to increase the amount of personnel in his office by more than 30 per cent — every one of the new jobs a political one.

While the administration opposed more substantial hikes in appropriations for our mental hospitals, they vigorously supported—and Governor Stratton signed—a measure calling for a subsidy to Illinois breeders of race horses.

According to the language of the bill, in a few years it will be approximately $1 million we will be giving these few people each biennium.

Unless there is a large increase in our race horse population, it will mean that the state will be spending more per race horse than we spend per child in our schools. I hardly consider this falling under the category of responsible government.

I could give you more of the same.

THERE WERE other things which happened which were not good.

An example is the jai alai bill, calling for legalized gambling on this particular sport. During the debate, I called it the worst bill of the session. I sincerely believe it was. While I differ with Governor Stratton on many matters, he was absolutely right in vetoing this measure.

All attempts to shorten the ballot were defeated. We will continue to have a great many names on the ballot which mean nothing to 95 per cent of the voters. The result is not a good one for government.

A bill to eliminate the party circle on the ballot, thus forcing both parties to put up better candidates, was soundly defeated. Both parties were against it.

The illustration of unhappy results of this session are much too numerous.

THE OTHER side of the coin is that some really bad legislation was killed, and some good legislation was passed.

Moves to put the state police back in politics and to put the Public Aid Commission in politics were defeated.

Bills were passed making our public records and our public meetings more available to the public.

A portion of the Morey-Jenner report was enacted into law—although some of the more important suggestions they had were buried quickly.

WITH MORE THAN 2400 bills up for consideration, it's extremely difficult to make any short analysis.

At the beginning of every session there are always a few wags who say that the best thing we could do for the people of Illinois is to adjourn immediately.

Sometimes you think they're right.

Palatine's Teenage Ladies Needed No Pushing in 1907

50 Years Ago

July 26, 1907

Wheeling center — There was quite a jolly crowd at John Mollencamp's barn dance Saturday night. Emil Gosch with his band furnished the music and Otto Gerken with his concertina.

Bloomingdale — The Old Settlers of Bloomingdale and DuPage county will hold their picnic in Hollenback grove, same as in years past, August 3. Carriages meet all trains at Roselle on that day. Past and present residents are invited to attend.

The German Evangelical Lutheran Sunday school will hold its picnic at Hollenback's grove Aug. 4. The Sunday School will march from the church at 10 o'clock. There will be a program and pastor will make a few remarks. All kinds of things good to eat will be sold.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Open Air Concert, under the auspices of the Mystic Workers, in Meyer's Pavillion, August 3. Admission 10 cents. Ice cream and cake will be served. A first class entertainment in every respect.

Palatine — Fred Kuehl has reason to be thankful over the recovery of his daughter from a severe case of diptheria. Dr. Starck had a hard fight and Mr. Kuehl feels that it was due largely to the doctor's skill that the invalid recovered.

The Fourth of July committee makes the following report of the amounts received and expended for the celebrations. Money received $94.50, paid for band $40, fire works $41.56, expense for sports, etc. $10.80 Balance on hand $2.14.

"ENCOURAGE the young folks," somebody said. But that the young people of Palatine don't need much pushing was evident by the number of girls just in their teens, who made their debut into society with masculine escorts also in their teens by attending the dance at Lake Shore Park and Pavillion last Saturday night.

The flys are here. Buy your fly nets now. Team nets from $2.75 pair, up. Buggy nets from $1.00 up. Get your fly chaser from Schlenker's Old Reliable Harness Shop, Palatine.

The Fourth Annual Cook County Fair is only ten days away, but it will be an event that will far eclipse all previous efforts. The Fair is being given considerable publicity in Chicago in addition to the surrounding territory.

IT IS HARD for the "Honor Men" to tell where they are at. Nearly every day new information is published in the daily press and matters have reached a point where a waiting policy only can be adopted. A man still has the privilege of picking his service and enlisting before the call comes.

We must raise the price to keep up and improve the quality of this paper. From and after August 1, the regular subscription price of this paper will be $2.00 a year. Until Sept. 1 we will allow a special discount of 25 cents a year on the half German addition and 50 cents a year on the American edition, where subscriptions are paid strictly cash-in-advance to the publisher H. C. Paddock. The increased cost of everything does not permit of credit so when a person's time expires his name will either be dropped or changed to the cheaper edition.

The first week in August — when the weather is hot and people are least inclined for reading — we take for the annual vacation of our office force. All will return rested ready to do the best work and get up a live home paper.

SCHAUMBURG — The following gentlemen were included in the Friday draft for U.S. army service; Fred Bartels, Louis Batterman, Fred Blume, Henry Dammerman, Louis Freise, Edwin Grewe, Otto Graves, Louis Harke, Arthur Heide, Henry Homeyer, Louis Hattendorf, Ernst Heine, Tony Lazzeretto, Waldo Lemke, Wm. Lichthardt, Ben Meyer, George Nerge, Emil Nerge, Henry C. Quindel, Walter Schween, Frank Wagner.

Shermerville — Mr. John Bernhardt, husband of Annie and father of Olive and Walter, died Monday at the German hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Blank familiarly known as "Grandmother Blank" mother of Mrs. Olson, with whom she has made her home, passed away suddenly Wednesday.

The newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Delories, have returned from their honeymoon and gone right to housekeeping.

WHEELING — Everyone in town was watching with interest the drawing of the numbers for the new army. The first ten in this precinct whose names were drawn were A. Teske, R. O. Schmidt, H. H. Pohlman, Wm. Wiest, Henry C. Grandt, Fred Kerschke, F. W. Welflin, Ed Schmidt, Frode Peterson, Art Hugo. Perhaps three or four will be taken to make up the new army.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Daniels arrived Thursday to spend their summer vacation among relatives who are glad to welcome them back to Illinois. Mr. Daniels, after five years service for the Underwriters Association at Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, concluded that his talent and ability merited greater promotion and being promised higher salary in the east he resigned for better prospects.

Otto Landmeier took the lead in digging his basement deeper and lowering the first floors of his store buildings to one step above the sidewalk level. The Davis Co. store we next to adopt the improved sidewalk grade. J. J. Rubner, the druggist, soon appreciated the advantage of being on a level with other deople. Wm. Mayer let the old Dyas drug store down safe and quick.

To keep up with the rapidly increasing business as well as the growth of Arlington Heights, Otto Landmeier has found it necessary to build a large addition to his store on Dunton and Campbell sts. This addition will be a two story brick building and when completed will be one of the most modern business structures in this locality.

WM. C. BUSSE was born in Elk Grove Twp. Aug. 7, 1864 and died at Bensenville, July 6, 1927. In 1900 he purchased a farm north of Bensenville. The family remained there until two years ago when they sold the farm and built a beautiful home on Addison street.

The first nine holes of the Mt. Prospect Country Club was opened Saturday for the first time. The course will ultimately include 18 holes. It will be owned by the 480 lot owners of the Prospect Park Countr club district.

The township of Wheeling will hereafter be compriced of twelve precincts in order to meet the requirements of the new permanent registration law. The division of the township in the precincts was a job for A. F. Volz, Republican committeeman, and Homer J. Byrd, Democratic committeean.

The WGN broadcasting station has purchased of Mrs. Regina Theis her 100 acre farm in Schaumburg township upon the west side of rte. 53. The only explanation offered by WGN was the desirability of peat bed soil for broadcasting purposes as it is partially immune to electric disturbances.

MISS MAGDALENE Markhoff and Mr. Joseph Brodnan, both of Arlington Heights, were united in marriage Saturday.

George Proesel, prominent resident of Wheeling, died Monday at the age of 65 years. His father was one of the early settlers in Lincolnwood.

Gardens Still Need Water

Even though your garden has had lots of rain so far this season, keep an eye on the moisture situation in your soil. Vegetable plants need plenty of water to produce high yields and good quality products.

Water should be added when the available moisture in the root zone has been half used. Do not wait until vegetables wilt or change color or texture.

When you water your garden, be sure to get the water down into the root zone. It is better to give it a good soaking about once a week than to water it sparingly more often. Light sprinklings at frequent intervals do little if any good. It is best to soak the soil at least 6 inches deep.

You can use a sprinkler or porous irrigating hose. Or you can run water down furrows between the rows until the soil is well soaked. Apply the water only as fast as the soil will absorb it.

You can get moisture meters and other instruments for determing soil moisture. But you can make a rough estimate by squeezing a sample of soil from the root zone. If it is somewhat crumbly, it is probably time to irrigate.

As a general rule, vegetables need about 1 inch of water each week from rain or supplemental irrigation. (Fm

GOVERNOR WILLIAM G. STRATTON signs the State Records Act, containing a "public right to know" provision, as Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, through whose office the legislation originated, looks on. With them, left to right, are Representative John W. Carroll of Park Ridge, Representative Claude A. Walker of Forest Park and Representative Robert T. McLoskey of Monmouth. Representatives Carroll and Walker were sponsors of the legislation, and Representative McLoskey was the principal sponsor two years ago of a bill authorizing a survey of the state's record keeping procedures under the direction of Secretary Carpentier. It was the survey which resulted in the State Records Act being drawn up and presented to the General Assembly.

Parisian Department Store Traps Thieves with TV

by BILL DILLINGHAM

PARIS—Television is now being used to catch thieves.

In one of Paris' largest department stores, Le Printemps, television cameras are trained on the customers. This is to reduce if not eliminate, shoplifting.

How does the average Frenchman feel about shopping under the eye of Big Brother? He doesn't like it one bit. Most customers mistakingly believe that it is an idea imported from America.

The detectives working for Le Printemps have estimated that they were able in the past to catch only 1 out of every 10 shoplifters. This represented a huge loss to that department store. It did not even pay the wages of the detectives.

The cameras are now rotating constantly, located at strategic points. There are several of them covering each area so that thieves have little chance of working with the hope that the lens is not looking.

DETECTIVES, who keep guard, are equipped with pocket radio receivers. The main office of Big Brother keeps them informed about the dishonesty of certain customers. Thieves are picked up at the door.

Business for the detectives was quite heavy when the cameras were first installed. The Paris police had a huge batch of "old-timers" delivered to their cells on the opening day of operation.

Since then, crime has slacked off. Word has been passed around and thieves are shopping in other stores.

IN PARIS, where clothing items are so expensive and wages so low, shoplifting is not limited to "the criminal element."

A reasonably good pair of shoes costs most Frenchmen about 4 days' work. A man's suit of poor quality costs 3 weeks' wages. A woman's dress, if not homemade, will require a long period of saving.

Many otherwise honest people, therefore, are forced to "supplement" their earnings through shoplifting. Most of the people caught doing this are not professionals, but merely poor folks in need of some particular item.

Nonetheless, Le Pintemps does not feel responsible for France's economic plight, and shoplifters here are given relatively severe penalties. (B10

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

Atlantic Records of New York City, headed by Nesuhi Ertugen who used to direct Good Time Jazz so ably, are taking the spotlight with some excellent 12-inch progressive jazz platters.

One of these (1265), "The Modern Jazz Quartet," has just been released, and we think you'll enjoy it. The combo features John Lewis at the piano, Percy Heath on vibraphone, Milt Jackson on bass and Connie Kay on drums. Using a chamber style for compactness, Lewis has nonetheless managed to produce fascinatingly complex tonalities and rhythms. His medley which includes "Body and Soul," "My Old Flame," and "I Don't Stand the Ghost of a Chance with You," is typical of his flair for inventive arranging. And his original "La Ronde" which gives Connie Kay some magnificent solo drum opportunities, is worth the price of the platter.

FROM VERVE, one of Norm Granz' many fine labels in the JATP group on the West Coast, we cite "Sing It to the Marines," with Monica Lewis warbling enchantingly to Frank DeVol's orchestra.

Frank, by the by, did the arrangements of tunes like "Blues in the Night," "I Get a Kick Out of You," "Undecided," "Let's Face the Music and Dance," "Nice Work If you Can Get It," and "All Or Nothing at All." Monica starred on the Armed Forces Radio Service programs and you can see and hear her in Jack Webb's brilliant new film, "The D.I." This movie is based on Marine instructors, and hence the album's dedication. She has a warm, candid style that's devoid of tricks and affectation, and the result is one of the year's best vocal lps.

VICTOR BRINGS us two magnificent 12-inchers by the great Boston Symphony under Charles Munch. One is a virile, impassioned reading of Brahms First Symphony in C Minor, and it is one of the best to be found on lp. The other shows off the superlative string section of this world-renowned orchestra in works like the romantic, lovely Tschaikowsky Serenade for Strings, Elgar's lyrical Introduction and Allegro for Strings, and our own Samuel Barber's beautifully poignant Adagio for Strings. Highly recommended, and the hi-fi sound of both lps is stunning!

From Capitol, Leonard Pennario (P-8376) offers three modern works for the piano in what is surely his finest discing to date. We hear the formidably incisive and powerful "Sonata: 1926" by Bela Bartok, Prokofieff's youthful, sardonic Third Sonata in A Minor, and Miklos Rosza's Flavorful, eloquent Sonata. Rosza has won fame in Hollywood for his scores to movies like "Spellbound," but on discs we already knew of his ability in the beautiful Violin Concerto with Heifetz as soloist on Victor lp. This piano sonata is instantly appealing, despite its modern dissonance and vigor; its energetic style is admirably communicated by Pennario. Notable too is the spacious, natural piano sound Capitol's engineers accord this disc. Another fine Capitol piano offering features the great Danish pianist Victor Schioler in three rhapsodies by Brahms and the same composer's towering, superbly original "Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Handel." Till now, there was no really first-rate version on lp of this piano masterpiece; Schioler's reading fully meets the challenge of Brahms' heroic and thoughtful score. Beautiful reproduction as well.

WE TESTED all lps on a system favored on the West Coast and highly cited for home use: the Metzner "Starlight" manual turntable (with variable speed from 16 to 84 rpm) and the Weathers MM-1 pickup and arm; the Electro-Voice 15-watt amplifier and "Aristocrat" 2-way speaker system. Clean, realistic sonics like Orchestra Hall itself!

Reading tips of the week from Dell Books in pocket-size, original editions, we cite Robert Dietrich's action-packed mystery thriller, "Murder on the Rocks"; Frank Kane's exciting private-eye mystery "The Living End"; and "The Year's Greatest Science-Fiction and Fantasy," edited by Judith Merril and containing the best stories by authors like Isaac Asimov, Theodore Sturgeon and Robert Nathan.

Village Theatre Plans 4 Plays

Four plays, instead of the usual 3, are scheduled for the 1957-58 season of Village Theatre Inc. The season was announced this week by Tom Grisell, president.

"Desk Set" will open the season October 24, 25, and 26 in South Junior high school.

The Arlington high school gym will be setting for the children's play, "Jack and the Beanstalk," December 8.

The third drama, "My Three Angels," will be seen in the Arlington high school Little theatre February 20, 21 and 22, and "Teahouse of the August Moon" will close the year on May 2 and 3 in the Prospect High theatre.

In addition to Grisell, other 1957-58 officers for this community service organization are: Jane Miller, vice-president, Alice Scheske, secretary, and Anita Wilkins, treasurer. (B7

Cadet Redwanz's activities included an orientation ride in a jet fighter, pilot training practice in a C-119 flight simulator at Pope AFB, North Carolina, a firepower demonstration at Eglin AFB, Eglin, Florida, and an orientation tour through Lockhead aircraft, Marietta, Georgia.

Upon successful completion of the summer training unit and 4 years of air science at Illinois Institute of Technology, Redwanz will be commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the air force.

Arlington Heights Area Infantrymen End Training

Two weeks of summer training for several hundred army reservists of the 337th Infantry Regiment, 85th Infantry Division, including a number of Arlington Heights area men, drew to a close Saturday.

During the course of camp, infantry tactics and arms training were stressed. July 17 the entire regiment participated in a major field problem.

COL CARL J. DUESER, regimental commander, declared the camp program was "highly satisfactory," and added he was "Well satisfied with the effort of the reservists from Arlington Heights and elsewhere in Illinois."

Numerous high governmental and military officials have inspected the 337th during the summer camp and they too lauded the training and spirit of the individuals concerned.

Arlington Heights reservists took part July 17 in a major field problem. In order to add realism to the operation, regular Army men were assigned roles as "aggressors." If these individuals came in contact with the units of the 337th the reservists were considered captured.

The men got their summer camp pay Saturday, approximately $50,000 for the entire regimental personnel.

Over 2,000 members of the 85th Division participated in the Camp McCoy summer training program this year. (WUS

Charges Are Announced For New Northern Tollway

A trip to Chicago will cost two-bits, to Indiana 4 quarters and to O'Hare Field nothing. These are the projected costs for travel on the North Illinois tollway.

From the Fox river east to O'Hare and south on the Tri-State tollway to Indiana will be a system of quarter barrier meters rather than a punch-card ticket system in operation on Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania turnpikes.

FOR MOTORISTS who have only a 10 dollar bill or anything other than a quarter to drop in the slot, attendants will be on duty to make change at special gates.

Northwest Chicago suburban motoristscan enter and leave the tollway at several places. Illinois highway 25 north of Elgin and Rohlwing rd. (state 53) will have cloverleaf intersections for travel in all directions.

Sutton rd. (state 59) will permit westbound access and eastbound exit from the tollway. Barrington and Elmhurst rds. will permit eastbound access and westbound exit for Chicago traffic.

WESTBOUND traffic will pay a dime on the ramp when heading west toward Elgin from Rohlwing rd. West of the Fox river the punch-card ticket system will be in effect to Rockford.

Eastbound traffic to Chicago regardless of where entering will not have to stop at a barrier until passing the O'Hare interchange whether heading in the Northwest expressway or down the Tri-State tollway to Indiana or the Congress st. expressway.

Traffic to O'Hare international airport will not pass a toll barrier, thus providing free transportation for area residents.

There's only one catch — the tollway's completion date is not scheduled before Aug. 1, 1959.

Until that time motorists must be content to use overburdened conventional routes.

HOWEVER, ONCE in operation, the tollway will provide 2 over-the-road restaurants for those wishing to eat above speeding traffic. One restaurant will be located a mile east of Elmhurst rd. and the other 3 miles east of Elgin.

As an added attraction for those eating at the Elmhurst rd. over-the-road restaurant, they'll be just a mile off the northwest-southeast runway at O'Hare, giving 'em a view of air travel as well. (B10

DeKalb Crop and Weather Report Issued for Week

Just what has been the trend in corn production in the past 30 years?

It has shown a constant increase in production per acre with a continually reduced acreage.

In good crop years in the early thirties, the corn yield averaged only 25 to 26 bushels per acre; since 1950 it has averaged almost exactly 40 bushels per acre nation-wide.

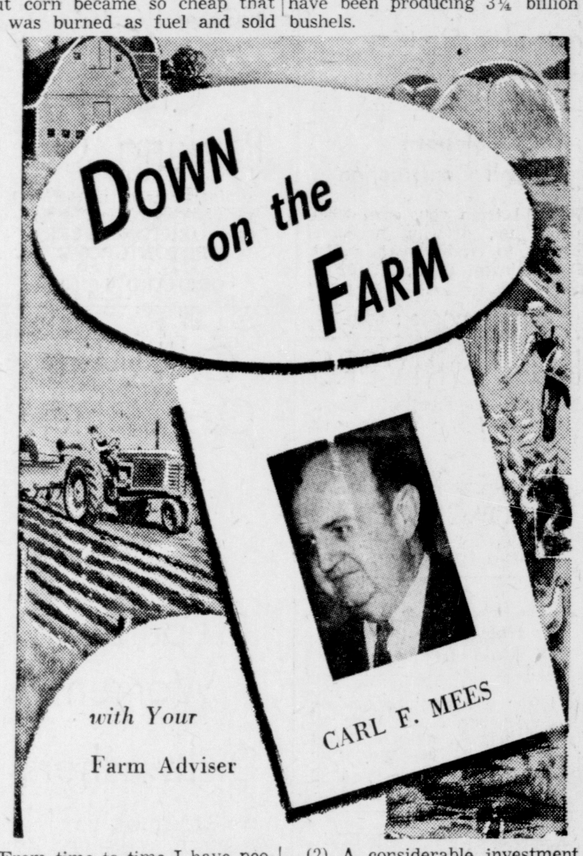
IN THE YEARS from 1929 to 1941 not a single 3 billion bushel corn crop was harvested. In the period from 1942 through 1956, only four crops did not reach the 3 billion bushel mark, and two of them were over 2.9 billion. The record high corn production was 3.6 billion bushels in 1948 followed closely with a 3.45 billion crop in 1956.

The largest acreage harvested, 110 million acres, had been planted in 1932, just prior to the depression, when farmers were desperately attempting to increase their income with a larger crop. The 1932 crop was slightly under 3 billion bushels, but corn became so cheap that it was burned as fuel and sold for 10 cents to 15 cents per bushel. Hogs fed on this corn sold for as low as 3 dollars per hundred.

SINCE 1950, corn acreage has been reduced to around 80 million, with the recent low in 1956 at 75 million. This year, the smallest acreage of all time, around 70 million acres, will be harvested. Flooding and damage in low spots could bring the acreage harvested even below that figure.

The smallest crops occurred in the drouth years of 1934 and 1936, when only 1.5 billion bushels were harvested. The 1934 crop was slightly the smaller of the two. Acre yields in these 2 years were 15 bushels in 1934 and 16 bushels in 1936. The smallest recent crop occurred in 1947 when only 2.3 billion were produced. The acre yield, however, was 28.4 bushels.

To put it in simplest arithmetical terms: in the 1930's, 100 million acres of corn at 25 bushels per acre produced crops of 2½ billion bushels in the 1950's 80 million acres at 40 bushels have been producing 3¼ billion bushels.



From time to time I have people call me asking where they can purchase earthworms, or about putting earthworms in their garden, or buying earthworm manure as a fertilizer.

Answer: I'll quote anonymously from another writer with whom I heartily agree! Any way you look at it, buying earthworms or earthworm manure to put on your garden soil is a waste of money. The manure is of very low grade, and if you don't now have worms, chances are it's because your soil does not contain enough organic matter for them. That being the case, any earthworms you put in would soon leave in search of some fertile ground. On the other hand, if you enrich your soil by applying manure or compost, you won't have to import worms. They will come in voluntarily. Once the soil is amply supplied with organic matter, however, you can grow just as good plants without earthworms. Don't be misled by claims in earthworm farm advertisements that farm bred worms are a superior breed. In most cases the only thing exceptional about them is their price!

We have read in recent years about advantages and disadvantages of using green chopping for dairy cattle instead of pasture. Some of the advantages are:

(1) More cattle can be carried on an acre,

(2) Cows are not in the sun on hot days.

Some disadvantages are:

(1) Harvesting forage every day, may conflict with other farm work;

(2) A considerable investment is required for harvesting machinery;

(3) Cows do not eat green-chopped forage well after it starts to heat.

(4) When forage lodges, it is difficult to chop;

(5) Some foot rot has been reported when cows were confined to close quarters. (Fm

Scab Hurts Wheat Crop

Illinois wheat and barley growers may harvest a dangerous poison along with their crop this year. This dangerous poison is scab, a fungus disease that is more serious than usual this year because weather conditions have encouraged its growth.

Wayne M. Bever, University of Illinois plant pathologist, warns that wheat or barley containing more than 3 per cent of scab can be very poisonous when fed to hogs or baby chicks. However, it can be safely fed to cattle or to hens in small amounts.

Scab also cuts yields and reduces the value of the crop. Farmers who plan to save part of their crop for seed should, therefore, clean and treat it, Bever emphasizes. He recommends using Ceresan M or Panogen according to directions on the package.

With scab so serious this year, Bever points out that some seed may not be worth cleaning. If barley in particular is very light and scabby, farmers will be ahead to sell all of their crop and get new seed.
